LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

Widening of Twenty-Fourth Street for a Business Thoroughfare Before the Exchange.

SUPPORTERS FOR THE PLAN

A widening of Twenty-fourth and Harney streets, together with the opening of one or two streets between Twentieth and Twenty-fourth and between Dodge and Harney, is a consummation devoutly wished by the Omaha Real Estate exchange. At a meeting last Wednesday the exchange authorized its president to appoint a committee to work on the possibilities along this line. President Thomas will take his time and select a committee.

The plan is that the committee shall confer with the proper city authorities and with the engineers on the matter of the expense of such a project; with the city attorney with regard to the method to be pursued, and with whatever authority it may be necessary to confer with in order to get plans made for undertaking the task.

Faith in Twenty-Fourth. It is recognized by real estate men that the narrowness of Twenty-fourth street is a drawback to its development. It is also held by many that Twenty-fourth street is inevitably to be the main business thoroughfare of Greater Omaha.

Thought of Twenty Years. President Thomas said that for twenty years he had been thinking of the project of widening Twenty-fourth street and he believed it was high time to start.

It was pointed out that in any event the street will have to be widened sooner or later as the center of the city develops more and more in that direction. Attention was called to the fact that the longer widening is put off the more difficult it will be, since larger and larger buildings will be built on the present frontage, all of which will some day have to be cut off or moved back to give wider street space.

Plans for Keeping Business Out of the Residence Districts

You don't have to stand for grocery stores or garages on the next lot to your lot in Omaha—at least, not after July 1. On that day the city planning law goes into effect in Omaha.

If the neighbors will sign a petition, it will be possible to declare a certain section of the city an exclusive residential district, and it will then be possible to condemn and have removed stores or other objectionable institutions that have located in your midst.

ALL REAL ESTATE MEN ARE WELL PLEASED WITH OMAHA

Omaha delegates to the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges at Los Angeles last week heard one succession of praises for Omaha. They heard this from the several hundred delegates from Chicago, Minneapolis and several other cities from the east who came through Omaha on their way to the coast and participated in the coronations extended them while in Omaha by the Omaha Real Estate Exchange.

Germany to Have 18 More Corps in Field

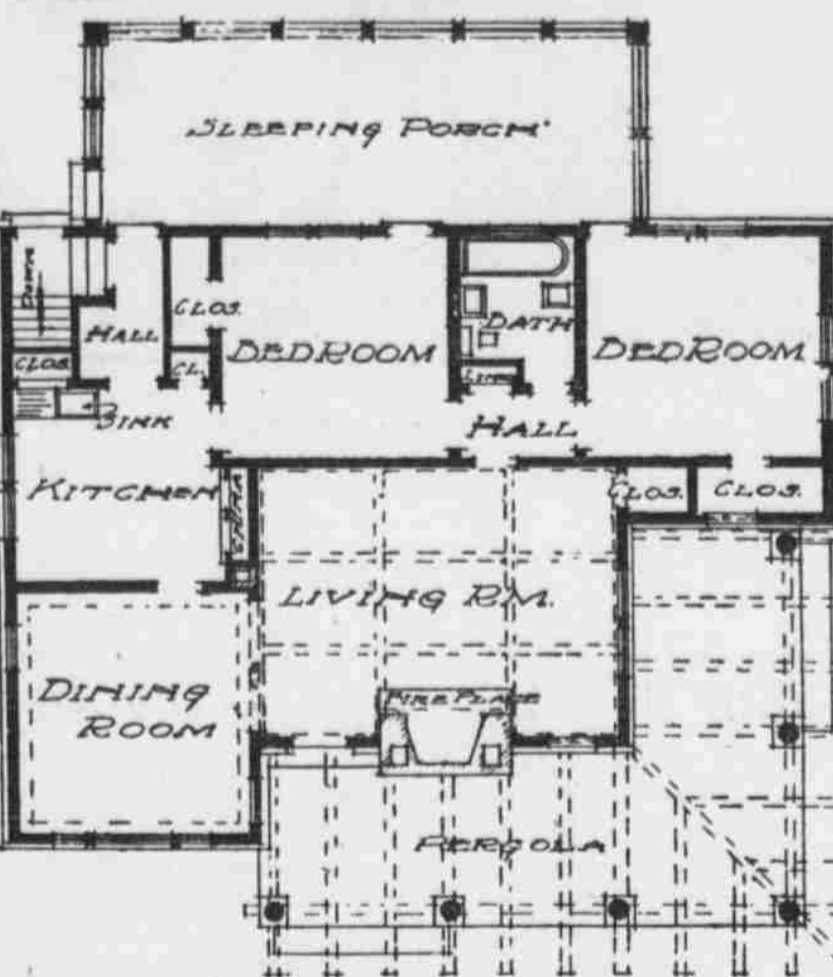

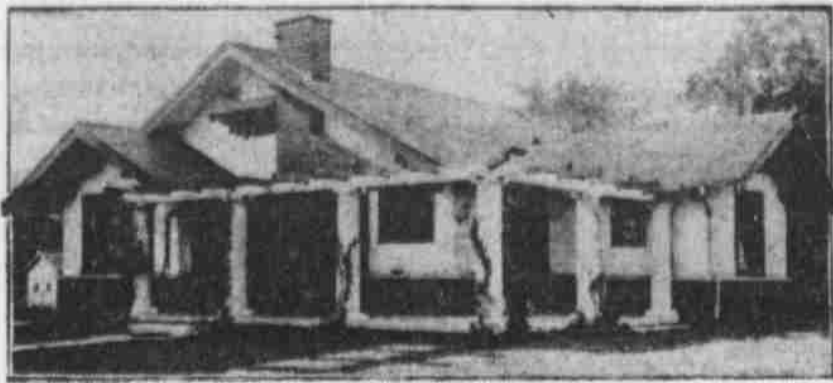

ZURICH, Switzerland (Via London), June 26.—According to an authoritative military source, Germany will be able to place eighteen more army corps in the field by the end of July. These are composed chiefly of the second category of the landsturm comprising men who have never performed military service, but who are in training, and in land reserves which have been resting in the interior of Germany.

SPEEDWAY ASSOCIATIONS ORGANIZE AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 26.—The Speedway Association of America, comprising representatives of a number of automobile speedways in the United States, was organized, according to announcement by Edward E. Gates of Indianapolis, counsel for the Federal league.

Charles W. Sedwick of Indianapolis was elected president and James N. Nichols of New Rochelle, N. Y., vice president. Speedways at New York, Indianapolis, Omaha, Sioux City, Tacoma and Minneapolis were represented.

A Modern Residence

The design shown above is one of the most attractive homes on the pretentious mile in Omaha and is built of brick and stucco. The plan consists of five rooms and bath and sleeping porch. A small hall separates the two bedrooms and leads to the bath and the linen closet off of it. The living room and dining room are separated by a large casid opening and have a heavy beam ceiling and wall cornice.
