

WILL OF WALLACE OPENED

Veteran Farmer Editor Disposes of Estate for Various Purposes.

GOODLY SUM FOR CHARITY

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, March 11.—(Special Telegram.)—Henry Wallace, veteran farm editor, left his home today, in which he disposes of his small estate. He indicates he had previously given options to his two sons, who have been associated with him in the publication of their paper, on his stock and can exercise these options at any time.

Seized Auto with Liquor

The police of Des Moines are holding a fine large automobile as a trophy in their fight against bootlegging. It was found that someone had stopped the car on a main street last night and was delivering whisky therefrom. When the police investigated they found nobody to claim the car, but did find it well loaded with intoxicating liquors.

Filed Papers for Many Candidates

Papers were filed with the secretary of state today for both republican and democratic candidates for delegates to the national conventions to be voted on at the April primary. They were filed by the campaign committees and the state is now filled and the preliminaries ready. There will be a very light vote at the primary because of lack of a fight anywhere along the line.

Application of Absent Voter Law

It has just been held by the legal department of the state that the law as to absent voters applies to the primaries as well as to the general election and that the form of procedure in such cases is just the same. This will make it possible for the traveling men, students, railroad men and others who are away from home on either of the primary election days to cast their ballots just the same. There has been some question raised as to how an absent voter is to be registered his vote where a voting machine must be used, but it is said that printed ballots will be accepted.

Takes Rap at the Legislature

The supreme court took a rap at the legislature in a decision affecting the sufficiency of notice of action served on the agent of a foreign corporation. The company appeared in court only to deny the jurisdiction of the court. It seems that a few years ago the supreme court permitted appearance merely to deny jurisdiction, and the supreme court says this is equivalent to coming into court to solemnly assure the court that the defendant is not in court. "The change made is a reversion to a discarded technical practice," says the court. But the lawyers of the legislature were all for it.

Iowa Democrats for Wilson

Iowa democrats are back of Wilson, says Chairman J. W. Reynolds of Creighton, Ia., in the city Friday to file the nomination papers for delegates and alternates to the national democratic convention. "These insurgents who are breaking away from the party are doing it simply in opposition to President Wilson."

Leads All His Classes, Although in This Country But Short Time

Although barely able to speak the American language Noah Kahn, freshman at the University of Omaha, has had little trouble in pulling down the best average of the class. At the completion of the last semester Kahn had done 90 in all of the six college studies he is carrying. What makes Kahn's record appear above the average is that he has had to overcome almost insurmountable obstacles for his schooling. Two years ago Kahn arrived at New York from Vilna, Russia. He started in the public school there, which he managed to go through in eight months, a record of which few can boast of. To make his expenses Kahn worked evenings in a hat store. Last year he came to Omaha and had little trouble in passing the entrance examinations at the University of Omaha. While at the Omaha school Kahn has led his classes in every subject he has taken. In Omaha he has fared far better than in New York. Kahn makes his expenses by teaching Hebrew, along which line he is considered one of the best versed scholars in the city. Since his arrival here Kahn has taken an important part in Jewish circles. At present he is secretary of the local Jewish national fund, is executive secretary of the Poale Zion organization of the city and is also connected with the Young Judea Junior club and the Flowers of Zion. Kahn has as his ultimate goal the becoming of an engineer.

CHINA HAS GRIEF ON HAND

Just How to Dress When the New Government Gets Into Saddle Worries the Swells.

MILLINERS IN A FLURRY

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) PEKING, Feb. 29.—Chinese dress-makers, milliners and tailors are all in a flurry over the announcement that under the prospective monarchy fashions will be quite unlike those of the republic. So sure are the government officials of the result of the coming elections, that the bureau of rites has been instructed to prepare regulations for the etiquette of the monarchy. Under the republic the costumes and rules of conduct were wholly unlike those which prevailed in imperial China. Specific regulations were drawn up as to the height of the stove-pipe hats which men were to wear on state occasions. The old Prince Albert coat, which European capitals have long ago discarded, was elevated to a place of distinction. In warm weather distinguished gentlemen calling upon the president were permitted to wear a Prince Albert of unlined alpaca.

Detail Fixed by Mandate

Practically every detail of the costumes which members of Parliament must wear was fixed by mandate, and there was great confusion when the Chinese officials found it was necessary to shelve their native garb and imitate the dress of western nations. President Yuan Shi-Kai has intimated that there will be no restoration of the gorgeous attire assumed under the Manchou regime, but it is generally believed that the new monarchy will not adhere to the strictly severe toilet of the republic.

Question of Etiquette

At conferences held by the bureau of rites the following topics have already been considered: Question of Etiquette. First—Etiquette to be adopted in foreign and diplomatic affairs, such as the form of correspondence, the ceremony of receiving guests, the ceremony of diplomatic funerals. Second—Etiquette in connection with domestic affairs, such as the cere-

Governor Sets One Week Apart For Boosting Home Food Products

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 11.—(Special.)—Governor Morehead has designated the week beginning April 3 as pure food week and issues the following proclamation: "We, as citizens of this state have many things that we can point to with the greatest of pride, Nebraska is one of the largest food producing states in the union and these foods are sold the world around, a fact that should be brought home to every citizen of the state. "Stand up for Nebraska is a good slogan, but in food matters the words 'Nebraska Foods First' should be the slogan, and every effort should be made to keep this slogan in the foreground to the extent that all the people of this state be brought to realize that the foods produced and manufactured here are second to none. In justice to our producers and manufacturers and in justice to ourselves as consumers, we should all join hands in advertising in every way possible every article of food produced or manufactured within the state, and show that our foods are superior in quality and that our supply is abundant."

"To accomplish the best results we must have our banners where they can be seen and not only attract the attention of our own people but the people in other states who buy from us, as it is shown that our production is far beyond our consumption inasmuch as we produce nearly $50,000,000 of food products each year. "It would seem proper that a certain time be fixed wherein all concerned can take part in furthering the general welfare of the state and also of the producers and consumers of food products, therefore the week of April 3 is hereby designated the pure food week. "All organizations of commercial endeavor, all societies of public welfare, all business concerns engaged in selling, distributing and manufacturing foods, and all persons engaged in the production of foods, are hereby requested to co-operate in this movement and lend every effort for its success. "Believing that our citizens will agree with me in this matter and will co-operate to help carry out the intent of this proclamation, I hereby set apart the week of April 3 for the purpose mentioned. "JOHN H. MOREHEAD, Governor."

the etiquette promulgated by the republic will no longer be applicable when the monarchical form of government is restored. In view of these facts, conferences have been held by the Bureau of rites for the various kinds of etiquettes and rites to be adopted by the new government, so as to get shatters ready before the rainfall comes in."

KNOX COUNTY WELCOMES KENNEDY ON HIS TRIP

John L. Kennedy, candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator, returned Saturday night from a campaign trip into the northwestern part of the state. Thursday night he spoke at Creighton, Friday afternoon at Center and Friday night at Niobrara. All these meetings were well attended and enthusiastic. The meeting at Center, the county seat of Knox county, was an old time republican rally. The court house was filled with republicans from all parts of the county, some of them driving thirty miles to attend. In that part of the state republican sentiment is strong, and a republican victory next fall is freely predicted.

Cutting Out Baedeker

One of the curious byproducts of the war's animosity is a plan in England to publish a series of guide books, "to take the place of the London Times explains, 'of the renowned Baedekers, which, after the war, are not likely to be popular in the countries of the allies or of sympathetic neutrals.' The managing director and editor of the new enterprise was for thirty years one of Baedeker's English co-editors. The Times says that the idea of issuing the books has its patriotic as well as its commercial side and that the guides are to be printed and the maps made entirely in England. Baedekers were printed in English, French and German, but these books are to be printed in English and French only.—Indianapolis News.

GARRANZA WANTS PERMIT TO SEND HIS MEN ACROSS LINE

(Continued from Page One.) Department of State of the American government, that he learned with regret of the lamentable incident which occurred in the town of Columbus, N. M., on account of the assault it suffered yesterday from the bandits led by Francisco Villa. Has Competent Force. "That although there has been a competent number of forces in the state of Chihuahua to re-establish order and afford protection to nationals and foreigners ever since Francisco Villa appeared in the mountains of the above state at the request of the governor of the state of Paso, Tex., the first chief ordered the timely departure of 2,000 men, commanded by General Luis Gutierrez, with instructions to actively pursue the bandits, who had just crossed the line into American territory, which they undoubtedly did, compelled by the tenacious pursuit of the above-mentioned forces. Generoso and Victorious. "The above lamentable incident is similar to the incursions which were made in the states of Sonora and Chihuahua by Indians from the reservations of the government of the United States. Incursions into the state of Sonora occurred more or less about the year 1890, when Geronimo, the Indian chief who did not many years ago in Fort Mound, Ala., led a numerous horde and invaded a part of the north of the state of Sonora, committing many murders and depredations on life and property of Mexican families, until after a long and tenacious chase by American and Mexican forces the band of malefactors was annihilated and its chief was captured. "The incursion into Chihuahua, led by the Indian chief Victoria, commanding about 800 Indians, took place between the years 1884 and 1886. Then the bands of marauders, committing also many crimes, went into the country as far as the village of Teolochic or Tres Castillos, near the capital of Chihuahua, and during the first formal encounter between them and Mexican forces, after having lost their chief, they were dispersed. Former Agreement Cited. "On these two occasions through an agreement between the governments of the United States and Mexico, it was decided that the armed forces of one and the other country might freely cross from the territory of one and the other for pursuit and for the purpose of punishing the above named bands of marauders. Recalling these incidents and the good results for both countries on account of the above agreement, the government presided over by the first chief, anxious to exterminate within the least possible time the hordes led by Francisco Villa, who has been recently placed beyond the law and to capture him, to apply condign punishment, resorts to you as confidential agent, and addresses the government of the United States, requesting the necessary permission for Mexican forces to cross into American territory if the incursion which took place in Columbus should unfortunately be repeated in any other part of the boundary line. The Mexican government would greatly appreciate a prompt and favorable reply from the government of the United States. "Please accept, Mr. Confidential Agent, the assurances of my high consideration. "JESUS ACUNA, "Secretary in Charge of the Department of Foreign Affairs."

Auto Owner Cannot Be Held for Damages If Wife Drives Car

FALLS CITY, Neb., March 11.—(Special.)—According to the ruling of the judge in a case in the county court this week, if there is suit for damages sustained in an automobile accident, it makes a difference whether the complaint is entered against the man who owns the car or his wife who is driving the car. The case of Ida Krueger against John B. Schroeder was tried before a jury at Falls City, and the judge directed the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant. This action was taken because there was no proof that Mr. Schroeder had given his wife permission to take his car to Falls City, where the car, driven by her, ran over the plaintiff, Ida Krueger. It seems that the plaintiff should have sued Mrs. Schroeder.

Unsafe

The editor in charge of the personal inquiry column opened his severed letter with a groan. "I have lost three husbands," a lady reader had written, confidentially, and now have the editor of a fourth. "Shall I accept him?" The editor dipped his pen in the ink. "This was the last straw. I have lost three husbands," he wrote. "I should say you are much too careless to be trusted with a fourth.—London Tit-Bits.

Sad, Indeed

A Boston school teacher had read Whitman's "My Mother" to her pupils, and at the close of her reading spoke of the sorrowful significance of the words "It might have been." She asked the boys and girls if they could think of any four sadder words. One alert youngster of a dozen years held up his hand and said: "I know two sadder words. "What are they?" asked the teacher. "Sad, indeed."

There is One Thing About a Redfern Corset

That we want to point out to you very particularly—and that is that a Redfern always holds its shape from the day you put it on until it is worn out—but who wants to wear a corset until it is worn out—no one. We like fresh undergarments, and we can easily afford a Redfern, since they are so moderately priced. Corsets change in style as our fashions change, and we should have a new figure at the beginning of each season—one that keeps our body shapely. Your figure will be marked for its "good lines" if you are corsetted in a REDFERN MODEL.
