

Girls! Women! Take Cascarets If Constipated They liven your liver and bowels and clear your complexion.

Don't stay headachy, bilious with breath bad and stomach sour.

Tonight sure! Take Cascarets and enjoy the sweet, gentle liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly.

You can get sulfated cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Vanish

(Helps to Beauty) A safe, reliable home-treatment for the quick removal of superfluous hairs from your face or neck is as follows:

NUXATED IRON

Increases strength of delicate, run-down people 200 per cent in ten days in many instances.

BELL-ANS Absolutely Removes Indigestion. One package proves it. 25c at all druggists.

A merchant who can't afford to advertise, can't afford to hire clerks, or pay rent—it all comes in the course of business. Advertise in THE BEE.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING.

WILLIAM MADGETT, THE NEWBOY MAYOR, Republican Candidate for Governor at the Primaries.

SUFFRAGE IS NOW MATTER OF COURSE

Governor Carlson of Colorado Says that They Hardly Think of It Any More

WOMEN NOT CAMPAIGNERS

"Woman suffrage is such a matter of fact thing in Colorado now that no one thinks of it any more. No one thinks of it any more than he stops to think of his stomach. It is so thoroughly a part of the system of the state."

"We have had suffrage since 1893. No party would think of inserting in its platform nowadays a plank opposed to woman suffrage."

"The women have not gone in for office. They are not campaigners. But they vote in about the same proportion as men. The substantial women are the voting women. The ultras or extremists do not vote. The extremely poor and the extremely rich do not vote much. Also the woman who never had time to devote to her home is not taking time to vote either."

Influence for Good. "On the whole, the influence has been for good. Campaigning is cleaner now. A man does not tell smutty stories, for instance, in his campaign to illustrate a point."

"The man with a bad moral record cannot get into office under woman suffrage as well as he could before. Ordinarily men will forgive a man who has a record of several shady scrapes. But a woman will not. She cannot forgive those things, and that tendency is telling in the politics of the state."

Governor Carlson said that prohibition, which went into effect January 1 this year, is actually being enforced, and with excellent result.

As evidence of the good results of prohibition, Governor Carlson stated that 2,600 new savings accounts were opened in Denver during the month of January.

Fewer Arrests. There were 1,015 arrests for all causes in Denver in January, 1915, and only 308 for all causes in January, 1916.

Butter Prices Soaring in Omaha

"Yes, ma'am, butter is high."

That's what clerks in Omaha stores are saying to housewives who come to price and to purchase the golden product of the cow.

Thus bearing out the statement of T. F. Sturgess, editor of the Twentieth Century Farmer, who called attention to the fact that 108,000,000 pounds of butter which were in cold storage last fall have been consumed by a prosperous people.

Best creamery butter is 27 cents at one big downtown store.

"It went up 2 cents last week and 2 cents more already this week," said the man in the white apron. "And it is just 8 cents higher than it was last year at this time."

Other grades of butter are trailing along briskly behind the leader up the price ladder.

"Can't tell where it'll stop," said the man in the white apron. "Probably go higher before it gets lower. Can't expect it to drop before the grass gets green and the cows begin to give more milk."

INTERNATIONAL DINNER PARTY AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Over 300 guests are expected to attend the "international dinner party," which will be held Saturday evening at the Young Men's Christian association.

The dinner will be given under the auspices of the educational department of the association. J. W. Miller, secretary of the educational department; R. C. Howe, manager of the Armour & Co. plant, and E. E. McMillan, vice principal of the Omaha high school, are scheduled to make talks.

W. D. Morton will act as toastmaster. Wives of teachers and members of the educational committee will wait on table.

PIONEER CLERGYMAN DIES IN COUNCIL BLUFFS

Lewis Franklin Whitehead died of heart failure at his home, 719 South Seventh street, Council Bluffs, at 7 o'clock Thursday morning. He was born March 19, 1849, at Oakland, Livingston county, New York.

In 1871 he entered the Methodist ministry at Columbus, Neb., in which he remained until failing health caused him to retire. He engaged in business in Fairmont and Harvard, Neb., and came to Council Bluffs in 1884.

He leaves a wife and one son, Lewis M. Whitehead, well known Omaha railroad man.

SMITH ESTATE MUST PAY COUNTY INHERITANCE TAX

County Judge Crawford has decided that the estate of the late Francis Smith of New York City is not relieved by the common law doctrine of joint tenancy from paying inheritance tax to Douglas county on $1,000,000 worth of property.

Francis Smith and his brother, George Warren Smith, had provided by a joint tenancy agreement that the entire estate of both of them should belong to the survivor of the pair. It was Judge Crawford's decision that the agreement was in effect a will. It is possible that the inheritance tax will amount to $10,000.

REV. S. T. TYNER TALKS TO OMAHA UNI STUDENTS

Rev. S. T. Tyner, former pastor of the St. Andrew's Episcopal church of Omaha and now connected with the St. Luke's church of Minneapolis, addressed the student body of the University of Omaha on "Perseverance" yesterday.

The Strange Case of Mary Page

By Frederick Lewis, Author of "What Happened to Mary" :: Pictures by Essanay

SYNOPSIS. Mary Page, actress, is accused of the murder of David Pollock and is defended by her lover, Philip Langdon. Pollock was intoxicated. At Mary's trial she admits she had the revolver. Her maid testifies that Mary threatened Pollock with it previously, and Mary's leading man implicates Langdon. How Mary disappeared from the scene of the crime is a mystery. Brandon tells of a strange hand print he saw on Mary's shoulder. Further evidence shows that Pollock drank prodigious quantities of beer. The defense is "repressed psychosis." Witnessess are Mary's flight from her intoxicated father and her father's suicide. Nurse Walton describes the kidnapping of Mary by Philip Langdon. Brandon tells of Mary's struggles to become an actress and of Pollock's pursuit of her.

(Continued from Yesterday.)

CHAPTER VIII.

"Yes. He said that he had heard that there were a good many rumors about Mary's past, and that of course no actress could expect to have any reputation, as everybody knew what road companies were. At that I got so mad I fairly flew at him, but he brushed me aside and went up and grabbed Mary's hands, saying, 'I at least care nothing about gossip. Knowing Miss Page, I have repeatedly offered to marry her and now—now I ask again. Mary, you can kill this slender in a minute by marrying me.' That wised me to his game all right, but before I could tell her she had dragged her hands away from him with a scream and backed against the wall, staring at us as if—as if—she was crazy. I called out 'Mary! Mary!' but she didn't seem to hear me. She just kept staring at Mr. Pollock."

"Was he much excited?" snapped Langdon.

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did she reply?"

"Any shudder and her voice was a long time in coming, as if the horror of something had engulfed her in muteness; but at last, her eyes resting on Mary as if she had to re-assure herself that she was actually there, she said: 'No—she didn't answer. She struck at him—twice—then she screamed and ran out—and across the street to the railroad. We— we followed as quickly as we could, and then—' she choked, and her hand went waveringly to her throat, as if the words would not come—and then—we saw the man waving his flag and knew—the train from New York was coming in. I—think I went crazy myself for a minute. I screamed and screamed and I heard

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and I showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

What will Your car be Required to do? Before good doctors prescribe, they know what ails the patient. This used to be custom—today it is law. Business profits by precedents like this. Nowdays, before the wise man buys an automobile he examines himself. He will say: "I know how large my family is, and how roomy my automobile must be. I know how rough the roads are over which I shall travel; how steep the hills are; how deep the sand is. I know whether the motor must be powerful or not. I know how long my car must last. I know what my income is, and how much I can afford to pay for a machine."

To this man I say: "Inspect the Dort. It was built for you. It is good enough for any family. Few cars priced around $800 or $1,000 will meet the demands of a family of five more exactly."

DORT $665 COMPLETELY EQUIPPED ELECTRIC LIGHTS SELF STARTER. We want to hear from live dealers on our Special Proposition. FOSHIER MOTOR CO., DISTRIBUTOR 12th and Farnam Sts., Omaha, Neb.

DEPOT DISGRACE TO THE GATE CITY

Omaha Business Men Grow Stronger in Their Demand for a New Station.

GROW WITH GROWING OMAHA

"If ever a town was disgraced by its depots, it is Omaha," said E. V. Farris, manager of the bureau of publicity, Commercial club, in commenting on the need of a new union station in Omaha.

"The first thing you do when you come into Omaha with strangers or visitors is to apologize to them for our railway stations."

"Look at that Burlington station. It hasn't so much as an elevator in it. They make every one climb those long winding stairs; and as a matter of fact it takes a thoroughly able-bodied man or woman to get up there at all without help."

"There is only one way to get a union station. That is for the business men to get together in their demand, long enough to make them give us the same accommodations they have given Kansas City and Denver. Why should the railroads go to Kansas City and build a depot that cost so many millions and leave us the way they have? Why should they go, as they did at Denver, and remodel the depot there at a large cost, when Omaha is of more importance to them both as a freight and as a passenger center?"

"Why, they actually have better stations at Ogden and Salt Lake than they have in Omaha."

Due to Omaha.

C. F. Harrison, President of the Omaha Real Estate Exchange—The railroads owe it to us to give us a good union station now, in the light of business here, and especially considering all the favors they have had at the hands of the public. We gave them their right-of-way and a lot of lands and other concessions. They owe it to us now to give us a depot.

Got Rid of My Corns With Magic "Gets-It" Simplest Corn Cure in the World—No Pain, No Fuss, New, Sure Way. When corns make you almost "die with your boots on," when you've soaked them and picked them and sliced them, when corn-swelling salves, and tapes, bandages and plasters that make corns pop-eyed have only made your corns grow faster, just hold your heart a moment and figure this: Put two drops of "Gets-It" on the corn. It dries at once. You can put your shoe and stocking on right over it. The corn is doomed. It makes the corn come off clear and clean. It's the new, easy way. Nothing to stick or press on the corn. You can wear smaller shoes. You'll be a joy-walker. No pain, no trouble. Accept no substitutes. "Gets-It" is sold by druggists everywhere. See bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Omaha and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Sherman & McConnell Co. stores.

Important Notice Boys-- Your Bird House Must Be in Place Saturday Morning, March 11th All Bird Houses entered in the contest must be in place in the display before 10 a. m., Saturday, March 11. Prizes Awarded Saturday Afternoon BURGESS-NASH COMPANY. "EVERYBODY'S STORE"

Two Score Years of Telephony Forty years ago today, March 10, 1876, Alexander Graham Bell first spoke over the feeble telephone instrument he had invented, to Thomas A. Watson. When that conversation took place there were only two telephones in the world and a hundred feet of wire. Recently these same two men spoke to each other from the Atlantic to the Pacific—from New York to San Francisco—over a line 3,400 miles long. Today there are more than 15,000,000 telephones in the world, 9,000,000 of which are in the Bell System in this country. More than 21,000,000 miles of wire now connect every state in the Union, and the wireless telephone has extended speech across the seas. Bell Service Has Made the Nation a Community.