Steal Mail Sack Filled Only with Some Empty Sacks

Two men and a woman were captured in an attempt to steal a mail bag at the Union station yesterday. They are Walter H. Van Gordon, Tom McFarland and Nettie Wombold, alias Nettie Nilson. They appeared at the station Tuesday night, tried to break into the restaurant and then staved around the station all night. The officers kept watch on them. Wednesday morning the men grabbed a mail sack from a truck and carried it away and concealed it, not knowing they were watched. They were arrested by Special Agent McCauley of the Union Pacific and Officer Emery and were taken in charge later by Hugh Mills, government secret service agent. Van Gordon came here from Lincoln, where he was a bellhop in the Lindell hotel. The stolen mail sack, instead of containing mail, was filled only with empty mail sacks.

"I saw a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and I sent for a free sample and applied it according to directions, and I gave me relief so I bought a box, and in ten days I was healed." SEEKS TO AVENGE POISONING OF PET

Seven-Year-Old Negro Lad Appeals to Truant Officer Carver to Find "Murderer of Dog."

WOULD PUNISH WITH A RAZOR

"Is yo' all Mistah 'Doc' Cahvan?" "Doc" Carver, attendance officer looking after some truants in the north part of town, stopped and looked down at the interrogator, a coal black youngster of 7 years, whose voice came from somewhere in the region of "Doc's" knee. The boy was very serious about something. "Yes, I'm Mr. Carver," answered the truant nemesis. "Yo' alla pretty goot ketchin' boys, ain't yo'?" questioned the boy. "Yes, fairly so," "Doc" replied, wondering what was coming next. "Well, ah' spees yo'all is de man ah' wants. Mah' dawg 'Conomy' done be'n poisoned an' ah' wants yo'all to fin' out who done hit." The big, round eyes became dim with tears, and the little fellow bravely choked back a sob. "Ah'll pay so' a lib'el 'rward."

Good Ketchin' Boys.

"Ah don' know," wistfully sighed the boy. "Ah spees maybe yo' all could find out. Yo's so good at ketchin' boys." "Do you think some boys did it, or was it your parents, now?" Carver wanted to know, adopting a professional attitude, as he commenced to take interest in the little fellow's sorrow. "Ah don' know. Ah don' know no-body'd do an' mi-wit no 'Conomy' He was mah' on 'est dawg ah' ev' had." This time the boy couldn't hold back his grief and the tears rolled down his cheeks. "That's too bad," sympathized Carver. "I'll try to find out who poisoned."

"Ah don' want no nuther dawg. Taint no nuther dawg lak 'Conomy.' Ah wants 'fin' out who done kill 'im." The little boy insisted, wiping his snuffly nose on his sleeve. "I don't know what good it would do to know who killed him. What would you do if you did know?" "Nevah min, Mist' Cahvan," the mite explained, throwing out his chest, as a cold look came into the eyes a moment before dimmed with tears. "Ah'll mow 'im down, dath what ah'll do." Hot Water the Best Liver and Bowel Medicine

Says glass of hot water before breakfast washes poisons from system.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do. Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.
