GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Wheat is Unchanged to Two Cents Lower, with Good Receipts and Slow Demand.

NEW CORN TWO CENTS LOWER

OMAHA, December 9, 1915. Wheat ruled from unchanged to 2c There was considerable improvement in wheat receipts, but there was only a moderate cash demand for this cereal. Old corn sold at practically unchanged prices, but several cars of new corn sold at a decline of about 2c. The demand for corn was fair and the receipts of this cereal were pretty good.

The oats market was a trifle weak, selling from unchanged to ke lower, although the cash demand was fairly active. The cash demand for rye was active, but the market was weak, selling from yet to it lower. Barley receipts were unimportant and the market remained practically unchanged.

Clearances were: Wheat and flour equal to 1,450,000 bu.; corn, $1,000 bu.; cat, 770,000 Liverpool closed with wheat 4d lower o ld higher; corn, unchanged to ld

OMAHA, Dec. 6.—HAY—Prairie: Choice upland, $10.59911.60; No. 1, $10.69910.50; No. 2, $10.09910.50; No. 2, $10.09910.50;

Fat stock of all sorts found a good outlet this morning and the general packer market looked to be anyway 10515c up. Built of the good lambs sold around $8.60, some of the sales at this figure being quoted as much as 25c higher than yesterday. One bunch of real good fed westerns set a top of $8.80, the highest price paid here since the early part of November, a full month ago. Trade was active and practically everything over the scales by mid-forencon.

Muttons showed the same advance as fat lambs and recovered about all of yesterday's slump. Best offered reached $6. While others of a pretty good sort reached $6. While others of a pretty good sort reached $6. So. Supplies were not nearly so broad as on Wednesday, when quite a bit of half-fat and in-between stuff showed up, and everything here today found a ready outlet.

The feeder division was very scantily under Professional Pressure.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Constantly Under Professional Pressure Except During the Forencon.

NEW TORK, Dec. 9.—Except for the forence, when the average prices of the forence, when quite a bit of half-fat and in-between stuff showed up, and everything here today found a ready outlet.

The feeder division was very scantily unplied, practically no lambs showing the professional Pressure.

Minnesota Troubles

Wholly Mechanical

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—That the troubles of the liner Minnesota were entirely mechanical, that there had been no mutiny and no trouble with the crew was the substance of a wireless message received here today from Captain Garlick, master of the disabled liner. This was the first direct statement from the Minnesota's skipper to snyone, but officials of the Great Northern Steamship company confirmed the statements made repeatedly by C. W. Wiley, marine superintendent of the company, that all suggestions of bomb plots and mutiny was a matter, of a symmes originating and the statements made repeatedly by C. W.
