By MELLIFLOIA. Wednesday, November 10, 1915.

THE Drama league now numbers 700 members in Omaha and has reached the proportions of a powerful organization, with a big educational purpose behind it. One of the most encouraging features of the awakened interest in the drama, however, is the smaller and more exclusive drama clubs now forming, circles, as it were, with membership in closest and most intimate touch with one another.

A thing to be effective must have its working units, and the more intimate the personal association, the greater will be the common sympathy, and consequently the accomplishment.

One of the most interesting results of the new movement for the betterment of the drama is a club, without name nor officers, just formed of a small coterie of women in the West Farnam district. This circle will meet every Friday morning at the homes of the different members, and its sole object will be the study of the drama. On next Friday morning the club, if it may be called a club, meets for the first time at the home of a West Farnam matron.

Single Taxer Will Make Talk in Omaha

John E. White, lecturer on economic and sociological subjects, is to be in Omaha next Friday to deliver two lectures, one before the University club Friday noon on "National Revenue," and the other before the Economic league on "Single Tax."

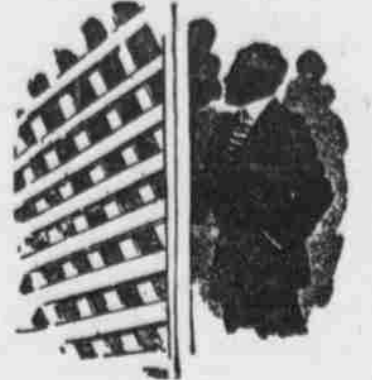

Mr. White is rated as a forceful speaker who has a range of subjects running from initiative and referendum to community development; from free trade and universal peace and prosperity to currency reform, from the federal constitution to the French revolution. He is one of the lecturers of the Henry George Lectures association of Chicago and is presented in Omaha by this association.

FREIGHT CAR SHORTAGE RELIEVED FOR A TIME

For a time at least the freight car shortage has been relieved on the roads west of the Mississippi river. Eastern lines operating through sections where little grain is raised have sent large numbers of cars west, as have roads operating in southern territory.

Don't Let Anyone Mislead You With Concealed Tin Horn Substitutes for the Victrola

When you get a cabinet-style talking-machine, you want a cabinet-style talking-machine—with sounding boards and an amplifying compartment of resonant wood built right into the instrument.

You don't want a substitute arrangement that merely conceals an amplifying tin horn behind some fancy grille work, or that swings the horn around from one position to another while the record is playing. With any such inadequate substitute you can't expect a satisfactory tonal reproduction from your records.

There's no such substitute device in the Victrola. You can open the modifying doors and see the sounding boards and amplifying compartment for yourself—and these exclusive patented Victrola features are necessary to provide the very limit of area and character of vibrating surface so necessary to a full and pure tone reproduction at all times in exact accord with the artist's interpretation.

Furthermore, the modifying doors give you full control over the volume of sound, and enable you to increase or diminish it at will simply by opening or closing the doors—another important patented feature, and exclusive with the Victrola.

Come in and find out all about the Victrola. See the features that result in such a wonderful tone and make the Victrola supreme among musical instruments. Victrolas $15 to $300. Victors $10 to $100. Easy terms, if desired.

What Is a Mhellia? And Why? Pronounced Mellia, Mellyah, Melliah, Etc.

We have told one man in Omaha what a Mhellia is and if he hasn't told anybody else, we doubt if more than five persons in this whole city can tell what the word means—and yet there is a spot where the Mhellia is dear to the hearts of the people—their hearts, we fear, will be too sad to take much enjoyment this year. How we wish some of the old world customs obtained in this country. And what a reason we have in this favored city of ours for a Mhellia this year.
