GREAT THRONGS GATHER TO SEE DODGE FUNERAL

Entire Community Turns Out to Pay Homage to Last of the Great Commanders of the Civil War.

ALL BUSINESS AT STANDSTILL

Wheels of Commerce Stop in Council Bluffs During Time of the Funeral

MOURNED BY ENTIRE NATION

Council Bluffs paused yesterday and paid silent tribute to the memory of General Grenville M. Dodge. All business and social functions were suspended during the afternoon and thousands of persons stood in the chill winter air as living walls between which the cortege passed. When the artillery caisson bearing the casket reached the cemetery the last automobiles were being loaded at the Dodge residence, more than SENATE DEMANDS two miles away. General Planned Service.

The services at the residence began at 1 o'clock. The character of the ceremony to be followed, the hymns to be sung, and the singers were all designated by General Dodge. Rev. Dr. A. G. A. Buxton, rector of St. Paul's church, rendered the beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church and recited Tennyson's immortal last poem, "Crossing the Bar," which General Dodge had asked for, and Rev. Dr. J. T. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, gave the sulogy. Both clergmen evinced deep feeling, and the beautiful Episcopal service (Continued on Page Five, Column One.)
