

BRYAN'S GOING HAS EFFECT IN BERLIN

More Conciliatory Attitude Toward United States is Apparent Since Secretary Resigned.

"INSPIRED" ARTICLE SHOWS IT

BERLIN, June 11.—The resignation of William J. Bryan, as secretary of state made apparent the earnestness with which the American administration is considering the question of submarine warfare and guarantees for the safety of Americans in this connection.

What Will America Do?

The one question which is asked in all quarters, naval, military, diplomatic and civil, was: What will the United States do, and what is the significance of Mr. Bryan's resignation? That the resignation of the secretary of state had not been without effect was shown by a conciliatory article captioned "America" given most prominent display in double headed type by the Lokal Anzeiger.

"President Wilson allowed his first adviser, who had made known his pacifist theories, to depart in this critical hour. No compromise between their attitude was possible therefore. Attempts to reach a peaceful solution, nevertheless should not be abandoned. This is not the counsel of faint heartedness, but of an earnest will not to make worse our political relations. Considerations of humanity may naturally be taken into consideration so far as the military situation and the policy of the empire will permit.

"It easily may be believed that the honorable and unprecedented negotiations between the parties concerned may lead to an understanding. Neither party should sacrifice anything; neither needs to do so. It is necessary to wait and see whether President Wilson's note leaves the door open for advantageous negotiations. We believe a basis does exist for such negotiations and that this basis can be built upon with the good will of the parties concerned. Our military interests and our judicial standpoint to which we must and shall adhere, do not stand in the way of an honest interchange of views, which contains a promise of success."

Louvain University Expected to Rise From Its Ashes

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) MANCHESTER, England, June 6.—When the devastated cities and towns of Belgium rise again, one of the first tasks to be undertaken will be the reconstruction of the library of the University of Louvain.

The governors of the John Ryland library have voted to present to the University of Louvain a large gift of books from the surplus store in their library, and it has been suggested that similar action by the directors of other libraries in various parts of the world would enable the university to start its new career with an excellent stock of books. The collection which the Ryland governors will present to the university will be selected from the large stock of duplicates in the possession of the library, which have gradually accumulated through the purchase from time to time of large and special collections which almost inevitably contain a certain proportion of works already on the Ryland shelves.

Aviation Teacher In Narrow Escape

Jess Carpenter, instructor at Bert LeBron's school of aviation at the auto speedway, narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday afternoon in a mishap that occurred while he was speeding along the ground, preparatory to making a flight in his biplane.

He was buzzing along at a lively clip, and had turned into the straight-away of the horse racing track, seeking to get a smoother start, just before rising, when something caused the machine to swerve into the fence. Jess was fortunate in that the fence was rather low, so that when the biplane's front wheel struck it, Carpenter was thrown neatly over the fence, instead of right into it. He emerged from the mix-up with only slight bruises and scratches, but a wing of the plane was decidedly mangled up.

First Presbyterian Bell is Removed

After ringing out church tidings for many years, the big bell that hung in the brick part of the spire of the old First Presbyterian church at Seventeenth and Dodge streets has been taken down and will be stored away until the new church is completed at Thirty-fourth and Farnam streets. The bell weighs between 2,000 and 3,000 pounds and is one of the best in the city. It was given by Mrs. O. E. Davis as a memorial to her husband, who was one of the prominent early members of the church.

The final spot of the wooden part of the church spire, which was pulled down several days ago, has been preserved by Mrs. F. W. Fitch of the Women's Missionary society as a memento.

Plan to Foster Trade Relations With United States

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) PETROGRAD, June 5.—The Russian-American association, organized here in April to foster commercial and social relations between the two countries, has attracted over 100 workers to its ranks, among whom are a number of prominent public men.

Baron H. E. Rosen, former ambassador as Washington, was elected president of the association, and A. N. Borodin his assistant. The members of the committee are Russian business men and social workers, such as E. N. Barabot de Marry, A. I. Halpern, F. A. Ivanov, N. S. Kurakov, D. D. Protopyov and H. B. Tschalkowski. At the first meeting the former consul general in New York, Mr. Ladjenaki, expressed the opinion that this association undoubtedly would meet with great favor in America. Even at the time of the Russian-Japanese war, notwithstanding the existing animosity against Russia, the American statesmen showed an interest in Russia and were ready to establish friendly relations, he said.

Prof. Mijuev expressed a desire to organize an exchange of professors between America and Russia. D. D. Protopyov added the suggestion of organizing excursions to the United States. N. A. Okunev and others pointed out the necessity of organizing an association in New York, similar to that of Petrograd. Many of the members of the Petrograd association are acquainted with well known American public workers, and they were asked by the chairman to lay the foundation for the organization of a like association in America. The suggestion that classes in English be formed in connection with this organization in Petrograd met with great favor.

Rehearsal of Children Chorus Of Saengerfest

The first rehearsal of the grand children's chorus for the Omaha Saengerfest will take place Saturday morning, June 12, at 10 o'clock at the Auditorium. The children's chorus will render a medley of favorite American and German songs arranged for chorus by Prof. T. R. Reese, director of the Saengerfest. The upper classes of the public and private schools which have been practicing these songs will take part in the work, which will be one of the features of the great music festival.

Next Sunday the officers of the Saengerbund of the Northwest will arrive in Omaha to consult with the Omaha Saengerfest association about the arrangements yet to be made for the event. These officers are: Theodore G. Bohrens, Chicago, president; Peter Lantz, Omaha, vice president; George H. C. Kieck, Milwaukee, secretary; E. A. Kney, Madison, Wis., treasurer; John Wunder, Denver, la., librarian.

The male choruses of Omaha, Council Bluffs and Lincoln will hold a joint rehearsal next Sunday afternoon and, together with the members of the Omaha Saengerfest association, will meet the officers of the Saengerbund.

The secretary of the Omaha association is receiving announcements daily of clubs who will take part in the fest, showing that the attendance will be larger than at first anticipated. All of the soloists have been engaged. Among them is a quartet of the great artists of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, and some of the most prominent local singers.

Try to Force Clerk To Accept Appeals Though Fee Unpaid

An attempt to require the clerk of the district court by mandamus proceedings to file appeal cases from police court without payment in advance of fees by defendants, has been tried by Attorney Daniel Horrihan. The suit is brought in the name of L. V. O'Brien, convicted of vagrancy in police court. The clerk refused to file the appeal cases free of charge in accordance with a written opinion rendered by Deputy County Attorney Hafste after an investigation by County Auditor J. W. Barnett. According to Mr. Barnett large sums of money which should have come into the public treasury were lost by the former practice of filing appeal cases without cost. Owing to the fact that worthless bonds are accepted by the police court in appeal cases, practically all defendants formerly evaded payment of filing fees in district court. The mandamus suit will be heard by District Judge Redick June 15.

Frank Judd Dies; Victim of Foot Ball

Frank Judd, 15 years old, son of Erwin D. Judd, treasurer of the Monarch Manufacturing company of Council Bluffs, died last evening at his home, 2049 Avenue A, from injuries received last fall in a high school foot ball game at Beatrice, Neb. The boy was a member of the senior class in the Council Bluffs High school and would have graduated this year. He was one of the athletes of his class and the star player of the foot ball squad. He weighed 150 pounds and was a model of physical perfection.

GAGE GRAND JURY ASKED TO PROBE TAX DODGING

BEATRICE, Neb., June 11.—(Special Telegram.)—A petition was presented to County Assessor Enlow asking Judge Pemberton to call a special grand jury for the purpose of investigating what is commonly called tax-dodging in Gage county. The petition is largely signed. The returns made by precinct assessors are not at all satisfactory according to the county assessor, particularly in the matter of diamonds, bank deposits and shares in building and loan associations. No action will be taken in the petition until after the meeting of the board of equalization on June 15.

AGED MAN FATALLY HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

A man 74 years of age, supposed from papers on his person to be H. A. Weeman, 1216 Oak street, was struck by an automobile last night at Sixteenth and Jackson streets and fatally hurt. Police surgeons say he cannot recover. A taxi driver, known as "Red" Tague is said to have driven the car that struck the man.

DEGREES GIVEN OMAHA U SENIORS

Rabbi Stephen Wise Tells Graduating Class the Meaning of Token Received from School.

OWE SERVICE TO THE NATION

"A diploma amounts to nothing practically unless the holder can do something that will prove a benefit to the rest of the people," declared Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, yesterday afternoon speaking before the graduating class of the University of Omaha.

His subject was: "The Service of the College Man to the Nation." Redick hall was filled for the occasion, Dr. D. E. Jenkins of the university presiding.

Meaning of Education.

The speaker desired the student going through college just for the formality of securing a degree.

"No person should go through the university," he said, "without the university going through him. The college graduate should be the sponsor for the idealism of the nation. Man should help man to stand for himself to think for himself and become more individual. At the present there is too much community with very little individual thinking."

Speaking of the rich who go spinning through their four years of college life with no mission, he said, "such men can never be of benefit to mankind. They destroy what the earnest young man tries to build up-character. The class of people does not fit in with the brotherhood of man." He urged the students to learn democracy and practice it in every way possible.

Hugh A. Myers of the Board of Trustees conferred the degrees on the graduates and A. W. Carpenter also of the board, conferred the state teachers' certificates.

Roche on two of the young women graduates.

See Bright Future.

Mr. Carpenter spoke briefly of the history of the school. He told of the many struggles and hardships that had been overcome and brought his talk to a close by stating that the school was at the present time on a firm substantial basis and that he looked forward in the near future to seeing the school and campus enlarged.

The following were candidates for degrees: Zaida Packard, Edwards, B. A., Omaha; Peter Victor Jorgensen, B. A., Omaha; Sylvia Orloff, B. A., Benson; Paul Selby, B. S., Odessa, Ia.; Dorothy Scott, B. A., Omaha, and Raymond Rutt, B. A., Omaha. Of these Miss Sylvia Orloff and Miss Dorothy Scott also received state teachers' certificates.

Following the singing of the national anthem, Rev. L. Groh of St. Mark's Lutheran church gave the benediction.

Million Teutons on The Way to Lemberg

LONDON, June 11.—The Evening News has received a dispatch from its correspondent at Petrograd which reads:

"The recovery by the Germans of some of their lost ground in the Baltic provinces proves how numerous are its spare troops, even today. It is estimated that 1,000,000 men are operating toward Lemberg and 1,200,000 toward the Dniester river, all plentifully supplied with ammunition. In the Shavil district where the Russians are advancing the Germans have raised their forces to four and one-half army corps, establishing superiority of numbers."

IOWA GOLFER DEFEATS SCRUGGS OF MEMPHIS

Water Base Ball on Cards for Saturday

The water base ball games between the Omaha Aquatic club and Council Bluffs will be staged at 3 o'clock both Saturday and Sunday afternoons at the Council Bluffs Rowing association. No matter that the water thus far has been hardly tepid enough to tempt the average swimmer, these hardened swimmers promise to take a chance. Mayor Dahlgren will pitch the first ball, at least he has promised to. It should be some battle and base ball players, counting on a good laugh and an exciting time, are planning to attend in numbers.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 11.—(Special Telegram.)—Adrian Stillwell of the Chicago Golf club, one of the younger members of the Lumbermen's Golf association, won the annual championship today by defeating William J. Foye of the Omaha Country club, 8 and 6, in the final thirty-six-hole match at the Midlothian Country club.

The morning round, played over a wet course, was close. Stillwell being two up at the luncheon interval. Foye was out-driven most of the time, but played a clever short game. In the afternoon Stillwell quickly increased his lead and by the end of the out round had the match well in hand.
