There were about 300 at the meeting. The agents reported that the passenger business is holding up to the record of one year ago and that the freight business is holding the best in the history of the road. While in Chicago, passenger representatives attended the meeting of the Western Passenger association and Pacific coast rates for the coming season were lined up. The rate from Omaha to San Francisco, Los Angeles and return by direct route will be $60. This rate will apply after May 1, and continue in force until September 1. The rate for the circle tour, going or returning by way of north coast points, has been fixed at $7.50 for the round trip. For the Knight Templar convention, held in Los Angeles during June and the Knights of Pythias convention in Portland during August, a round trip rate of $5 from Omaha was made. #### NEW RELIGIONS DIFFER FROM OLD IN MOTIVES

"The old and the new religions differ in their alliances, their motives and their appeal," said Dr. F. Raymond Sturtevant, Unitarian minister at Taunton, Mass., in his lecture Sunday morning to the Unitarians at Turpin's hall. "The old was allied with magic and miracles, motivated by fear, and appealed by outward forms. The new is allied with science and sense, is motivated by loyalty and appeals to the mind, heart, conscience and soul. The liberality of the free church is its temporal weakness and its spiritual strength. Forms, rites, ceremonies and rituals are temporal strength, but spiritual weakness. The free church is imperative in its demands. Fear and fetich gone, the challenge is to our loyalty to perpetuate religion." Dr. Sturtevant's subject for the morning lecture was "Changes in Religion and the Challenge that Confronts Us."

McCabe Waxing Poetic Because He is Returned to His Former Love

John A. McCabe blew into Omaha from San Francisco and took his old place in the office of the special agents of the internal revenue. He has just been appointed chief special agent. Nine years ago, McCabe left Omaha, professor, since Mr. McCabe left Omaha. He left this very position which he is now again appointed to fill. And his dear Uncle Sam has been kicking him around over the country in various positions of responsibility. He was in Omaha first in 1898. When he was here before his district comprised Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Arizona and New Mexico. Now it comprises only Nebraska and Iowa. Leaving here he first organized the internal revenue district with headquarters at Denver. When he had that job finished he was sent to Portland, Ore., to do some organizing there. And he was at San Francisco just before being ordered back here.

Blackstone Hotel is Advertised in Leading Magazines

A half-page cut of the Blackstone Family Hotel of Omaha appears in the February Review of Reviews. Another half-page cut of the same building appears in the National Geographical Magazine, and yet another occupies a quarter of a page in the Literary Digest. What does it all mean? Well, it is simple enough. A certain boiler company manufacturing a peculiar type of smokeless boiler is advertising its boilers extensively in these and other magazines. This company is showing the Blackstone as an example of one of the big, fine buildings in the United States that has installed this type of boiler. The Bankers' Realty Investment company and builders of the Blackstone are greatly interested in this campaign of advertising from the fact that the picture of the Blackstone, their particular pet structure, is thus going the rounds of an enormous circulation. The company is collecting the magazines in which these pictures appear with a great deal of zest and interest.

GIVES SECRET OF SELF POISONING

Mysterious Auto-Intoxication Explained by Von Trimbach, Creator of Tanlac.

CONGESTION OF ORGANS.

Advanced medical authorities assert that auto-intoxication is the foundation of most of the modern maladies from which run-down Americans suffer. "This condition," says Joseph Von Trimbach, noted giver of health aids, and who created the famous formula of Tanlac, "is nothing more nor less than the slow, self-poisoning of the vital organs produced by the excessive strain of life today. The reserve force of the organs is exhausted and as they function below normal, toxins—actual poisons—are generated within one's own body. "In the majority of cases the trouble starts with the stomach. But in any case the blame lies with faulty methods of living. When the organs falter in their duties and become congested, the body is tainted with poisons and the victim yields to their influence. Stomach and intestinal troubles and catarrhal affections are most often caused by auto-intoxication. "A tired, draggy feeling is the first result. This is followed by sluggish action of the mind, drowsiness at all hours, nervousness, headaches, faulty digestion, poor circulation, constipation and fitful sleep and eight out of ten people—and especially indoor workers—are likely to be so affected. "Tanlac, the great reconstructive medicine that is now being introduced in Omaha, was created especially to overcome these troubles. Tanlac is designed to stimulate the vital organs and to spur them back to normal activity. First action is upon the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and rebuilding tissues. It enables the stomach to properly digest food, thereby permitting the assimilative products to be turned into blood, bone and muscle. It overcomes the great causes of sickness—weakness. By invigorating the body it throws off the symptoms of nervousness and indigestion in a natural way and not temporarily. "Tanlac is conceded to have greater therapeutic value in cases of stomach and nerve exhaustion than any remedy so far discovered. Men and women who are in need of more strength, better digestion, properly regulated circulation and a toning up of the nervous system will find Tanlac the ideal tonic, appetizer and invigorant. "Tanlac is now being especially introduced daily in Omaha at the Sherman & McConnell drug store, 16th and Dodge streets. There the demonstrator, trained at the Tanlac Laboratories, explains the Tanlac and how it should be taken, and the results that may be expected from its use by nervous, run-down men and women.

SCOTS ARE EASY FOR OMAHA DANES

Champion Tug-of-War Team of Chicago Lasts Ten Minutes and Forty-Seven Seconds.

BUT THE SCOTS HAVE AN ALIBI

Led by their official bag-piper who lustily played melodies of the bonnie heather, six husky Scots who ought to be fighting in the Black Watch, but instead have been cleaning up Chicago at the tug-of-war game, stepped onto the platform at the Auditorium Sunday while some 2,000 tug-of-war bugs applauded with a series of vociferous "hoot monks." A moment later six Omaha Danes marched onto the platform and prepared for a little tug-of-war with the brawny Scots. Ten minutes and forty-seven and one-fifth seconds later the Scots were exclaiming how it happened. The explanation runs something like his—the Chicago Scots were not accustomed to the tug-of-war method of Omaha. Back there each man on the team sits in a sort of anchor, braced on all sides, and merely pulls on the slack or lets it out. The Omaha method is different. The men are not braced and can be yanked off their balance. This happened to the Scots last night. Thus, although defeated, and it might be said ignominiously, the Chicago Scots have an alibi. While the said alibi didn't go with the crowd last night, it satisfied the Windy City chaps. Champions of World. By winning from the Scots the Omaha Danes lay claim to the tug-of-war championship of the world. Until last night the Scots assumed this honor, and, as nobody came forward to dispute them, it was taken for granted the honor was theirs. The victory was a cinch for the local crew. At the discharge of the revolver both teams put their full strength on the rope and this was the only time the Scots held. The Danes couldn't advance an inch. But a few seconds later Captain Emil Toddold of the Danes gave the signal to his sextet of strong men to do a little pulling. Whereupon the Danes proceeded to cop a couple of feet of rope and almost sent the Scot anchor man on his ear. When it was announced ten minutes of valuable time had passed Captain Toddold suddenly remembered he had a date at 10 o'clock, so he told the boys to get it over with. They promptly did so Glassman, 525 South Twentieth street, at 2:15 this afternoon and held Mrs. Glassman, the only person in the store at the time, up at the point of a revolver. The bandit took $15 in cash and a check for $5.84 from the cash register and made his escape. Mrs. Glassman was able to furnish a good description of the man, and the police confidently expect to make his arrest shortly. According to Mrs. Glassman, the robber was 25 or 30 years old, 5'7" high, 160 pounds, with red complexion, light hair and wearing a gray cap, brown duck coat and blue trousers.

WOMEN URGE CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

Bring Up Embroglio at Norfolk Insane Asylum as Argument in Its Favor.

CROSS SWORDS OVER PENSIONS

The embroglio at Norfolk involving Dr. Guttery, superintendent of the Norfolk insane asylum, was used as an argument for the adoption of civil service reform at the Woman's club Monday. Mrs. P. H. Cole, prominent club woman and civil service reform advocate, declared that civil service reform rule would have prevented the disgraceful proceedings at Norfolk because the rule demands an investigation of the moral character and fitness of each employee. "The trouble is that men get positions in state institutions because they have a political 'pull,'" added Mrs. D. G. Craighead. "Positions in state institutions should only be held by those who have given life-study to their work." Deplores Governor's Veto. Mrs. Cole deplored the vetoing of the last civil service reform bill by the governor and the fact that the state charities and corrections committee had not worked to have the law passed. "A civil service law would protect superintendents as well as attendants. Nurses with immoral reputations would never be employed. For humanitarian reasons, if for no other, because many of the inmates are in state institutions on account of immoral lives at home, club women should work for this law," urged Mrs. Cole, who is also chairman of the department for the General Federation of Women's clubs, representing several million women. "I am not condemning the institutions or individuals, but I am condemning the conditions which permit these things to happen in this enlightened day," asserted Mrs. Cole. Cross Swords on Pensions. Mrs. Cole also advocated a pension for federal employees, but this was attacked in a spirited talk by Mrs. Craighead. "I am opposed to pensions of any sort. We should work for better wages for working men and women so that no pension need be necessary," said Mrs. Craighead. Prof. Henry Olrich outlined President Wilson's policy of preparedness for the club women. The social science department of the club will arrange for a lecture on "The Care and Feeding of Babies," to be given by a local physician in connection with Baby Health week observance in March.

Transforms Complexion; Wins Social Favors

"I had been unable to transform my complexion so quickly, so completely, by an unique process I had just learned of. I never could have attended the Charity Ball. A certain social favorite, a picture of loveliness at the great event, told me this. 'I had been much run down,' she said. 'When I beheld myself in the mirror after a night's troubled sleep, I saw I was becoming heavy-eyed and pale. I could not take, and attend the ball, the long rest my physician advised. A friend suggested I get an ounce of methylated wax at the drug-gist's and use it as I would cold cream. I did—the result is apparent. In a week I had a new complexion. The wax took off the old skin so gradually, there was no discomfort. Now you see the fresh, bright underlain, with its youthful glow and expression. 'This worry lines and wrinkles, which had become quite numerous, I removed very easily by simply bathing my face every morning in a harmless lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered exfolite in a half pint of witch hazel. You see the result—my skin as smooth and firm as a schoolgirl's.'—Allen in Town Talk.—Advertisement.
