Wagoner, a new $1,400 barn, and T. hold that the word affiliation simply Sykes, house and barn. means that a man cannot affiliate with more than one party.

The matter came up on the protest of F. P. Corrick, state chairman of the progressive party against the names of republican and democrats going on the progressive ticket. Some withdrawals had been made, and the matter finally dwindled down to consideration of the names of Congressmen Sloan and Kinkaid, who as republicans had been filed for places for congressional nomination been received.

will be the case in the instance of A. H. Bigelow of Omaha, candidate for congress in the Second district, who late yesterday accepted a filing for his name to go on the republican ticket for con-gress, and as no one took enough interest in the matter to protest, the primary ballot will show the name of Mr. Bigelow on the republican ballot contesting with Judge Ben Baker and David Mercer for the nomination. In the case of C. H. Sloan and M. P.

Kinkaid, there were no candidates for congress in their districts on the progressive ticket.

The same oid farce of peoples independent filings on the democratic ticket will still continue, although that party has no organization and mighty few followers.

the filing Mr. Harman says in part:

Many matters are now pending in the department, which require my personal attention, and some of them will undoubtedly result in prosecutions, and for this reason, if for none other, I feel that I would be derelict in my duty if I did not give these matters my personal attention and which I could not do if I became a candidate for office. I feel that I should continue the work that I am deeply interested in and thus give to the recole of this state my best efforts in their behalf until my term of office as deputy food, drug, dairy and oil commissioner has expired.

I am grateful to those who have urged me to become a candidate, since the filing was made, but feel that I can render greater service to this administration, my party and my state by sticking to the job I now hold.
