Cut the wires that bring us the news, and we would never know of the conflict raging across the sea.

Omaha--and its great tributary territory--is prospering. Business is booming and all's well.

Echoes—only echoes—come to us from the battle-ridden fields of Europe.

No morning awakening to the trumpet's call—only the thump of the early truck on its way to work and the shriek of the factory whistles to break the stillness.

No tramp, tramp of marching hosts on their way to kill and be killed—only the click of the well-filled dinner pails and the footsteps of contented laborers.

No booming of heavy artillery or the rattle of musketry—only the rat-a-tat-tat of the riveting machines as they drive new bolts into our constantly-rising structures of steel and cement.

Indeed, prosperity is here—we have a quick and profitable market, well-paid laborers, happy homes—and

Much of the prosperity of our city and surrounding territory is due to the enterprise of Omaha manufacturers. Their success is the success of every individual.

Upon their utilization of Nebraska's raw products, depends the quickness and the profits of the farmers' sales. They provide a ready and accessible market.

They pay millions of dollars out each year in wages—money that is spent in our city and which benefits thousands directly and each one of us indirectly.

You can help keep Omaha prosperous by always buying Omaha-Made Goods. When you specify Omaha-Made Goods you benefit in three ways:

- 1st—You receive better quality for the same money than you would pay for articles shipped in from other cities.
- 2d—You receive the same quality for less money; and
- 3d—You benefit financially, and in addition, by making the community in which you live more prosperous.

Home people stand back of and guarantee Omaha-Made Goods. They are sold for less money, quality considered, than goods shipped in because no heavy transportation charges are included in their selling price.

Cut out and use for a reference these two lists of Omaha Manufacturers. Help keep prosperity here by purchasing their goods.
