HOLDING IS VERY LARGE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—A very considerable part of the recent recovery in prices was relinquished today, when reports again indicated danger of a rupture of relations between Washington and Berlin, caused extreme declines of two to seven points in a wide variety of issues. The apeculative elements was dispusa. To this was added a substantial amount of long stock, or closing out of builtish commitments, trading being the largest of any day of the week, except Monday, when the January decline culminated. There were other bearish factors, including the firm attitude of the coal operators against the demands of the anthracite miners and the failure of certain expected industrial dividends to come to pass.

A few stocks, notably crucible steel and distiliers securities stood out in the day's operations. Rumors persisted that crucible steel is to be absorbed by one of the largest and most successful of the steel producing companies and the confident buying of that stock added that crucible steel is to be absorbed by one of the largest and most successful of the steel producing companies and the confident buying of that stock added that crucible steel is to be absorbed by one of the largest and most successful to 50%, most of which occurred in the later dealings, was associated with rumors of a "melon" in the near future. DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

Vagaries of the Weather Again Causes Irregularity. NEW YORK, Feb. 4.-Dun's review to-

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Dun's review tomorrow will say:

Vagaries of the weather again caused irregularity in some retail branches, and especially in the east, but general distribution continues in exceptionally heavy volume. Extensive buying of the stapic necessities fully sustains prices at a high position and disproportion between supply and demand has a strengthening effect on many commodities. Frequent evidences of depicted stocks are noted, and though overtime is in force in numerous instances, manufacturers experience difficulty in meeting current requirements with the desired promptness. While efforts to restore more normal transportation conditions are partially successful, storms and floods have aggravated delivery problems in some sections. Record breaking railroad earnings testify to the magnitude of domestic merchandise movements—several important systems reporting maximum revenues—but during recent weeks exports have steadily diminished, mainty because of the difficulties in oversea shipping.

Available statistical records for January make gratifying comparisons, more new enterprises being launched than for a long time past. Bank clearings registered important gains and pig fron production was the second largest on record, while the numerical increase in failures over the preceding month was the smallest in several years.
