Bits About the Baby

Baby must have exercise. Out-of-door exercise is best. Do not let the little one get tired. Baby should not be urged to stand or walk. Use buttons and tapes on baby's clothes. Pins are taboo, except, of course, the diaper safety pin. A baby's clothing must be adapted to the temperature. When lightly clad, he must not be exposed to cold winds. Shoes should be heavier in winter than in summer, to guard against chill. Knock-kneed or bowlegged may be the result of too much standing or walking. Do not let a baby lift heavy things,

Spring Painting Tips

Anyone who has tried painting sash windows knows how easy it is to smear the glass and how very hard it is to get the paint off afterwards. If attempt is made to wipe the paint off while it is fresh, it is wiped from the freshly coated sash in the operation. In order to avoid all trouble, let the amateur painter take a cake of soft soap and rub it on the glass close to the sash and extending out till it covers at least a two-inch margin. Then he can go ahead with his painting without worrying about the smears made upon the soap-coated glass, for when the paint is dry he may wash off the soap and the paint will come off with it.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY IS HERE IN LENT

Inconsiderate of Patron Saint to Be Born When Dancing Heels Must Be Tied. AND SOME SAY HE WAS IRISH. By MELLIFLUCIA—March 17. It was woefully inconsiderate of St. Patrick to have been the patron saint of the Irish, the liveliest heeled dancers on earth—and then to have let his birthday come in Lent! Old Cotton Mather himself, who didn't believe either in Lent nor in dancing, couldn't have served humanity a more puritanic trick.

Creation of White Organdie

Three narrow ruffles trim the large fichu collar, which crosses the front, making a deep V neck. Saucy bows of blue taffeta ribbon are tied at the wrists and the same ribbon is used to make the girde and streamers. A crushed rose of velvet foliage gives the correct color note.

TO TAX BACHELORS FOR THE HOSPITALS

Mrs. Draper Smith Suggests the Memphis Plan Be Carried Out for Benefit of Babies. SCHREIBER SUPPORTS PLAN. "Let's tax the bachelors for the support of a baby hospital. They do it down in Memphis, Tenn." This is the plan broached by Mrs. Draper Smith, prominent welfare worker and active in suffrage circles, in connection with baby health week observance.

Attention Missed

"I thought Crimson Guich had returned," replied Broncho Bob. "But it seems wide open now." "We had to make some kind of a demonstration. There's nothin' we used to enjoy so much as havin' a good talker come along an' tell us how wicked we were. We've been so regular respectable that nobody pays the least attention to us an' we feel slighted."—Washington Star.

Eight-Year-Old Bakes for Sale at Big Suffrage Bazar

Cakes baked by an 8-year-old girl without the least outside assistance, not even a word of caution or advice! This really happens in Omaha, and the cakes themselves will be for sale at the Suffrage bazaar held today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thor Jorgensen.

The little baker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scogin and has been baking since she was 7 years old.

"Every normal child wants to work in dough or batter," says Mrs. Scogin when asked about how it ever happened that the child is doing this work. "Instead of Orva's playing with mud pie, chaffing her hands and breathing germs, she does something constructive and of benefit to the family—for she does make the most excellent cake of all kinds."

Little Orva began her cake-making at 7 years of age. She was always fond of watching her mother mix and put the cake batter in the pans and care for the baking.

"Oh, how I would love to make a cake all by myself," she said.

The mother told her how to make plain cake, and the effort was a success. From plain cake the child began more ambitious confections, for she is an apt reader and can spell every word in her mother's cook book.

Now Mrs. Scogin gives no worry for her fancy baking, and the best part of all, Orva does not disorder the pantry nor get flour on the floor, nor spill sugar on the shelves—she finishes up her baking with a neatness that would give credit to a Dutch housewife, even to the washing and putting by of her pans.

"And I just love it," she explains; "doing baking is more fun than playing baking, and you can eat it besides."
