

LANSING AWAITS DATA ON ANCONA

State Department Officials Believe that Italian Liner Tried to Escape.
NO WARNING, SAYS CAPTAIN
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Still without definite information concerning the circumstances under which the Italian liner steamer, Ancona, was sunk, State department officials took no further steps today in the situation.

It is believed details probably will reach here tomorrow. Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page's visit to the Italian foreign office is expected to develop at least whether the Ancona was torpedoed without warning or whether shots were fired at the vessel after it had stopped.

Until definite information is available on these points any representations to Austria-Hungary will be withheld. The impression is strong in official quarters, based upon press dispatches, that the vessel tried to escape, and that those of its passengers who were lost were drowned in the panic that ensued when it was hit.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A brief related message reached the agents this afternoon from the line's officials in Naples. It read: "We are sorry to inform you that the Ancona has been sunk."

No Warning, Says Captain.
NAPLES, Nov. 13.—The owners of the Ancona, sunk by an Austrian submarine, have received the report of the captain. He charges that the submarine gave no warning nor afforded those on board a chance to escape. He said he stopped his vessel when the first shot was fired. The submarine, he declares, continued to shell the liner and later the lifeboats with the people in them.

Court Will See The Film Before Taking Any Action

Omaha negroes yesterday started suit in district court to enjoin the showing of the picture film, "The Birth of a Nation," scheduled to begin Sunday night at the Grand Central theater. The plaintiffs allege the picture, if shown, will stir up race hatred, which will cause irreparable damage to the 8,000 negroes who live in Omaha.

The plaintiffs are John A. Williams, James G. Jewell, G. Wade Obee, Jesse H. Hutton, B. T. Langford, John Broomfield, W. W. Peebles, G. G. Logan, L. E. Britt and George Watson. The Woodward & Burgess Theater company and men associated with its management are made defendants.

Judge Redick was asked to sign a temporary restraining order, pending a hearing, but asserted he would witness the showing of the film Sunday before taking action.

The petition sets forth that the film "purports to show scenes of the reconstruction period of United States history, but alleges that the representation is false and misleading, in that a negro woman is shown as the mistress of a senator of the United States; that negroes are depicted as pushing white men off sidewalks, engaging in dances and parties and drinking bouts and terrorizing white persons; that a negro is shown in pursuit of a white girl, and murders of negroes by the Ku Klux Klan are exhibited."

THIEF STEALS CLOAK FROM EXPRESS PACKAGE

Stealing from express packages on city delivery wagons was the method adopted by a slippery crook yesterday afternoon in order to outfit his wife or best girl. A package in the custody of the Adams Express company was rifled of a handsome cloak, and one in the hands of the Wells-Fargo company was broken open and two expensive hair switches taken.

One man committed both larcenies, about the same time of day, on busy downtown streets, according to information furnished the police. In the first case the man carried a whole shipment of goods from a wagon into the Continental building. When Charles Harin, the janitor, came upon him in the act of searching through the package in a lavatory, the fellow escaped with the cloak, leaving the other goods in the package.

Governor Calls On Nebraskans to Be Thankful for Prosperity

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Governor Morehead has issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

"In a government of a free and independent people, prosperous by reason of their devotion to their daily toil, blessed beyond measure by the outpouring of the gifts of God, it is most appropriate that a day of general Thanksgiving be observed. In setting apart a day for this purpose, I deem it expedient to mention some very important facts for which the people of this state have reason to be grateful.

"This is an annual custom and I feel that no day of the year should be more conscientiously and sincerely observed. Everyone should give thanks to the Great Creator of all things for the blessings of health, prosperity and peace with all nations of the earth.

"We have reached a period in the history of our nation with the education and intelligence of our people, that we are fully qualified to pass in an impassioned way upon all questions pertaining to the good of our country. The people are no longer carried away by sensational leaders, but think calmly and sanely before they act. While Europe is being depopulated by her young men in the most destructive war in the history of the world, our people have shown a conservative attitude in helping the men who serve them in a public way to keep out of foreign complications and to settle our differences without resort to force.

"The people of Nebraska have many reasons to congratulate themselves on the bountiful crop of 1915. The industrial conditions of the state are splendid, and the state has no financial obligations unpaid; we have nearly $10,000,000 of good government securities, drawing 5 per cent interest, bringing an annual income of some $500,000 into our public schools and educating our children and qualifying them for citizenship, guaranteeing to the state the administration of our public affairs in an intelligent way as it will be governed by an intelligent people.

"As chairman of the banking board I can report a splendid condition of nearly 300 state banks, with a deposit of more than $100,000,000, and but a very few failures, and these of a small amount within the past fifteen years, a record which is not equaled by any state in the union. The condition of the banks is a barometer to the real industrial conditions of the country.

"Also as chairman of the board of educational lands and funds I can report an increased value of the many acres of school lands, and many new substantial school buildings in most all the counties of the state.

"With the state institutions in splendid financial condition and in control of superintendents who are ever mindful of the great responsibility to the unfortunate people under their charge, the united efforts of all the people to raise the moral standard and to better conditions, I feel that of all the years none have been more prosperous or more deserving of united thanks of all the people than 1915.

"Therefore, I ask the people of our great and beloved state to stop on this day designated, and realizing their good fortune in being citizens of such a noble country and such a splendid state, to remove hate and jealousy from their hearts and give thanks to the Creator for these blessings.

"In accordance with the proclamation of the president of the United States, a custom long established and by the power vested in me, I set apart the 25th day of November as Thanksgiving day."

MARY SHAW VOICES SPIRIT OF WOMAN

Declares Equal Suffrage "Inevitable as Life," in Address to Omahans.

UNDERSTANDING IS ON THE WAY

Mary Shaw, who will be at the Orpheum next week, voiced the spirit of the woman suffrage movement in an address last evening in the city hall on "Sisterhood of Women," before an audience of Omaha women and a few men. The accomplishments of the actress in voice and gesture were added to the understanding which the address must have of men and women and Miss Shaw's address was charming as well as convincing.

The success of the suffrage movement she said, is "as inevitable as life." Humorously she described her own girlhood in Boston. "Both my father and mother were suffragists and at a time when it was not at all respectable to be a suffragist. Besides they were Unitarians and at a very early age I came to feel that there was something very respectable about my family."

Decides to Be Martyr.
She described her growing convictions and then the time when she began to fear that she might not be attractive to men if it became known that she believed in women voting. Next came a determination to be a martyr and die an old maid for the cause, if necessary.

"When I tell you that I had been married twice at 26," she said, "you will see that my martyrdom was not necessary and today it is a rather striking fact that I can hardly find an old maid among the suffragists."

The history of women, she declared, is in the drama, man-made though it is. Going back to the Greek drama, she told the story of Jason's wife, Medea, who, stirred up by his demand that she go away and thus leave him free to marry the king's daughter, called the women of Corinth together to pour out the story of her wrongs, as related in the play.

Suffrage Before Christ.
"And Mrs. Medea Jason, 600 years before Christ, talking to those women of Corinth, voiced sentiments that Mrs. Pankhurst would never dream of uttering," she said.

The present movement for suffrage and a broader life among women, she declared, is nothing sudden.

"We are merely giving voice to the longings of generations of silent women," she declared. "Our longings and desires are what they made them. Our grandmothers were silent because the time was not yet come."

Her enology of woman, "the divinely appointed conservator of the race through the ages," was sublime. It was spoken with that fascinating mystery of the woman who knows the love of husband and child, admires man and has full knowledge and at the same time loving tolerance for his faults and weaknesses; the woman also who knows the weaknesses of her own sex and the mighty strength of that sex.

Women Understand.
One of the great fruits of the woman movement, she declared, is that women are beginning to understand each other and that the time is inevitably coming when women and men will understand each other with that perfect understanding

This Man Lived on Nineteen Cents a Day

When it comes to living on less than 20 cents a day the young California co-ed, Miss Berna Rudovic, who existed on 15 cents' worth of food while attending the university, hasn't much on Nebraska. Right here in Omaha, Bernard McCarthy, aged 19, a freshman in the Creighton college of arts, sustained himself all of last year on 19 cents a day.

McCarthy roomed at 530 North Twenty-third street and arranged his menu according to a book which gave the food and nutritive values of different edibles. His principal fare consisted of figs, nuts, a bottle of milk and bread. That this diet by no means weakened him is evidenced by the fact that McCarthy was one of the star performers on the Creighton Law basket ball team. He is this year attending the University of Montana.

CAUGHT TRYING TO ENTER THE P. E. ILLER HOME

Within ten minutes after a man tried to break into the P. E. Iller home, 1248 South Tenth street, last night, the police emergency squad had scoured the neighborhood, arrested the suspect and secured his positive identification by the members of the household.

The man arrested gave his name as Ole Singleton, said he lived at the Astoria hotel, and had been a cook at the Honshaw hotel for the last three months. He was charged with being a suspicious character. As he appeared to be intoxicated and did not succeed in entering the house, he probably will not be prosecuted on a more serious charge.

MILITARY AVENUE PAVING IS BEING PUSHED ALONG

City Commissioner Jardine is authority for the statement that the paving on Military avenue will be finished inside of ten days, or two weeks. It was expected that the work would be delayed until next spring, but according to Mr. Jardine the street railway and the electric light people have pulled with the city and the work has been pushed along rapidly.

The grading between Forty-fifth and Forty-eighth street has caused a little delay, but this is about finished and the laying of concrete over this stretch will soon begin.

EDITORS FOREIGN LANGUAGE PAPERS WANT PATRONAGE

Editors of half a dozen foreign language newspapers of Omaha organized Friday noon, with the idea of making proper representations to business men of the city in the form of a plea for what they term their share of the advertising. Editors of German, Bohemian, Polish, Swedish and Italian papers were present. Val J. Peter was elected chairman and Walter Rosicky, secretary. A meeting was arranged for next Tuesday in Lincoln, taking in many of the editors of this class of papers in various parts of the state.

BUYS STEEL STOCK FOR 15 MILLIONS

Three Hundred Thousand Cambria Shares Bid in by Former Water Boy.

J. LEONARD REFLOGLE IS MAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Three hundred thousand shares of stock, or thereabouts, in the Cambria Steel company were bought today for approximately $15,000,000 by J. Leonard Reflogle of this city who started his business career when 11 years old as a water boy, at less than $5 a week, in the Cambria mills at Johnstown, Pa.

Mr. Reflogle, who is now 38 years old, bid against his old superior officer, William H. Donner, for the block of stock and won it after negotiations in Philadelphia, which lasted all day and virtually all night for several days and nights.

Stock sold by Road.
The stock was sold by the Pennsylvania Railroad company which formerly owned 400,520 shares of the 500,000 issue—a contract in 1915.

Comb Sage Tea Into Gray Hair

A Mixture of Sage and Sulphur Darkens the Hair Beautifully and Evenly.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Now, however, by asking any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.—Advertisement.

troubling interest in the Cambria company. The capitalization of the Cambria Steel company is authorized at $50,000,000, but only $45,000,000 (90,000 shares of a $50 par value) were issued.

is president of both the Cambria and Pennsylvania Steel companies.
Schwab Wanted It.
Charles M. Schwab, the genius of Bethlehem Steel, wanted the Pennsylvania Steel properties. It was reported to combine them with his Bethlehem plant and thus form the nucleus of another gigantic steel merger. Mr. Donner's interests crossed with this plan and Mr. Donner won in the quest for the Pennsylvania Steel stock. He then tried, it is said, to obtain the remaining Cambria stock owned by the railroad.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN AFTER CROSS-STATE TRIP
After motoring all the way across Nebraska from Flagler, Colo., Ray Thompson and Gustavus Johnston had their Ford auto stolen from in front of the Empress theater last night.
They arrived here Sunday and have been waiting their cousin, Clem West, 4107 Chicago street. They plan to return to Flagler tomorrow, if the police locate their car. Attorney Harry B. Fiehrty of the city legal department helped them look for it last night, but without success.

Yes-- There Are Hidden Beauties in Your Records

HUSHED it comes forth from the violin, a wonderment of tonal beauty. It is the magic sound of strings on wood. No phonograph has ever truly reproduced that sound—none "fill the Vocalion came."

Because the Vocalion's sounding board—built on the piano principle responds sympathetically to the vibrant sound waves of the violin. It qualifies the least tendency to metallic severity, even while all the qualities in the new Symphonette Horn are preserving the violin's delicate tonal hues—as never did a phonograph before. They preserve the same "tonal purities" in all instrumental or vocal sounds.

They preserve, in fact, the hidden beauties that the wonderful sound box of the Vocalion calls forth from your records.
