Face and Body Covered with Blisters. Started to Spread. Child Very Cross and Could Not Sleep.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My niece suffered with itching eczema for nearly six months. Her face and body were covered with blisters which broke open and started to spread. As soon as one blister opened a few days later more eruptions would appear. Her face was a fright to look at and the child was very cross and could not sleep nights. Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two boxes of the Cuticura Ointment together with the Cuticura Soap she was entirely healed." Various Forms Of Headache

"It is necessary in order to treat headache properly to understand the causes which produce the affection," says Dr. J. W. May, of Boston, Ala. Continuing, he says, "The causes are many, and the treatment of a disease without knowing what causes give rise to it, and being acquainted with the nature of the disease, is to be treated according to the same rule. We must not only be particular to give a remedy intended to counteract the cause which produces the headache, but we must also give a remedy to relieve the pain until the cause of the trouble has been removed. To answer this purpose, anti-kamnia tablets will be found a most convenient and satisfactory remedy. One tablet every one to three hours gives relief and rest in the most severe cases of headache, neuralgia and particularly the headaches of women."

BRITISH MAKE REPLY TO THE GERMAN NOTE

Disclaimer of Any Further Intention to Discuss General Charges of Germany's Warfare.

SANK ARABIC WITHOUT WARN

LONDON, March 8.—The British reply to the German note sent through the American embassy at Berlin in the middle of January, rejecting the British government's offer for an investigation of the Baralong case by a court composed of American naval officers and announcing Germany's intention to adopt measures of reprisal, was issued tonight. It is for transmission to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, through Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador in London.

The Baralong, a British patrol boat, last fall sank a German submarine and allegations were made that men from the Baralong afterward killed members of the German submarine crew while they were in the water or aboard the American steamer Nicosan, which had picked them up.

The British government disclaims any intention to further discuss its general charges of the inhumanity of Germany's sea warfare, which it holds have been amply proved.

Contrary to Evidence.

Commenting on Germany's statement that its officers had been acquitted of all blame after a thorough examination in three cases which Great Britain asked Germany to refer with the Baralong case to an American naval board—the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic, the destruction of a stranded British submarine by a German destroyer, and the German submarine attack on the British steamer Ruetz—the note says the German version of the sinking of the Arabic not only is inherently improbable, but directly contrary to all evidence the British government possesses from a large number of independent and trustworthy witnesses.

"That is the counter evidence on which the German government relies," says the note. "Has the captain of the submarine been tried for murder? Has he even been accused of any deed which in German eyes is not meritorious? If, as his majesty's government believes, he sank the Arabic without warning, does the German government so far agree with the rest of the world as to treat that action as a crime? If they do, why should they hesitate to condemn the sinking of the Lusitania? If they do not, why investigate the case of the Arabic?"

The Lie is Passed.

The note says the British government finds it difficult to believe the German version of the attack on the submarine stranded on the Danish coast was based on the report of any responsible German officer. "In any case," the note continues, "it is wholly untrue. There was no engagement between the submarine and the German destroyer. The British government has been four hours on shore before the German destroyers attacked it. Its crew in endeavoring to save themselves were shot at in the water by machine guns and shrapnel. This incident took place in the presence of Danish destroyers. It can be proved by independent testimony, both British and neutral. What value after this are we to rate a 'thorough investigation,' as thoroughness is practiced by the German authorities?"

Explosion Destroys Chemical Plant At Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 8.—Fire following several explosions late tonight destroyed the plant of the Niagara Electro-Chemical company, causing the death of one workman, the injury of several others and property loss estimated at $200,000.

The first explosion was of great force, windows in nearby all buildings within the radius of a block being shattered. The subsequent explosions occurred after the firemen had turned water into the burning building and are believed to have been caused by chemical action. The police believe the first explosion was caused by dynamite.

Former Omaha Clergyman Let Out Because Wife Was on Stage Here

Members of Episcopal churches of Omaha and Council Bluffs are interested in the situation affecting Rev. John William Jones, recently removed as assistant rector of St. John's cathedral at Denver. Rev. Mr. Jones was rector of St. Paul's in Council Bluffs and later was rector of St. Paul's in this city. He had many acquaintances and friends here.

REV. JOHN WILLIAM JONES.

One of the stories from Denver is that the rector was let out because his wife had been an actress previous to her residence in Denver. Another story is that jealousy arose among church officials when a wealthy Denver woman offered to buy the rector an automobile to assist him in his Sunday school work.

Rector Jones was at St. Paul's church here for nearly two years up to August of 1914. He came to Omaha from Council Bluffs in debt. He has five children. His wife secured an engagement with the Elys Lang Stock company, then at the Boyd, and in that way helped her husband pay off his debts and at the same time she took care of her children. She played "Mrs. Wicks" in the play of that name and appeared in other plays with Miss Lang. Mrs. Jones had dramatic talent before her marriage, but had no thought of using it again until she and her husband found themselves in debt.

Mrs. Jones was a close friend of Gertrude Hoffman, whom she knew in California before the latter gained fame. A leading member of St. Paul's Episcopal church of this city made this statement of the Jones matter: "While Mr. Jones was rector of St. Paul's there was never a word said about his wife being with the stock company. It was known that she wanted to help get her husband out of debt. The fact that she was the mother of five splendid children and was devoted to her husband was of itself sufficient to repel any unkindly reference to her stage work. Rector Jones was a regular human being when he was here. In Council Bluffs he got into a tangle with the vestry because he dared to tell the truth about certain matters."

While in Denver Rector Jones raised the membership of the Sunday school of St. John's cathedral to 3,000, something unprecedented in the church history of that city. His tireless work moved a wealthy woman to get an automobile for his Sunday school work, and then the trouble started, so it is reported.

Rector Jones is said to be suffering from appendicitis at this time in a Denver hospital.

REAL ESTATE MEN TALK ROAD BONDS

Discuss Pro and Con the Necessity of Raising Money to Repave County Roads.

TO TAKE UP AGAIN NEXT WEEK

The proposed county road bond is of great interest to real estate men if the meeting of the Real Estate exchange can be accepted as an accurate barometer of sentiment. W. T. Graham, chairman of the public service committee, held that the proposition is a bad one and that more details must be worked out before he will record himself in favor of it. J. E. George talked for the roads and said: "If we are ever to be a metropolitan city, as we hope to be, we must have these roads. It will start agitation for better roads in other counties and will be a stepping stone toward a better road system all over the state."

In answer to questions Mr. George stated that the government estimate of the cost of paving with vitrified brick as proposed would be from $15,000 to $18,000 per mile. He estimated that at any rate the cost would probably come within $28,000.

More Expensive Now.

W. G. Ure, county and city treasurer, said it would cost at least $50,000 per mile, as he was on the county board when the macadam roads were laid, and that bids were then received on brick. He said the best they could do in the bids at that time for brick paving was $22,500 and he estimated that at the present time it would cost $25,000. A great many took part in the discussion and on motion of W. H. Thomas the matter was laid over until the next meeting, Wednesday next week, when the county commissioners and others interested are to be invited in.

COMMERCIAL CLUB SEEKING AMENDMENT TO SHIP BILL

In the referendum which the National Chamber of Commerce is now taking of commercial clubs throughout the country on certain national questions, the Commercial club of Omaha voted to recommend to congress the suspension of that part of the seaman's act which discriminates against American ports, against American ships, and which restricts American commerce.

They recommended that that section of the act which provides for dealing with deserters should be repealed and that congress should seek to abolish arrest and imprisonment of deserters and use its influence to have other countries abolish similar practices. They recommended that congress ask the president to withdraw at once the notices the United States has given regarding abrogation of treaties, and the creation of a federal shipping board.

An active committee was appointed, tomorrow the 10 delegates will elect permanent officers.

A Leading Food Expert

stood before the big battery of milling machines in the Grape-Nuts factories at Battle Creek, Mich., and after inspecting both the wheat and flour, said to the miller: "That's selected wheat, and no 'patent flour' stunt, either. That wheat comes out of the rolls as honest and unrefined as it went in. Where did you ever make flour before that retained the true mineral content of the grain?"

And the wise miller replied: "I have worked in a good many mills, and I am no youngster, but let me tell you, I never made whole wheat flour like that until I came with this company."

The truth is, white flour is woefully lacking in certain essential mineral elements which are thrown out in the milling to make flour white and pretty, and its use frequently results in impaired health and activity.
