MINISTERS PAY THEIR DUES

Omaha ministers are so enthusiastic and happy over the results and future prospects of the recent "Billy" Sunday campaign that they refuse to

At a meeting of the Omaha Minis- Bolivia. terial union at the Young Men's Christian association incidental remarks by two ministers, which were at first misunderstood to be pessimistic in nature, were met with a storm of protest, and several preachers took the floor at once to explain away the it can not cause injury. No difference apparent cloud on the revival results and prospects.

It started when Rev. A. B. Marshall, president of the Omaha Presbyterian that "there seems to be a tremendous chilly waters of the lake. discrepancy between the number of tabernacle trail-bitters and the number of people who have joined the churches since the revival campaign.

Notes the Discrepancy.

"With 13,000 converts claimed at the tabernacle," Rev. Mr. Marshall said, "and only 3,300 new members so far joining the churches, there seems to be much yet to be done by the churches. It seems to be very poor showing from so many professed conversions."

Immediately several ministers took up inducting a discussion at the Ministerial cnion's meeting on "Results of the Campaign and Conservation Work to Follow," made an explanation in reply to Rev. Mr.

Sees Results Coming.

"United, co-operation, broader-mindedness, brotherly love and mutual helpfulness among the pastors and all mankind are following in the wake of the seven weeks' campaign."

Rev. Charles E. Cobbey of the First Christian church said that one of the chief results he noticed in the Ministerial union, of which he is secretary-treasurer. is that there is a wonderful revival of willingness on the part of the ministers to pay their dues. He was kept busy writing receipts, which were unusual, he said.

In subsequent discussion of the "Billy" Sunday campaign, which partook of the nature of a thanksgiving and praise service, the assembled preachers told how many new members they had received and what they had learned or bow thay har benefited in the revival campaign. Following were some of the remarks:

Wife Liked Sunday Better.

Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks, First Pres-byterian church-"The way to preach is to give the people the pure, simple gospel. My wire liked 'Billy' Sunday's preaching better than my own, because it was more straight, simple gospel. The greatest thing Mr. Sunday did here was to put the liquor question up to the people of the state. I am in favor of following up his anti-boose crusade with all our heart."

Rev. F. W. Leavitt, Plymouth Congregational church-"It is not necessary to beat around the bush in personal work for Christ." Rev. J. A. Maxwell, Cavalry Bapt'st church-"I find that people can go to church if they want to, even if the weather is bad, their health poor, the preacher long-winded or the sermon militant. One woman told me she didn't get faint in a big crowd like she did in a. little one."

Rev. A. F. Ernst. Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church-"Men will do church work, if they are asked."

Rev. E. D. Hull, Hanscom Park Methodist church - "Earnesiness in preaching gets the results. Mr. Sun-day's earnestness was what drew the b'g rowds and secured the train-hitters." Rev. H. B. Rev. A. C. Douglas, First United Presbyterian Church—"People are studying the Bible more than ever before." Rev. Mr. Douglas told of one woman of 83 years who professed Christianity and was baptized as a result of the Sunday campaign. Rev. Mr. Lowe told of a convert 73 years old.

Reports of over 2,000 trail-hitters at the Syracuse revival on Sunday alone were wildly applauded by the ministers. A number of pastors were taken into membership in the Ministerial union.
