Rock Island Makes New Rule on Carload Shipments of Grain

The Rock Island road is putting into effect a new rule relative to loading grain cars, and the rates to be paid thereon. The new rule will be effective April 1 and it is presumed that all other roads will take up the same, or a similar plan. The new plan applies to the minimum carload of grain. Practically all the new freight cars on all the lines are rated at a 60,000-pound capacity and at the present time and during the past, freight charges have been paid on this capacity weight. The new order will permit a reduction in the minimum weight charge. For instance, if a car is marked at 60,000 pounds capacity weight and the load is up to capacity, freight rates will be paid on this weight. But if the weight is less the charge will be on the actual weight of the shipment. In securing the carload rates, wheat may be loaded to 60,000 pounds less than the marked capacity weight; with oats and barley at 10 per cent less. In many instances it is asserted that the new rule will work as a considerable reduction in the freight rates on grain, especially that coming from the country elevators, where many times it is impossible for the shippers to get together enough of any particular kind of grain to load a car to full capacity.

James H. Van Dusen Dies at Lincoln

James H. Van Dusen, aged 51 years, of the law firm of Brown, Baxter & Van Dusen, died in the Bailey sanitarium in Lincoln Thursday night. He is survived by his widow, living at the Winona apartments, and three children, Harold A. of Holyoke, Colo.; Dana B. of the Union Pacific law department and Helen Van Dusen, also three sisters and two brothers. Funeral services will be held from Burke's Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Forest Lawn cemetery. Mr. Van Dusen was graduated from the law school of Cornell and came to Omaha in 1888, where he immediately established a practice. He was at one time state senator and later city attorney for South Omaha and was active in the civic work of both Omaha and South Omaha. He had been ailing for several years.

Vosburgh to Watch Juveniles at Night

Juvenile delinquency is going to be a scarce commodity in Omaha from now on, asserts Juvenile Officer Gus Miller. He has ordered his assistant, Marcus Vosburgh, to report for duty every day at noon and stay on the job until midnight, in order that all pool halls, dances and chop suey parlors may be visited at the busiest hours. "There is no particular reason for this just now," declared Miller, "except that it's a good scheme to operate."

PERFECT ATTENDANCE AT THE DUNDEE SCHOOL

The following pupils of the Sixth A and B grades of the Dundee school attained a perfect record of attendance during February as a result of a "perfect attendance campaign": J. Burroughs, Clifford Leigh, Gordon Fry, Harold Howell, Pauline Johnston, Ronald Rockwell, Gretta Leslie, Evelyn Rieger, Arthur McDonald, Doris Talmage, David McGahey, Miriam Wiley, Sara Martin, George Youte, Leo Massey, Gordon Gray, Harold Nicholas, Leona Fay, Louis Smalley, Harold Griffin, Marjorie Paineoat, Hazel Snyder, Donald Burroughs, Charlotte Todd, Charles Clayton, L. Abercrombie, Blanche Hamilton, Automobile Road, Russell Johnston, Dorothy Beedle. The following succeeded in winning a record without tardy marks, although absent because of sickness: Irene Hazelton, Leon Ray, Joe McMartin, William Bush, Mildred Nelson, Donald Thomas, Alton Ellick, Ruth Wallace, Richard Koch.

Refuses to Dress to Ride to Jail

"Ninety days for you my man." Judge Ross in the South Side police court had listened to a story of the police about one George Pricowich, who had attempted to beat up his family and other families in the same house where he lived Wednesday evening. When arrested he refused to put any clothes on and was brought to the station in his underclothes. The latter obstinacy displeased the judge.

Mid-West Cement Users' Association Decides to Hold Convention Next Year in This City.

WHIPPERMAN IS RE-ELECTED

After electing officers final adjournment was taken by the eleventh annual convention of the Mid-West Cement Users' association at Hotel Rome. The directors then held their annual meeting and designated Omaha as the place for holding the next convention, in March, 1917, when another big cement show will also be held at the municipal Auditorium. Officers were chosen as follows: President, G. W. Appo, Kansas City; vice president, C. J. Tracy, Loup City; secretary-treasurer, Frank Whipperman, Omaha, re-elected for a fourth term.

As new directors, to serve for three years, the association elected N. J. Peterson of Omaha, Isaac Hird of Manila, Ia., and William Acheson of Superior, Neb. A technical bureau, for furnishing members with any desired data on concrete construction, has been opened at Kansas City. It was announced by the officers, who have arranged with W. A. Collins of that city to take charge of it. Friday evening and this evening were designated as "Ladies' Nights" at the cement show at the Auditorium, and no admission will be charged women who attend. The show is attracting much favorable attention, because of the variety and popularity of the many exhibits. It will close Saturday evening. These addresses were given at the final session of the convention: "Paving the Lincoln Highway," H. K. Davis, Des Moines; "Development of Concrete Construction," W. A. Collins, Kansas City; "Relation of Cement Manufacturer and User," C. M. Wood, Chicago.
