

EDITORS OF MENACE IN FEDERAL COURT

Four Men Connected with Missouri Weekly Paper Charged with Misuse of Mails.

EIGHT COUNTS IN THE BILL

JOPLIN, Mo., Jan. 11.—Charged with sending obscene literature through the mails, four men alleged to have been connected with the Menace Publishing company of Aurora, Mo., publishers of the Menace, a weekly newspaper, faced trial in federal court here today.

The defendants are Wilbur Phelps, Bruce M. Phelps, Theodore C. Walker and Marvin Brown. Each was indicted under eight counts.

The indictments charge general violation of that section of the United States penal code prohibiting "the deposit, or causing to be deposited, for mailing or delivery, any obscene, lewd or filthy book, letter, writing, print or other publication of indecent character."

Six Items in Menace.

Six counts in the indictments were leveled at items alleged to have been printed in The Menace, a weekly publication, alleged to have been distributed through the United States mails by the Menace Publishing company, and alleged to have come within the scope of the statute.

The seventh count was leveled at certain passages in a book, which the defendants were charged with being the distributors. The other count charged the sending of information through the mails as to where the book might be obtained.

The trial of the case was continued at the June, 1915, term of court upon application of attorneys for the defense on the grounds of the illness of a relative of one of the defendants.

More recently attorneys for the defense filed a demurrer and a motion to quash the indictments, together with a lengthy brief in support, contending that the charges contained in the indictments do not constitute an offense under the federal statutes. Judge A. S. Van Valkenburgh overruled the motion, leaving the question, which the jury in the case must determine, largely one of fact.

Choosing Jurymen Proceeds Slowly.

Selection of a jury promised to be a slow procedure. Judge A. S. Van Valkenburgh ruled that the mere fact that a prospective juror was a subscriber to the Menace would not disqualify him. This ruling denied a motion made by Francis M. Wilson, United States district attorney.

The newspaper, published by the Menace Publishing company, was referred to by the district attorney as being alleged to be unfriendly to the Catholic church. In examining the talemans Mr. Wilson declared it was the purpose of the government to ask judgment upon certain articles solely upon the question as to whether they violated the laws relating to the sending of obscene matter through the mails.

One count of the indictment against the defendants was dismissed at the request of the government prosecutor as he introduced the case. This count was leveled at the alleged publication of an advertisement as to where might be procured a book referred to in the seventh count.

Irish Party Won't Oppose Compulsion Bill Any Further

LONDON, Jan. 11.—John E. Redmond, parliamentary leader of the Irish party, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the nationalists would not further oppose the military service bill.

Redmond went direct to Parliament from a meeting of the Irish party, which ranged himself and his followers once more on the side of the government.

Mr. Redmond said the Irish nationalists having made their protest against the military service bill and recognizing the measure had the support of an overwhelming majority of British representatives in the House would cast no further vote in any form against it. Even the opponents of the bill, he said, admitted it was receiving the support of a large majority of the public of the United Kingdom.

Mr. Redmond added the majority in favor of the bill in the vote of first reading, excluding the Irish members, was 19 to 1. He said the bill would become law, and he hoped it would be passed quickly.

Even before the debate opened, questions brought the topic of compulsory service into prominence. The members themselves, if sufficiently youthful and agile, according to a reply given by Premier Asquith cannot claim exemption from service. They will therefore be compulsorily enrolled in the military service unless they voluntarily attest.

Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, revealed the fact that there were 40,000 unmarried men of military age in Ireland who had not attested. Deductions for various reasons, he estimated, would leave 30,000 available men.

The debate on the military service bill was reopened by William Crawford Anderson, laborer member, who moved the rejection of the measure, but was sharply notified by Will Thorne, social democrat, that he was not speaking in the name of labor.

Mr. Anderson said he did not wish to see strikes, but the government would meet with disaster pneumonia, and for this reason it is always best to go to bed and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed until well along towards recovery. Mrs. Charles E. Woodard, Zandy Creek, N. Y., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured me of bronchitis last fall. When I began using it I was so hoarse at times that it was difficult for me to speak above a whisper. I resorted to the use of this valuable medicine and found it very soothing and healing. In a week's time I was well." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Bronchitis.

When a severe cold settles on the lungs it is called bronchitis. There is danger of its leading to broncho pneumonia, and for this reason it is always best to go to bed and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed until well along towards recovery. Mrs. Charles E. Woodard, Zandy Creek, N. Y., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured me of bronchitis last fall. When I began using it I was so hoarse at times that it was difficult for me to speak above a whisper. I resorted to the use of this valuable medicine and found it very soothing and healing. HAUSER'S ILLNESS DUE TO TONSILITIS lay not absolutely necessary and attorneys for Hauser, although they asked for a continuance, declared they were not seeking delay unless their client is shown to be really ill.

Dr. Connell's note to Judge English, reads as follows: "My Dear Judge English: I just examined Mr. Hauser. He has either ulcerated tonsillitis, or possibly is in the first stage of scarlet fever. He should be in bed for twenty-four to forty-eight hours at least. Respectfully, R. W. CONNELL, Health Commissioner."

Probable Jurors. Selection of a jury was almost finished during the morning session, at the close of which the following men sat in the jury box:

C. A. Swanson, Florence, farmer, married.
Connie O. Downing, 301 South Twenty-first street, street railway conductor, single.

Willard B. Nimocks, 215 South Twenty-seventh avenue, resident of Allen Filter company, married.
E. C. Jones, 1213 Ohio street, expressman, married.

T. J. Vorwald, 311 North Twenty-fourth street, railway clerk, married.
Thomas G. Polesong, 1411 Chicago street, laborer, single.

Frank Wirthsauer, 277 Harney street, cigar store proprietor, married.
Earl E. Lloyd, 2563 Evans street, railway clerk, married.

Elmer E. Meek, 1414 North Twenty-second street, expressman, married.
Frank Lusk, 1210 Douglas street, laborer, single.

Charles P. White, 2615 Florence boulevard, baker, married.

Few Challenges Left. These will be eleven of the twelve men who will compose the jury which will try Hauser on a charge of murdering W. H. Smith, Woodmen of the World cashier, according to yesterday's indications.

When the hour of the noon recess arrived these eleven men, who had thus far survived the challenges of defense and state, both peremptory and for cause, sat in the jury box. With them was Robert A. Pines, 1513 Burdette street, an accountant, who had been passed for cause by attorneys on both sides.

Attorneys for the defense had exhausted all but one of their twelve peremptory challenges. The county attorney had exercised two "peremptories," had waived six and had two left.

Saw Hauser Near Murder. A surprise which, it is believed, will be a serious blow to the defense, was sprung by the prosecution in the person of Mrs. Letticia Newton, 2820 Davenport street. Mrs. Newton, it was learned, will be a witness second only in importance to Miss Slater, in that she will testify she saw Hauser follow Mr. Smith and Miss Slater west on Dodge street the night of October 15 a few moments before the murder was committed.

Mrs. Newton, she said, will testify that she and her husband, Ernie Newton, got off a westbound car, walked north to Twenty-ninth and Dodge streets on their way home and met Hauser under an arc light.

Hauser Halls Them. Hauser attempted to stop them, according to Mrs. Newton, and they took the middle of the street to escape him. Mr. Smith and Miss Slater then appeared, walking west on Dodge street, on their way to the girl's home, and Hauser followed them, the witness will testify. The murder was committed at Thirty-second and Dodge.

Examination of jurors proceeded rapidly during the morning session of court. The gravity of the court scene was relieved at times by touches of humor. Once a negro juror, when questioned whether he was opposed to capital punishment, answered:

Believes in Commandment. "Yes, sir; I don't believe in it. I believe in the sixth commandment, 'Thou shalt not kill.'"

He was excused. John Polivka, 437 South Thirteenth street, was seated in the rear of the lower court room when his name was called. "How do you spell it?" asked a court official of the clerk.

"P-o-l-i-v-k-a," shouted the juror, as he rose from his seat.

Miss Slater and all the other witnesses subpoenaed by the prosecution appeared in the court room. Miss Slater was in a cheerful mood, which con-best guarantee of any honorable peace. "We must remember that there cannot be such preparedness in things material unless there is also that preparedness of soul and spirit which alone renders a nation fit to perform its high and difficult duties in national and international life."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT," Governor Johnson's Greeting. In his message to the committee, Governor Johnson of California said:

"Progressivism has won a great victory. It has gripped the minds of individual voters, has quickened the national conscience and has been indelibly impressed upon every forward looking stage."

"The men and the party unafraid have exercised a most wholesome influence on the nation's political life. All candidates and all parties now vehemently protest they are progressive and progressivism this far has partly done its work."

"No reason for misgiving and every reason to be jubilant."

"From California, where progressivism has been written into the laws of the state, we send you fondest greetings."

Beveridge for Neutrality. The telegram from Albert J. Beveridge said progressive principles, including a neutrality with equal friendship for all nations, constitute a program "for which Americans can fight with a clear conscience."

A telegram from Charles Sumner Bird of Massachusetts said:

"I am for a third ticket rather than for a reactionary or second rate candidate. Messages from Arthur N. Sager and Oscar S. Strauss of New York and John M. Parker of New Orleans, also were read."

Every state in the Union save Arizona and Mississippi was represented at the meeting.

Convention Date Discussed. Discussion of the time and place for holding the national convention of the party developed practically unanimous opinion that it should be convened in Chicago. There was some difference of opinion, however, as to the date. William Allen White of Kansas favored June 5, which would make the convention co-incident with the republican national convention here, and several others supported this view. Others proposed June 14, or later. The question will be settled at an executive session of the national committee late today.

George W. Perkins presided this morning and John W. McGrath of New York acted as secretary.

Walter Latham. CAMBRIDGE, Neb., Jan. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—Walter Latham, aged 63, an old settler and bachelor, was found dead today noon at his home north of town. His funeral will be Wednesday at 2 at the Congregational church, in charge of the Odd Fellows. He came here in 1874. He leaves two brothers, Warren and Will Latham, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Winters.

Attorney for State Says It Will Be Proved Physician Was Shot from Ambush.

JURY TAKEN TO SCENE OF CRIME

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 11.—Assistant Attorney General Abbott Phillips in his outline of the state's case today in the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr and two negroes, Cecil Brown and Henry Spellman, charged with connection with the murder of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, declared that evidence would be presented to show that the physician's assassins lay in ambush and when his automobile was stopped, deliberately stepped up and shot Dr. Mohr and Miss Emily Durger, his secretary, without giving them warning.

After hearing the statement the jury was taken to the scene of the murder, also to Dr. Mohr's house and garage in this city and to Mrs. Mohr's home nearby.

Brands England Arch-Opressor of The Neutral World

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Great Britain's guilt for violating American rights on the seas, Representative Fess, republican, of Ohio, declared in a speech in the house today, is greater than that of Germany and its allies. He did not condone the violations of either and supported the administration's submarine policy.

"In our intense feeling against the central powers arising out of the use of the submarine," said he, "we have either overlooked the attitude of Great Britain in its sweeping violation of rights of neutrals."

"Since it took command of the sea 100 years ago it has proceeded to make the rules for it. Coincident with making the rules it has erected a navy double in size of any other nation to enforce with special rigidity its own future."

"In the Spanish-American war, the Boer war and in the Japanese-Russian war, England stoutly and successfully defended the rights of neutrals against undue interference. Upon the initiation of England the famous declaration of London was adopted. This is the latest and best expression of international law in existence."

"What is the attitude of the defender of neutral rights on the sea in the light of these agreements? It has violated every one of them, and in the most high-handed manner."

"It has not only repudiated all its professions, but it has shamefully ignored all the important rights the United States has stood for and has done so upon the ground that it is fighting our battles for us."

Mr. Fess stood against any embargo on munitions.

Hay Urges Militia Increase Instead of Continental Army

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Plans to strengthen the National Guard instead of establishing a continental army as contemplated by the War department were proposed to President Wilson today, by Chairman Hay of the house military committee. Mr. Hay would not reveal how his suggestion was received by the president.

Under Mr. Hay's plan the National Guard would get regular pay and a provision be included in the army bill for taking it into the regular army in time of war. He said that at first the plan would bring only about 100,000 men into the regular army, but that he felt sure that within two years there would be 400,000.

The plan also proposes to increase the present regular regiments of infantry to war strength instead of adding ten new regiments as planned by the War department. Mr. Hay thinks that would give the same increase in the regular army without adding to overhead charges.

A tentative army bill drawn up by Mr. Hay after conference with War department officials now includes the continental army feature.

President Wilson has endorsed the entire War department plan, including the continental army. Today's development was the first indication of a disagreement between the administration and the chairman of the military committee. It is understood that Mr. Hay's views were taken up at today's cabinet meeting.

It will be about six weeks before the house committee will be ready to put the army bill before the house.
