CHARITIES HELPING OVER 300 FAMILIES

Omaha and Territory Adjacent Come Forward with Aid for the Needy.

BOTH BOXES AND MONEY SENT

Secretary Doane of the Associated Charities reports she has arranged with individuals and organizations for the supplying of Christmas cheer to over 300 families. This represents only a portion of the work being done by the charities and others and has no connection with the work being done by The Bee in connection with the Associated Charities.

The 300 cases referred to represent such a typical situation as this: A woman goes in to Mrs. Doane and says: "My Sunday school class wants to help five families. Will you arrange for the distribution to five families you know to be in need? We will supply the necessities and toys." An individual calls and expresses a desire to help one or two families.

Help Through The Bee.
The secretary of the charities office is receiving many donations and boxes from persons in and outside of Omaha through The Bee. Martha Poppe, a teacher of Scotia, Neb., wrote a letter, stating that she and pupils have forwarded a box for Omaha children. She sent a box last year. An Omaha "Friend" sent $1, giving no name. L. R. Turner of Dubois, Neb., sent $1. Mrs. B. F. Scott of Rising City, Neb., sent a box of toys and clothing.

A man living at Julesburg, Colo., sent to the charities, in care of The Bee, a check for 50 cents, with this note: "I wish you would use the money for the purchase of some Christmas toy for a boy or girl you are helping through the Associated Charities. Please do not use my name in this connection."

A citizen of Sutherland, Neb., sent a postoffice order for $1.
Mrs. Doane reports she is receiving many requests for help for families of men out of work or ill. She received a pathetic letter from a colored woman who says she is deaf and ill and her 20-year-old son wants work as a Christmas present. This mother says her son is willing to do any kind of work, but has walked until his feet are sore trying to find employment.

Basinger Says New Tariffs Will Be All Ready in January

General Passenger Agent Basinger of the Union Pacific is back from Chicago, where he assisted in getting the chief passenger rate clerks started in on working up the new increased rates authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission.

In Chicago the chief rate clerks of scores of the roads are now at work figuring out the rates that will apply to and from competitive points. This having been done, these experts will return to their respective headquarters, where they and their assistants will complete the tariffs. Mr. Basinger is of the opinion that the tariffs will be completed in time so that the new and increased rates will be applied some time during January. The increase of four-tenths of a cent per mile over the 2-cent rate now in effect.

DAVIS GOES TO CHICAGO TO SEE ABOUT CONTRACT

President F. H. Davis of the First National bank has gone to Chicago to confer with the contracting firm of Lanquist & Hiley, which was low bidder for the largest single contract on the bank's new building.

Huge Electric Sign Tells of Wonderful Opportunities Here

"Omaha the City of Opportunity" is now blazed in letters of fire to greet all travelers in and out of the city. It is on the 250-foot smokestack of the Omaha Electric Light and Power company's plant at Fourth and Jones streets. The sign faces south for the benefit of all travelers on the railroads leaving and coming into Omaha. It will be illuminated for the first time this evening.

This is placed by the light company as a part of the "boost for Omaha" campaign and will be a permanent fixture to tell to the world the great opportunities which this city offers for investment. "All travelers who stop here marvel at the growth and wonderful activity of the city, and this sign will tell these people that Omaha knows that it is growing," said I. B. Zimman, contract agent for the company. "It is not only an invitation to stop here, but to blaze to the world the wonderful prosperity of this community."

Omaha is really flourishing, not only on account of its situation in the corn belt, but as a manufacturing center."

WANTS ACCOUNTING OF STOCK HE SAYS HE OWNS

A dispute involving stockholders of the True Voice Publishing company, which publishes the True Voice, a Catholic newspaper, was aired in district court when Maynard T. Swartz started injunction proceedings against the Swartz Printing company, the True Voice Publishing company, and Peter C. Gannon, and A. M. Colari, secretaries of the two companies. Mr. Swartz alleges that stock which he has purchased has not been credited to him on the books of the True Voice company, and asks the court to restrain the defendants from interfering with his ownership of it.

The Joy of Christmas Giving is never so keen as when you lift a burden from some less fortunate friend.

Think—now—before the year's opportunity is gone.

Don't you know some family in Omaha where the kiddies will suffer from the cold unless you send them Coal?

Or, if you prefer to have others find the need, wouldn't you like to turn over a ton of coal, a half ton, or any other amount, to one of Santa's capable assistants, (the Associated Charities, for example), to be sent where needed most?

Sunderland's Certified Coal
