

TORNADO CROSSES NORTHERN INDIANA

Three Men and Little Girl Are Killed and Four Persons Are Seriously Injured.

TRAIN IS BLOWN FROM TRACK

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 22.—Three deaths, four serious and more than fifty minor injuries, and extensive property damage resulted from the windstorm which swept northern Indiana late last night.

Silas Williams, 71, was killed when his home, near Jalapa, Ind., collapsed, crushing him to death in his bed.

James Rector of Monon, Ind., was killed when his home was destroyed by the storm.

W. J. Ricketts was killed at Logansport, when the roof of a factory building was blown against his home.

Mrs. Jerry Carter of St. Louis, Mo.; an Italian woman named Pasquale, of Trinidad, Colo.; William Hutchins of Frankfort, Ind.; and E. L. H. Moor of Van Buren, Ind., were severely injured when three coaches of the Clover Leaf passenger train were blown over near Marion, Ind. These were taken to the hospital in Marion.

A number of houses and factories were unroofed in Marion. The storm confined itself to a narrow stretch, but wrecked practically everything in its path.

Trains Blown from Track.

MARION, Ind., March 22.—Three coaches of Clover Leaf passenger train, No. 5, were blown from the track five miles east of here by a tornado last night. Twenty-seven passengers were on board the train, but, according to railway officials, all of them have been accounted for and while a number suffered minor cuts and bruises, none were seriously injured.

A number of roofs and stacks in Marion county were destroyed by the storm.

The train consisted of five cars, three of which were turned over, the other being tilted at an angle of twenty-five degrees. The engine and tender stayed on the track and the engineer and fireman brought them into Marion.

Wind and Snow in Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Northeast gales, bearing rain, sleet, hail and snow, accompanied by frequent lightning flashes, swept over western Indiana, northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin today.

The storm, which was of unusual violence, cost one life, caused many injuries and great damage. In Logansport buildings were unroofed and the flying wreckage caused the only fatality reported. Several Illinois cities suffered severely when Chicago sustained all the ill effects of a blizzard except low temperature.

Railroad transportation was delayed, street cars were held up, shade trees uprooted in various sections of the city.

Before 9 a. m. the storm abated and hundreds of men began the work of removing the snow from the streets.

Farmers' Daughters Killed.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., March 22.—Gertrude Alapach, 4-year-old daughter of a farmer living near Montpelier, north of here, was killed by the tornado which swept the northern section of this (Blackfoot) county early today. Four other members of the family were severely injured, according to the meager report received here. The property damage was estimated at $20,000 in the county.

Wind Sixty Miles an Hour.

KANSAS CITY, March 22.—A wind estimated at sixty miles an hour blew practically all day last night and early this morning. Flat glass fell and wires broken in the business district and street lights and telephone wires were blown down. The wind was accompanied by a sharp drop in the temperature.

town known to have been reached by the American troops. The road is good, as Mexican roads go, and troops passing along it would have plenty of water. The country traversed is fairly fertile.

That the railroad problem will bring a real crisis in the relations between the Carranzistas and Americans is firmly believed here. Reports continue to sweep through the censorship at Columbus in regard to the difficulties the American military authorities are experiencing in forwarding adequate supplies by pack horses and wagon trains. Army officers maintain their usual reticence, but they have made admissions which confirm the story that the transportation problem is an increasingly serious one.

Carranza Playing for Time.

There is a general impression here that General Carranza is playing for time, knowing the grave consequences which may follow either a refusal or granting of the American request. As far as the border is concerned, this situation is of far greater importance than the actual pursuit of Villa. This is partly due to the meager news coming from General Pershing and from a general skepticism over the reports from Mexican sources of serious fighting between Carranza and Villa forces.

The border is not optimistic over any early end to the chase of Villa. Their main interest lies in the possibilities of a break between the two nations along the border.

Cash Payments Big Factor.

Cash, not paper money of doubtful value, but real American money, new at a premium in Mexico, that is paid by General Pershing's army in Mexico for supplies, will have an invaluable political effect in Mexico in the opinion of American mining and business men who have known Mexico under all regimes.

The revolutionary armies of Mexico, said one mining man, are used to paying with orders on their government, while the common soldiers had no pay to spend. American soldiers, buying for cash at good prices, and the purchases by the quartermaster and commissary departments, will give the Mexicans an entirely new opinion of the character of "gringos" and of their honor. It was this free spending of money and freedom from pilfering under the American occupation of Vera Cruz that entirely upset the concealed notions of the Mexican residents in regard to the people north of the line. Silver is now scarce in Mexico, and gold scarcer. Thus the people on the line of advance will be interested in having such free spenders as the Americans in their neighborhood.

Mexican Account of Murder.

Pablo Galvez, a Mexican, was arrested here accused of the murder of Dan Powell, a night watchman employed by some wholesale houses. Powell telephoned the police last night that three Mexicans, armed with weapons equipped with silencers, were taking pot shots at him. He said bullets were flattening on the walls about him and that he had taken shelter in a building where he was telephoning. Police reserves were rushed to the scene and, after rounding up the Mexicans in the neighborhood, arrested Galvez. No weapon was found on him.

Wireless Working Fitfully.

It has been established that the trouble with the wireless was due to weather conditions and faulty mechanical equipment. First reports asserted the bandits, by a few lucky shots, had disabled the apparatus at General Pershing's base.

The mystery over what is happening between Juarez and Casas Grandes is deeper than ever today. The distance between these two towns is about 130 miles, traversed by the Mexico Northern-western railroad. General Gavira declared early yesterday that he was sending out a repair train under heavy guard to restore the wires and report on what caused their interruption. Early today no report has been received and the Mexican officials profess to be completely ignorant of what has occurred.

As the time lengthens since Flight Lieutenants Robert H. Willis, Jr., and Edgar S. Gorrell disappeared with their aeroplanes into the Chihuahuas desert there are fears for their safety.

Mexican officials have been convinced that the severing of telegraphic service between Juarez and Casas Grandes probably was accomplished by a bandit raid on the Mexican Northwestern railroad. In some quarters here there is a disposition to believe that Villa sympathizers may have cut the ground wire laid by General Pershing in his march southward from Columbus. If this is the case, it is feared out, there would be good reason to fear for the safety of Lieutenants Willis and Gorrell. Nothing is known regarding the place at which the two officers disappeared. If they lost their bearings and got out of their scheduled course it is pointed out they may have been compelled to descend and may have fallen into the hands of some of the wandering bandits.

Investigations were going forward today, which it was hoped would disclose the safety of the aviators. Drivers of motor trucks carrying supplies south from Columbus were instructed to watch for every possible trace of the two flyers. Small detachments of troops stationed along the line of communication joined in the search.

The fact that Willis and Gorrell carried only three days' rations and two small canteens of water added to the anxiety over their mishap. If they have gotten far away from their course, they may have trouble in obtaining additional supplies from the inhabitants of the district they were traversing.

Motor Truck Line.

For the first time in its history, the United States army now has a motor truck line operating regularly between a field force and its base of supplies. Trucks recently purchased by the War department are now in commission according to dispatches from the base of supplies at Columbus, N. M.

The operation of the line is similar in every detail to that of a railroad, both express and local trains being run, the first of the express trains leaving Columbus today carrying supplies to General Pershing.

The trains leave daily, carrying supplies, forage, ammunition and arms, and run on regular schedules, their progress being watched by dispatchers at the radio stations here and in the field. The express trains carry only supplies for which there is an imperative demand, directly to General Pershing's force, while the local convey staple supplies to the field base. Two divisions are being maintained, the first extending from here to the field base and the second from there to the camping place of the field force.

For slower freight wagon trains are being run, but the large part of the supplies is being transported by motor. At present only two motor companies are operating the trains, but it is expected that the organization of additional companies will follow the arrival late this week of more trucks.

Lumbago Usually Caused By Kidney Trouble

I was suffering from a severe attack of lumbago, which affected my kidneys and bladder. I was in such a bad condition that I could not stand in an erect position or do any lifting whatever for several days. Finally some one advised me to take Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which I did, and in a very short time my trouble disappeared and I feel better than I have in several years. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to any one afflicted with lumbago, kidney and bladder troubles.

ARTHUR WOODS & MISS HELEN M. HAMILTON.

The engagement of Miss Helen Morgan Hamilton, niece of J. P. Morgan and a great-great-granddaughter of Alexander Hamilton, to Police Commissioner Arthur Woods, has been announced.

Miss Hamilton, who is 39 years old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson Hamilton, her mother is a sister of J. P. Morgan and her father is a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan. She was introduced into society in October, 1914.

Commissioner Woods is 46 years old. He is the son of Joseph W. Woods, a pioneer in cotton goods industries in Boston. After graduating from Harvard in 1888 he spent a year at Heidelberg university. He then taught for ten years at Groton school, Groton, Mass. He taught English and English literature.

He went on a special mission to the Philippines for the government and spent some time traveling. In 1907 he returned to New York, and for a year was a reporter on the Evening Sun. He was chosen by the citizen's committee to study police conditions. Police Commissioner Bingham sent him abroad to study police methods in Scotland Yard and elsewhere. On his return he was appointed fourth deputy police commissioner, a place created especially for him.

When Commissioner Bingham left office Commissioner Woods also resigned. He went to Mexico for a year as the head of a lumber company. In the Mitchell majority campaign Woods served as publicity manager for Mitchell. He was appointed secretary to the mayor, then police commissioner.

Offers Made to Pay Expenses of Men in Training Camps

NEW YORK, March 22.—Prominent citizens in different parts of the country have written to Major General Leonard Wood offering to pay the expenses of one or more young men who may wish to attend the military training camps at Plattsburg, N. Y., next summer, but are financially unable to take advantage of the opportunity. One well known woman said she would pay the expenses of eight deserving young men.

"I want to state," said General Wood today, "that in no case will it ever be made known who the man is who benefits by the generosity of these patriotic citizens. The amount necessary to pay for the month's training averages about $25 a man."

Applicants for admission need only the equivalent of a good high school education.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Latest official advices from the American expedition in Mexico say that General Pershing and his men are close to Villa and his bandits. All dispatches told of the cooperation of the Carranza soldiers in the bandit chase.

Despite unofficial reports of unsettled conditions in the interior of Mexico and along the border Secretary Baker said that, although the situation was fraught with many possibilities, to date there has been no unfavorable developments.

In response to a request from General Funston additional troops are being sent to the border. The Fifth cavalry squadron at Fort Myer, Va.; Fort Sheridan, Ill., and Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and the Twenty-fourth infantry at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., were under orders to start south today.

SPANISH WAR VETS MAY GO TO MEXICO

National Headquarters Seeks Information as to Number of Nebraskans Who Will Enlist.

MEETING OF CAMPS CALLED

The Spanish-American war veterans of Nebraska may yet have a chance to go to the Mexican border to take a hand in capturing Villa, or participating in whatever duty they may be called upon to perform.

The national headquarters of the Spanish-American war veterans is in St. Louis. The officers there have sent to the Nebraska headquarters, asking information relative to the number of men who would respond to the call for volunteers in the event one should issue.

In Nebraska there are nine camps of the veterans, located in Omaha, Lincoln, Nebraska City, Columbus, North Platte, Geneva, Fairbury, Beatrice and Norfolk. The enrollment is between 1,500 and 2,000 men, with several hundred who have never united with the camps.

Ready to Rally Around Colors.

Past Commander Whipperman asserted last night that in the event a call should be made requesting the enlistment of the Spanish-American war veterans for service in Mexico, practically all of the men who could pass the physical examination would rally around the colors.

In the event the Nebraskans should be called upon to enlist, they would not enter the army as recruits, but instead, seasoned veterans, with plenty of experience in the field, especially those who saw service in the Philippines.

The information sought by the national headquarters has gone to all of the Nebraska camps, and meetings will be held immediately in order that it may be quickly ascertained how many of the men are ready to enlist should their services be needed.
