Echo of the Cudahy Kidnaping Case is Heard in the Court

The final eche in district court of the kidnaping of Edward Cudahy by Pat Crowe is being heard in a suit in which J. M. Macfarland, lawyer, is seeking to recover $5,000 attorney's fees from the estate of James Callahan, Crowe's ac-

Macfarland alleges that Callahan promised him $5,000 to be paid whenever he got the money, if the attorney should secure his acquittal of the kidnaping charge and other charges against him. Macfarland sets forth that he performed his part of the agreement, but that Callahan, although he inherited a valuable estate prior to his death, never paid the money. The suit is being tried in District Judge Troup's court.

Callahan was the accomplice who suarded Edward Cudahy after he had been kidnaped, while Pat Crowe was endeavoring to secure money from the boy's police court, has initiated a new test of the present practice of requiring payment in advance of costs of appeal to the istrict court.

By a writ of habeas corpus Murphy brought the question to the attention of District Judge Sears. An order signed by the judge directed that Jones be brought into court. In a previous decision Judge Redick upheld the pratice of requiring appeal costs in advance,

"This move is in the interest of the poor man," said Murphy. "In many instances a man who believes he has been unjustly convicted in police court is able the cash to pay the costs in advance. The right of appeal is constitutional and may not be denied."

"If reports are true that the La France apparatus has been selected by the superintendent and chief of the fire department, then we are foreclosed from any hearing," declared Mr. Zimman, "but I believe it would be well for the commissioner and the chief to tell the other in the La France machine will best serve the public interests," Withnell Prefers La France. Commissioner Withnell replied that the selection or selections would be made by the entire city council, but, speaking for himself, he would buy the La France, because all members of the fire department want that type of machine.

C. J. Anderson, one of the bidders, effered to furnish the city machines as stable in every respect as the La France for $500 less per car, or $10,000 less on the entire job. Mr. Anderson took note that the city did not specify in the proposals just what kind of cars wanted, but left that to the bidders.

Ratings Are Fictitions. "In all but two instances the horsepower ratings as shown are fictitious," leclared Mr. Anderson.

Asked what has been done in the way of investigation since the bids were opened, Commissioner Withnell said the chief and master mechanic of the fire department went to Des Moines to observe the fleet of La France machines
