

GERMANS PARADE AND THEN PICNIC

Saengerfest Parade Travels Course Through Streets While Omahans Line Sidewalks.

PICNIC AT THE GERMAN HOME

A beautiful and inspiring sight was the German Saengerfest parade yesterday, with its bands and banners and scores of automobiles filled with fair women.

It started from Seventeenth and Cass streets, where the Omaha Musik Verein building is located, and marched through the principal business streets, disbanding finally at Thirtieth and Leavenworth streets, from where street cars took all those marching, and their automobiles took those riding; to the German home and park, 4406 South Thirtieth street, where a picnic will continue over today.

A platoon of police led the parade and then came the officers and other dignitaries of the saengerfest in numerous automobiles and on horseback.

In one automobile was borne the great saengerfest banner, its staff surmounted by a golden lyre. This banner is kept by the saengerfest city until the next following fest, when it is delivered to the next city.

Carry Banners and Flags.

Then followed a company of seventy-two men, each bearing a big flag or a banner. Some of these flags and banners were magnificent silken things, others showed age and were vested with historic interest. There were forty-four splendid banners and twenty-eight flags, most of the latter being the Stars and Stripes, but several being the ensign of the Fatherland.

Delegations from the various visiting singing societies marched next, many of them in distinctive costumes. The Milwaukee Liederkreis had hired a wagon and a little German band to supply its own music.

Four men marching within a float with little German flags at the corners and a big American flag in the middle and a lyre on each side, constituted the contribution of the Germania singing society of Stanton, Neb., to the parade. The Lincoln men marched under red, white and blue umbrellas.

Band Rides in Jitney Car.

One of the bands had hired a big jitney car, but all the others unflinchingly made the long march over the parade route.

The best was saved till the last. The end of the parade consisted of more than 80 automobiles filled with the ladies dressed in white and carrying white parasols. Some of these cars were garlanded in flowers and wreaths and streamers. The occupants were members of various German "damen vereins" or women's organizations—the Damen Musik Verein, the Deutsches Damen Verein, and others.

Sheep Herder Who Kidnaped Rancher is Lodged in Jail

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, July 24.—Leon Dean, a sheep herder, who admits that he kidnaped E. A. Empey, was lodged in the Bonneville county jail early today by cowboys after a hard ride to save their captive from would-be lynchers. Dean was captured on Sheep Mountain last night, after Empey escaped.

The $600 ransom demanded for the safe return of Ernest A. Empey, wealthy rancher, who with his young son, were kidnaped from their ranch last Saturday, will not be paid. Empey is now in safe hands in Montpelier.

Empey arrived late yesterday at a lumber camp in the woods near Montpelier. He told of having escaped while his captor slept. Soon afterward, a posse of cowboys reported the capture of the abductor, whose location was given by Empey.

Empey and his young son were marched five miles from their ranch at the point of a gun, to the mountains last Saturday. The boy was returned with a demand for $600 ransom, which was to be left in the road at a command from the mountain side. The money, which was scarce, was to have been delivered today.

ARMY AND NAVY ISSUES TO FRONT

Next Session of Congress Probably Will Be Devoted to Discussion of Military Preparedness.

CLARK WILL HAVE SUGGESTIONS

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 24.—(Special).—The coming session of congress promises to be largely engaged in the consideration and discussion of naval and military preparedness; and doubtless there will be hundreds of schemes presented providing for all sorts of more or less wise military projects. Speaker Clark has a plan of his own, which seems to meet with very general approval. The speaker would have military training in every college and university in the country. He is of the opinion that by this means thousands of men would receive a military education of such character as to make them invaluable in handling troops in time of war.

There is at the present time a very marked shortage in the number of officers, both naval and military, holding commissions from the president. Mr. Clark proposes that the capacity of the two great military training schools, Annapolis and West Point, be doubled, thereby assuring not only a sufficient number of officers to command the naval and military forces of the country, but also enough to supply every college and every university, which will muster at least two hundred students for drill, with an officer competent to act as drillmaster and to otherwise train the youth of the country in military and naval tactics.

The proposition of Speaker Clark will probably receive the indorsement of the authorities of the army and navy and it is almost certain in advance that the two committees of the house having these matters in charge will give careful and prompt consideration to the suggestions of the speaker and will, almost without question, report to the house bills to carry out the plan.

Naval University Proposed.

In this connection there was some discussion last year of a plan of a number of gentlemen who proposed to establish a great naval university in the vicinity of Hampton Roads. They proposed to use the grounds and buildings formerly occupied by the James-town exposition for this purpose and to follow implicitly the courses of the Annapolis academy and to open up the classes to young men having naval ambitions, not only those of American citizenship, but for all the republics of the American continent. The plan was so complete that it received the indorsement and approval of many of the South American diplomats and it is likely to result in the establishment of this school which might well be termed a Pan-American naval academy. It is believed that such an institution would not only supply volunteer naval officers in case of need, who would have just exactly the same training as those graduated from the Annapolis institution, but that it would also create a body of trained seamen, who would be available to help uphold the American merchant marine, if that sea-time powerful adjunct to American commerce is ever to be rehabilitated. It is said that if the United States will turn over to the incorporators of this institution a couple of useless battleships or cruisers that the project will be set on foot within the next year.

Naval Advisory Board Plans.

Although Secretary Daniels' new civil advisory board, from whom much is expected, has not yet been fully organized, the secretary has received scores of suggestions, many of which will be placed before this board as soon as Mr. Edison, prince of inventors, calls the first meeting.

Among these propositions which the advisory board will consider is an invention of a gentleman of this city of what might be designated as a com-

Germans Land Army Corps Near Libau

LONDON, July 24.—A Petrograd dispatch to the Telegraph says: "Private messages from Riga report that the Germans have landed an entire army corps on the coast near Libau. The Germans seemed at first to be aiming at Riga, but a sudden swing toward the south on the flank confirm the belief that their real objective is to cut the communications of the Russian Waraw army, which are protected by cavalry and other light troops."

Germans Take Forts Of Rozan and Pultusk

BETHLEHEM STEEL MAKES GAIN

NEW YORK, July 24.—War stocks were active again today and advanced materially, so that several made new high records. At the close Bethlehem Locomotive, American Can, Bethlehem Steel and other issues, which are reacting a harvest of war orders, were near their best.

Bethlehem Steel gained seven points for the day and twenty-one points for the week. American Can sold at a new high figure of 20 1/2. The demand for all classes of war issues overshadowed all other trading.

Bethlehem Steel was again a feature of strength and sold at 20 1/2, which is the highest price at which a nondividend-paying stock has ever sold on the New York Stock exchange.

In the outside market, another non-dividend-paying stock, Electric Boat, soared ninety-seven points to 302, while the preferred jumped seventy points to 322.

Total sales of stocks today were 300,000 shares. Changes in the bank statement were close to the estimate made from earlier movements in money. The only feature was an increase of $2,670,420 in the surplus reserve, and an increase of $1,000,000 in the Treasury.

Trading in bonds was of moderate volume, without much change in value. United States 2 1/2 per cent, aggregated $75,000 for the week.

"Buy It Now"

President Wilson

In his address at Indianapolis expressed his approval of the Slogan, "If you are going to buy anything, buy it now."

Such a slogan, if applied by the people of this country, will keep the wheels of progress running smoothly.

Statistics show Omaha to be situated in the most prosperous part of the world today. Isn't that convincing enough that Omaha Real Estate is the best investment obtainable and that the rapid increase in value is an absolute certainty.

The shrewd investor places real estate at the top of his list of Class A investments. Your neighbor invests his money in real estate, why not you. Real estate is tangible and safe and at the same time brings the largest possible net return on the capital invested. If you have money to invest, invest it now. The paraphrase is as true as the slogan itself. Invest now and invest in Omaha real estate; your money will make money.
