The bride was unattended except for her young nieces and nephew, Elizabeth Morrison of Kansas City who was flower girl and Helen Bryman of Chicago and Moorhead Tukey stretched the ribbons.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and tulle, with hooped skirt and pearl and brilliant trimming. The short veil of tulle was fitted cap-fashion about the head and was held in place with a hand of pearls. The bouquet was an old-fashioned nosegay of orchids and lilies of the valley, held in a lace frilled holder.

The flower girls carried a basket of white roses and lilies of the valley and the ribbons were of tulle strips, caught into festoons.

The little girls were dressed in white net frocks and Moorhead Tukey wore a white suit.

The bride's ornament was the gift of the bridegroom, pearls and diamonds set in platinum.

The marriage lines were read in front of the mantel in the living room, where Christmas decorations were banked with high candles in cathedral candlesticks.

Stars of the San Carlo Opera Company

Mlle Stella De Mette Mezzo Soprano

The San Carlo Grand Opera company is to again be heard in Omaha, the engagement consisting of three days, January 2, 3 and 4, to be given at the Auditorium. And what is more interesting, at popular prices.

The San Carlo Grand Opera company, to appear under the auspices of Tangier Temple, management of Arab Patrol, has a number of noted singers in its cast, two of whom, Stella DeMette, formerly of the National and Metropolitan companies, as well as Senor Angelo Antola, baritone, are particularly well known.

The operas to be given are "Aida," "Rigoletto," "Lucia di Lammermoor," "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci."

Senor Antola is said to have no peer as Tonio in Leoncavallo's opera, "Pagliacci," a character in which he will appear during the Omaha engagement of the San Carlo company. Antola is the possessor of a pure, high, clear baritone voice of splendid carrying power and is an artist who pays keen attention to the historic as well as the vocal requirements of the role.

Stella DeMette is the possessor of a superb natural voice of great power and sweetness and is an acknowledged actress of note.

The engagement is not a money-making scheme, but a movement for civic and musical uplift. Grand opera of the first-class at "movie" prices. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Patrol, or Lucius Pryor, local manager, picture department, Brandeis stores.
