URE AGREES UPON RECEIPT FOR TAXES

Douglas County Treasurer and State Officials Come to Terms Pending Lawsuit.

GOVERNOR COMING TO RACES

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, June 2.—(Special.)—Pending State Treasurer Hall's mandamus suit against Treasurer Ure of Douglas county, to compel him to make monthly remittances to the state, the state treasurer and State Auditor Smith have agreed upon a receipt to mail to all county treasurers for money sent in.

The objection of Mr. Ure was to the receipt he was setting from the state treasurer. He maintained that they were improperly signed and did not contain the signature of the auditor or his deputy.

The new receipt will be signed by Treasurer Hall and stamped by Auditor Smith with a rubber stamp, after which it will be signed in pen and ink by Deputy Auditor Eastman. The receipts were formerly signed by the bookkeeper instead of by Mr. Eastman.

After a conference Saturday afternoon with Assistant Attorney General Ayres the state treasurer and the state auditor decided to get a ruling of the supreme court on the proper form of a receipt, and on the power of the auditor to delegate some one in his office, other than his deputy, to countersign them.

The county clerk of Holt county has applied to the state highway commission to construct a state aid bridge, 130 feet long, over the Elkhorst river, near Ewing. The state assists in the construction of all bridges that measure more than 125 feet in length.

Reed Speaks at Sutton.

Attorney General Reed was speaker of the day at the Fourth of July celebration Saturday in Sutton. He will speak in Electric park, Lincoln, Monday and will leave the same evening for Chicago to represent Nebraska in the 2-cent fare hearings before the Interstate Commerce commission.

Morehead to See Auto Races.

Governor Morehead will attend the automobile races in Omaha Monday. He left Lincoln Saturday for Steinauer, he was scheduled for a Fourth of July address in the afternoon.

School Values Higher.

A dozen tracts of state school lands will be raised in valuation, as the result of a trip last week made through Cherry and Brown counties by Secretary of State Pool and Land Commissioner Beckman. The total increase will be in the neighborhood of $5,000.

Road Pays Its Tax.

The Northwestern railroad has paid to the secretary of state its occupation tax for 1915, the maximum amount of $2,500. The Burlington and the Missouri Pacific has heretofore paid the same amount.

Grand Island Will Begin Seedling Mile

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—Actual work is expected, will begin on the "Seedling Mile" of the Lincoln highway southeast of the city by August 1. This is the first of the Lincoln highway projects which have been in charge of the movement for the same in this county. The mile will be sixteen feet wide, of cement, and is estimated to cost from $10,000 to $12,000. It is just east of the city, in one stretch and leads toward the "River road," the old Oregon trail, but is not in dispute as between the Lincoln highway officials of this work and Merrick county.

WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT ON BLUE RIVER PROMISED

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, July 3.—(Special.)—Water power development on the Blue river by the George G. Moore syndicate of Detroit is foreshadowed by a visit which Mr. Moore is making. The Detroit man arrived in Lincoln Thursday and announced he was merely inspecting the Lincoln Traction company plant, in which his syndicate is interested.

Report has it that Moore's visit is of more importance, however, and that the Commonwealth Power company, which represents the Moore interests, is trying to secure rights on the Blue river, which will mean practical control of the power possibilities of the stream. Although the Blue has a large volume of water in it the year around, no attempt has been made to develop until recently. There are now fifteen power filings on the stream, six of which were filed by the same man within the last few weeks. He is Charles O. Boardman and his filings cover the river from Burnston up to Blue Springs. G. W. Steinmeyer has a filing at Blue Springs, there are two at Seward and one at Milford.

BIG MORTGAGE IS FILED IN HALL COUNTY

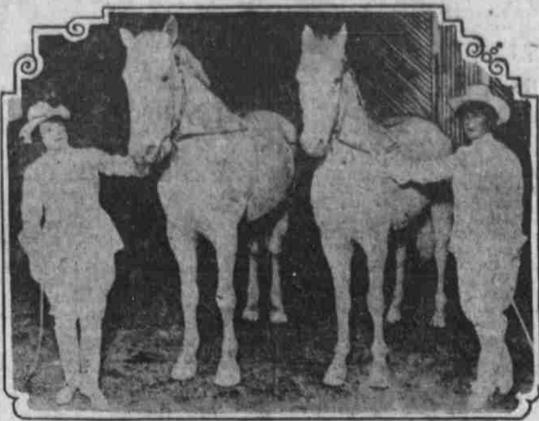

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—What is the largest mortgage on record in Hall county on local property was filed this week by the Central Power company. The issue is to secure sold mortgage 6 per cent bonds.

He was about 75 years of age and came to Rushville in the fall of 1854. Women Rule Departments of This Circus

Two of the "Statue Horses" with the Sells-Floto Circus.

There isn't a suffragette on the circus and yet—

And yet if there came a question into the minds of the inhabitants of that little city of wanderers known as Sells-Floto circus and Buffalo Bill's Original Wild West, which is to be in Omaha Thursday, July 8, the women could have the vote, or any thing else. That is, providing, of course, that managerial capacity counted for anything.

For the Sells-Floto circus depends a lot upon its women. More than one branch of the big show is run almost exclusively by them—and the best of it is, run perfectly. For instance, there is Lucia Zora, who has charge of the training of all the elephants. There is Mrs. William Curtis, who personally supervises every inch of the wardrobe and designs the costumes, besides originating an act every now and then. There is Rosa Rossland, the rider, who has charge of all the other equestrians in the show; there is Mrs. Charles Luckey, who controls all the aerial acts—and if that isn't enough there is Mrs. Rhoda Royal, the horse trainer.

For every one of the twenty or more high school horses which perform in the hippodrome track during the performance of the Sells-Floto circus owe their college education to Mrs. Royal. Rhoda, the bell room horse; Bathhouse John, Luckett, the high jumper, and all the others, have been taught their every trick by the smiling little woman of the hippodrome track. And they also owe their good education to another thing—the old adage of the early bird.

"I always train my horses very, very early in the morning," Mrs. Royal says. "Often I am working with them before daylight. I have found that a horse's mind is most receptive then—and when a mind is most receptive, that is the time to instill things into it."

Mrs. Royal and all the other women "managers" will appear with the circus when it comes here for its two days' stay. They also will be in the parade. The show this year is to exhibit at Twenty-first and Paul streets.

INSPECT IRRIGATION WORKS

Congressmen and Reclamation Commission Make Tour of Scott's Bluff District.

SPECIFICATIONS NEARLY READY

SCOTT'S BLUFF, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—The visit to the valley Thursday of Chairman John J. Fitzgerald of the appropriations committee of the house of representatives, together with other members of the committee consisting of William P. Morland of Missouri, Joseph W. Byrnes of Tennessee, Charles R. Davis of Minnesota, Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts, James W. Good of Iowa, Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, James N. McAndrews of Illinois, George W. Rauch of Indiana and Swager Shirley of Kentucky portends great things for the future of the Scott's Bluff country.

With the congressional committee was the National Reclamation commission, which was formed by Secretary Lane at the beginning of his administration, and it was observed that their work was continuing upon the trip just the same as if in the offices at Washington. Sidney B. Williamson, the chief of construction, is busy organizing the work of beginning the Fort Laramie unit of the Pathfinder project, which is to water 107,000 acres of land on the south side of the river, about half of which is in Wyoming and the other half in Nebraska. The other members of the commission who were here were Director A. P. Davis, who has been in the reclamation service since its beginning, and whose first-hand knowledge is of tremendous value.

Members Study Chart.

Mr. Davis gave a chart study of this project to the members of the congressional committee. W. A. Ryan, comptroller of the commission, had direct charge of the itinerary of the party here and was a very busy man, but not so busy but that he had his eye out at all times observing where the money has been going, and that the fund be directed into useful channels. Judge Will R. King, the genius of irrigation law and diplomat, with his able assistant, A. H. Honold, went into a technical detail of the legal phases of the project. Words of appreciation of the industry and accomplishment of the commission were heard from several members of the congressional committee and others.

F. S. McCaffrey, secretary of the associated canals of western Nebraska, and G. L. Shumway, an special representative of the Farmers' Irrigation district, met the party in Denver, and came with them into the valley.

Congressman M. P. Kinkaid of this district, and Senators Clark and Warren, also met the party at dinner, and were splendid in the work of showing up the merits of the project. But each voiced the expression of Congressman Kinkaid, that it was much better than their own conceptions, had it pictured. As Judge King said, "This is not a project, it is an empire."

Tour Valley in Automobiles.

Local people met the party here with their automobiles. The trip taken was a short turn about Gering valley, then the big Minuteman dam, which is just completed, and at a cost of approximately $200,000, with a storage capacity of 50,000 acre feet of water. From there, past Lake Alice, over the Scottsbluff, Sunflower and Dutch Flat table lands that have been reclaimed by the government and Tristram canals. This gave excellent demonstration of the result of six or seven years development. Then the party returned to Mitchell for mid-day lunch. In the afternoon fourteen automobiles conducted the party over the territory of the Fort Laramie unit, which showed the raw material, or the native prairie in its undeveloped state, arriving at Torrington in time to take the special provided by the Burlington to the Whalen dam, where 1,400 second feet of water were being diverted into the headgates of the Interstate Canals, and 1,000 second feet plunging over the dam to supply other canals farther down the river.

A public hearing was held in the new court house at Torrington, in the evening. It was presided over by Judge Williams, J. S. Smith and S. L. Guthrie, who are doing the extension of the Farmers' canal to cover the territory north of Bridgport. Negotiations now pending for a purchase contract for the government through the Farmers' canal will make this one of the early possibilities.

First Specifications Ready.

R. F. Walters, consulting engineer for the inter-mountain division; Andrew Weles, project engineer for the north side project; and Oliver T. Reedy, project engineer for the Fort Laramie unit, were with the party, and it has been announced officially that the specifications for the first ten miles of the Fort Laramie canal are ready. This will probably take about $200,000 of the $300,000 available in the fiscal year beginning today, for the construction work upon this canal. This ten miles includes a tunnel 2,700 feet long, and fourteen by sixteen feet. There will also be two siphons about 300 feet long, one under the Laramie river, and the other under Deer creek. In about six weeks it is expected that the contracts will be let and the dirt begin to move.

Hallstrom in Greeley County.

GREELEY, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—A destructive hailstorm passed over a section of the county about four miles wide and six miles long, catching farms in both Wallace Creek and Mount Pleasant precincts and coming within two miles of Greeley Center on the north. Garden, fruit and small grain were totally destroyed. The corn is completely beaten down, but is so small that it is thought much of it will come up again.

GATE CITY SUBJECT OF VAST PAGEANT

Lincoln Commercial Club Will Give Production Next Year Typifying Growth of the West.

GREAT CAST IN BALLET PARTS

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, June 3.—(Special.)—To emphasize the state-wide character of the Lincoln pageant next year given under the auspices of the Lincoln Commercial club during commencement week, the directors have endorsed for the 1916 event a pageant to be known as "The Gate City." Omaha will be reproduced in history and symbol and its development will be traced from the days of the Omaha Indians through the days of pioneer struggles and development of modern industries of the "Gate City."

Prof. H. B. Alexander, who wrote the lines of "The Pageant of Lincoln" given last June, will write the production for the coming year. It will be given Thursday and Friday of university commencement week.

The first part will be devoted to a reproduction of Omaha Indian ceremonies, and will include the dance of the Thunderbird, the creation of the sacred tipi, the warrior's rite symbolic of tribal authority, and the woman's rite, denoting tribal perpetuity.

The second part will open showing Captain Downs, the first settler of Omaha, in his occupation of ferryman. The whole will be reminiscent of early river traffic. Then will come the pony express with a ball of children on a sheldahl pony, and the opening of the Union Pacific.

The pageant will close with symbolism in rainbow dances, denoting the "Gate of Promise," the Genius of Omaha in pantomime, and the "Gift of the Keys."

More than 500 people will have roles and ballet parts. Music for the odes, songs and operatic sketches included in the pantomime will be written by Prof. H. L. Kirkpatrick of the University School of Music.
