GOULD DEFENDS HIS CROP REPORT

Farmers Anxious to Have Accurate Figures on the Various Crop Estimates.

BRAND LOOKING FOR HELP

H. R. Gould of the United States National bank had to make good at the Farmers' Congress on his estimate of the corn crop of the state. Gould is the man who for several years has carefully prepared an annual crop estimate of Nebraska by taking the figures furnished him by hundreds of banks in the state and hundreds of elevators.
The farmers criticized the figures and said the corn crop was not nearly so large as represented here. C. H. Gustafson of Mead, president of the Farmers' Union, read the figures, 250,000 bushels of corn, and declared he would give the president of the bank a new hat if there were actually over 175,000,000 bushels of marketable corn pulled over the scales this winter.
Maybe Gustafson didn't know Gould was present. Maybe the rest of the farmers did not know, but Gould popped up unexpectedly to defend his figures and he was granted the privilege of the floor.
Merchantable Corn.
He walked back and took the pamphlet from Gustafson's hands. Then he read the report, which stated that actually merchantable corn there is only 127,000,000 bushels.
"Then," he said, addressing Gustafson particularly, "that is even below your own estimate, and you're accusing us of making the estimate too high. If you had put on your glasses you could have read this correctly."
The matter of over-estimating crop reports was thrust out as a side issue, coming up after C. J. Brand, chief of the office of farm marketing of the United States Department of Agriculture, had made his talk on marketing. He was asked a hundred questions and many of them were concerning the accuracy of the reports on volume of crop that are published by the government.
Guessed at Figures.
Charles Wooster of Silver Creek declared the figures could be nothing but the wildest kind of a guess. "I know," he said, "because for years I was the man who was charged with the duty of furnishing the figures from my township every year. They sent me a blank form with long lists of questions to be filled out. They asked such questions as 'How many bushels of corn remain unshelled in the crib of the township?' It would have taken me a week to determine anywhere near accurately that one question alone, to say nothing of the hundred others equally difficult. So I knew they expected nothing of me but a crude guess, and so I made that guess with absolutely nothing at all to base it upon."
Mr. Brand said if the farmers had suggestions to make as to methods of improving the accuracy of the estimates, or any other suggestions with good bottom to them, the department would be glad to consider them.

Practical Giving

The approach of the holidays stimulates the spirit of Christmas giving and, as always, there are many people eager to help spread good cheer without knowing just how to do it.

For these generous-hearted people The Bee will again point out opportunities for practical Christmas giving that promises permanent results, especially to helpless women and dependent children, by describing worthy cases that have been investigated by the Associated Charities, with the assurance that any help received will really do the good intended.

The Bee's suggestions for practical Christmas giving should not interfere with any one being a "good fellow" or a "big brother," or furnishing some one a Christmas dinner who otherwise might have to put up with ordinary fare. This is a big world in which to plant happiness and it is only a question of the best way.

The cases for which this special appeal will be made are now being looked into by the Associated Charities.

Judgment in Two "Peyton Cases" Are Given Affirmation

Mandates of the supreme court affirming judgments of the district court in two of the famous "Peyton cases" have been received in Omaha.

In one case a verdict for the defense was rendered in the suit for alienation of the affections of his wife brought by Lacey E. Peyton against Hugh Williams, wealthy Omaha manufacturer of iron products.

In the other suit Mrs. Peyton secured a judgment for $2,500 and interest against her husband on a note which he had once given her, but later sold.

Girls! Lots of Beautiful Hair

25 cent bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yet really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

The heated iron makes the hair dry and parched looking, burns the ends, giving a most untidy appearance. You who have learned this from sad experience will be glad to hear of a very simple method which is open to none of the objections referred to and which gives better results than the curling iron. Just get a few ounces of plain liquid simerine at your druggist's and apply a little to the hair at night with a clean tooth brush, drawing this down one strand at a time from root to tip. In the morning your hair will be as beautifully wavy and curly as though Mother Nature did it and it will be quite manageable, no matter what style of coiffure you adopt. The effect will be much prettier than if you used a waving iron, and the health of your hair will not suffer. As simerine is not sticky or greasy it is quite pleasant to use.—Advertisement.

From $90 Month to $1,090 is Fortune of Burlington Man

Sixty days ago John Rogers, night foreman at the Burlington's roundhouse at Greynull, Wyo., was drawing a salary of $90 per month. He is still drawing that salary, but in addition thereto he is receiving $1,000 per month as royalty from oil flowing from wells that have been drilled on a little patch of land that he owns inside the town limits of Greynull. Long before oil was struck within the town limits of Greynull, Rogers bought four town lots, pretty well out in the outskirts. They cost him a little more than $100 each. An oil strike was made at Greynull and subsequently wells were sunk on the block adjoining the one in which Rogers owns lots. Oil men came to him and wanted to buy his lots. He would not sell, but he made a lease, it providing that the parties taking the lease could drill wells and he be given a royalty. Drilling was commenced and continued with the result that on the Rogers lots there are now four producing wells and his royalty on the oil amounts to $1,000 per month. However, he still wears his straggly overalls, works at night and draws his $90 per month from the Burlington.

Mayor Proclaims for Red Cross Seals

Mayor Dahlin is in sympathy with the work being done by the Nebraska Society for the Prevention and Study of Tuberculosis, and during this Christmas season he believes the sale of the Red Cross seals should receive general support in this city. The mayor has been familiar with the efforts of the organization and it was with gratification that he wrote the following message to the people of Omaha: To Omaha and its People—Whereas, The last year has been one of unprecedented prosperity, both for state and city, of progress and advancement unequalled in our history. It is fitting that those of our own people should be taken care of ourselves. Perhaps the greatest need within the border of our state is that felt by the tubercular people, and these little children, with just a little care, with just a little better food and surroundings, may be made whole and sound for their entire life. Therefore, I heartily endorse the work done by the Nebraska Association for the Prevention and Study of Tuberculosis. THE MAYOR.

MRS. JOSEPHINE GROVES DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Josephine Groves, 84 years old, Omaha pioneer and widow of the late John Groves, former Douglas county clerk, died at her home, 2530 Chicago street. Death was caused by a chronic ailment from which Mrs. Groves had long suffered. Mrs. Groves is survived by two daughters, Miss Leonie Groves, of the office of the clerk of the district court, and Miss Josephine Groves. John Groves, her husband, who died about ten years ago, was for many years prominent in business and politics in Omaha.

The Grip. Grip is something of a joke to those who have never had it, but when they get it they become dead to all sense of humor. No disease was ever more appropriately named because grip takes hold of the entire system. To get rid of it take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and carefully observe the directions with each bottle. This remedy is highly recommended by those who have used it and know its real value. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Third Case in Row Taken from Jury in Federal Court

When the litigants in the suit of Thomas J. Donahue against the Santa Fe and Burlington railroads came to an agreement for settlement Wednesday in the midst of the trial before a jury, it was the third consecutive case that has been taken from a jury in federal court before Judge T. C. Munger. Donahue settled for $50,000. The case preceding this was Nelson Fish against the Union Pacific for $5,000 damages because of a shipment of twenty-six cars of cattle held up at North Platte by the floods in 1913. This hinged on a point of law, and in the midst of the case the jury was sent out and the lawyers argued and made concessions before the judge. He now has this case under advisement. The case before this was a $25,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Elizabeth McCoy against the Missouri Pacific railroad for the death of her son, a car inspector. After the plaintiff's evidence was in the judge took the case from the jury and decided it in favor of the defendant.

Cash Incentive to Increased Sales

The Burgess-Nash company is going to give every one of its employees a substantial Christmas present this year. Announcement has been made of cash prizes and prizes which will be made. All sales people will receive one-half of 1 per cent of their total sales from December 1 to 31, inclusive, in addition to their regular salaries. All other employees will receive a certain percentage of their respective salaries in addition to their salaries. Besides this, three special prizes will be awarded to salespeople who are in the same departments as a year ago and whose sales in the period from December 1 to 31 show the greatest increase over their sales during the same period a year ago. To the salesperson whose sales show the greatest percentage of increase will go a cash prize of $50; to the one showing the next greatest percentage will be awarded a prize of $25, and to the third greatest a prize of $10.

Two Hundred Apply for Saloon Licenses

City Clerk O'Connor reports he has received 200 applications for saloon licenses for 1916. With few exceptions these are for the same locations and the same proprietors as were in force this year. The city council will begin to sit within a short time as an excise board. Informal consideration has been given to what has been referred to as a saloon policy for the new year, one feature being the calling this year. The council already has gone on record as being in favor of limiting the number to those now in operation, reserving the right to decrease the number if circumstances seem to justify such action. Thus far no protests have been filed with the city clerk. Night Cough Relieved. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey eases your cough, soothes the lungs, and invites sleep. Only 5c. All druggists.—Advertisement.
