

JACK WANTS TO COME BACK

Ed Arthur Johnson, Who Ceased Abruptly Last April, Wants to Fight Willard Again.

CORBETT'S HOPE IS CHESTY

By RINGSIDE.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Gentle readers, kindly suppress your hilarious outbursts upon reading the following few quoted lines. The gentleman has not been feigning the same since his late unpleasantly with a Mr. Jess Willard down Havana way. Listen:

"I will fight Willard anywhere in the world and will post $50,000 that I will knock him out in a flash fight."

"You're truly, 'JACK JOHNSON.'"

Now, who would have expected anything so rash from John Arthur Johnson, who, up to last April, was considered quite sane? Can it be that Willard's flailing blow has upset Johnson's mind? The funny part of it all is that Johnson is sincere about it, or pretends to be. Evidently Jack is planning a plunge into vaudeville, and figures this one way of getting his name into print. We thought we had read the superannated Johnson's ring obituary early last April—but Jack always was a humorous cuss.

It may be that Johnson is in dire need of gasoline for his three or four automobiles; the upkeep for the bus wagons is so distracting to the bank roll, we are informed.

However, the fact remains that Johnson says he wants to fight Willard, and Willard, in rebuttal, says he will not play with Johnson, or any other negro, any more. So Johnson's status is speedily determined. He should forget all about ring matters, for, short of his title, Johnson isn't worth more than $13 to any promoter in his right mind.

Willard will ignore Johnson's belated challenge, appreciating that there will be no possible element for a return battle with the once formidable Ethiopian. When shown Johnson's challenge asking for another match, Willard smiled and said:

"Compliments the smoke."

"Jack's a nice old boy at that but he has no business in the ring. He is through—absolutely. He was as weakling in my hands, and the great fight he put up in the first twenty rounds was his last gasp in the fight game, as it were. He could not go through that again if his life depended on its performance."

"Poor Jack. That's all I can say for him. He was a clean fighter, but it was useless living that robbed him of his strength and subsequently, his championship. I would like to cable back my regrets to Johnson, but that would only be a waste of ink. For Jack knows I could never be drawn into the ring again with a negro. I fought him only because he had the title, and I know in my heart that I could win from him."

"So Johnson must retire once from the scene of his children—regular folk—farm on the outskirts of Paris and talk no more of ring matters, except to answer an opinion or two when asked to do so."

The appearance on the pugilistic horizon of Thomas Cowler, the "Cumberland mountain" (as he has been dubbed by Ted), has injected new interest into the quest for a logical opponent for Jess Willard when the champion is ready to return to his adopted profession.

Would Take On Two of Them.

Cowler saw Al Roth and Jim Savage wrestle through six rounds, and begged his promoter and manager, Jim Cowley, to sign him up to meet the red in the same ring on the same evening. That sums up Cowler's estimation of these two heavyweight candidates.

Corbett is still undecided as to Cowler's first opponent for his introductory bout in this vicinity, but it is likely that Jim Coffey, considered the toughest of the Willard challengers, will be chosen to test Cowler's mettle. Manager Billy Gibson has promised Corbett that he would pit his Roscommon giant against the Cumberland mountain as soon as a suitable purse offers itself.

The management of one of the all-around fight arenas has made a tentative offer and it will be acted upon shortly. The bout will probably be held the early part of next month.

Welsh on a Yacht.

Frederick Welsh, who still clings to the lightweight title, is taking a much needed vacation on the coast. He has done so much tangoing in the ring in the last few months that he is all fired out. After the sties Welsh will be ready for some more tangoing engagements with the contending lightweights.

Charley White, whose business is fighting, will continue his merry heyday way, and will be Julia May during what is left of the summer. White's recent victory over Walsh has placed him in great demand, and Charley is not overlooking any chances of demonstrating that he is a stayer fighter, who lives in fight against the odds, and is a real prize. Just so long as White clears trashy expenses he is content. He figures that every victory adds to his popularity and prestige and this in time will bring him good compensation.

We saw a headline the other day which said "Not much class to Cleveland Joe" (Lewinsky), but you can't make Ben Harwood, Jack Hughes, W. J. Foye and a few others believe it.

One, Guess Who.

Jack Barry was knocked out the other day when Buck Weaver tagged him on the head. We ask you how many Bourgeois would have suffered so under a similar occurrence.

Back to Popera.

After watching him carefully in several games we have come to the conclusion that as an umpire one Abbott is a small detraction.

Or Flatback.

The owners of the Tankers have promised to let the club train in Cuba if New York leads in the first division of the standing of the American league. Otherwise, we presume, it will be Mexico.

No Such Luck.

While they may pass accusations, and call our Bourgeois names, and say they're bums and shame. We know they'll never say of them. And here it goes the day. They're using dirty warfare, hurrying bunks of gas cylinders.

The White Sox have at last hit their stride and it is Cleveland that has a care the said Sox will beat 'em out of that body prize.

At last we have come to doubt the veracity of the well-known and respected Associated Press. The said well-known and respected Associated Press says Umpe Quigley busted one Johnny Evers one and Johnny didn't hit back.

Placed by Peas.

Placed by Peas, monthly purchased by the National League from the Seattle club of the Northwest league, has been obtained by the Brooklyn Federal league.

HUSKY ATHLETES THE BEST

Menke Declares the Youth with a Generous Facade Makes the Best Fall Player.

TY COBB IS ONE EXCEPTION

By FRANK C. MENKE.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Weight handicaps prize fighters, but in many instances it keeps ball players.

"Gabby" Cravath, the slugging demon of the Phillies, was quite a frail creature a number of years ago when he made his first big league appearance. He didn't last long and was sent to the minors.

While sojourning in the minors Cravath began taking on weight. About forty pounds was added to his frame. And then it was that Cravath began to gain in fame as a hitter—so much fame, in fact, that he got another chance in the big leagues.

What the forty-pound-heavier Cravath has done in the betting line since then is base ball history.

Tom Clark, the catching star of the Reds, wasn't much of a catcher early in his career. He had ability and brains, but he didn't have the weight. He batted only around 120 and wasn't able to hold the speedy shots of the big Red pitchers.

But some years ago Thomas began the upward movement in the weight line, touches around 175 pounds and ranks as one of the greatest catchers in the business. They say that Thomas can stop cannon balls—and that statement doesn't seem too much of an exaggeration.

Rube is Too Frail.

If "Rube" Marquard of the Giants could pick up about forty pounds he might rank as one of the steadiest and most reliable pitchers in the game. "Rube" is tall, but he is frail. He has no reserve fat to fall back on, and that fact causes his frequent "cracking" in pinches.

"Rube" has a mighty arm, but no physique to back it up. "Rube" three years ago because his constitution cannot stand the pitching strain. If John McGraw could develop some fatter and feed it to "Rube" he might transform the lanky left-hander from an eccentric to a reliable twirler.

"Duke" Farrell wasn't much of a batsman when he was a skinny youngster. As soon as he put on weight he became a star. Amos Russett, one of the greatest pitchers in the history of base ball, didn't reach the zenith of his career until he took on weight in good quantities.

Jack Powell, the "Bullmaker," who was famous as a pitcher for the St. Louis Browns, was a huge party. "Three-Fingered" Brown always carried around the lanky left-hander from an eccentric to a reliable twirler.

All through the pages of base ball history we find that the pitchers and catchers who have been the most successful have been the ones who have been best equipped to stouthead. Of course, there are exceptions, but the exceptions are few.

Hitters Are Huskier.

Star batsmen, as a rule, have been huskies. Lajoie, Wagner, Ed Delahanty, Dan Brouthers, "Cap" Anson, Jesse Burkett, Jimmy Collins, Cy Seymour and scores of others were men who varied on the stout.

Ty Cobb is one of the exceptions—but Ty is an exception to everything. Probably if Ty were bulky he wouldn't be hitting around his present averages, because his speed enables him to beat out many bunts and puny grounders. Eddie Collins is another exception—and in the same way as Tyros. He's a great hitter mainly because his speed enables him to beat out many throws each year that would retire other runners.

Josephus Jackson of the Cleveland base ball club is a very rare exception. Josephus isn't fat—and he isn't abnormally fast. But Josephus, despite his apparent slenderness, has a pair of arms and shoulders that are as mighty as the drive of a piston rod. And these enable Josephus to keep the Cleveland Indians from falling right out of the American league.

St. Louis fans see flag hopes fading, says a headline. Whoddydoy's honest

There is no getting around it, base ball is on the blink. The other day St. Louis fans applauded Bobby Wallace when he made his first appearance in the mound city—as an umpire.

A New York scribe writes as follows: "Giant fans see McGraw thundering down the stretch. What stretch? And what does he mean, 'down'?"

Jack Mean may have beaten Ty Cobb's record for hits made in consecutive games, but he isn't anybody else can touch Heinie Sim's record in consecutive hits with unpros.

Who'll cop the rag in the W. L. I. is, of course, a query no one can tell.

But we have a hunch this man is well.

While our own dear Bourgeois in the mad pell-mell.

Have scoured for all the old death knell.

These bleachers' boosters are reliable.

Mr. H. D. Bertch, who labors diligently as boss of the day telegraph does on our daily masthead, slipped up this exclusive information the other day. He says that the most prominent Nebraskaers are as follows in the following order: Sam Crawford.

Grover Cleveland Alexander. Prof Stecher.

Joe Lawrence Brunner. W. J. Bryan.

And for a reck-on, he's called the tira.

Now that the day's, tell it done we will proceed to grandfustnicholas for home.

Keller to Giants.

Western Tennis Stars to Play in National Meet

SAF FRANCISCO, July 24.—After completing a whirlwind victory over the eastern tennis stars at the tournaments held at the Panama-Pacific exposition this month, five of the western smokes have signified their intention of going east next month to compete in the national clay court championships at Forest Hills, L. I. The tournament will begin on August 24.

Of the five men who are going east, three have previously competed in national tournaments. They are Maurice McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

Bundy and McLaughlin hold the national doubles championship, and will defend their title in the east. It was stated that the championship would go undefended this year, but the decision of Bundy and McLaughlin to enter the national championships has placed the doubles tournament ahead of everything else. It will be the largest feature of the meet.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

National League Averages

Table with columns for Player Name, Team, and various statistics (G, AB, R, H, E, etc.).

Club Batting

Table showing batting averages for various clubs like Chicago, New York, St. Louis, etc.

Club Fielding

Table showing fielding statistics for various clubs.

Individual Batting

Table listing individual batting averages for players like Deubert, Brk., Dyer, etc.

Fifteen or More Games

Table listing players who have played 15 or more games.

Pitching Records

Table listing pitching records for various players.

Stockdale Leads Job

Old Stockdale, last year in the Western, has become an umpire in the International to take the place of Jim Mullin, who just came to the Western.

Wood a Big Help

The comely Wood of Smoky Joe Wood has been a large help to the Boston Red Sox. Wood, who is in the Red Sox stand a good chance to cop the flag.

Doctors Advise Drinking

Men can't be cured of their heart, stomach, liver, kidney and other serious ailments until the poison of alcohol is stored up in the system is eliminated.

Pop-Pop Races and Ball Games Carded

On account of climatic conditions the big program booked for the Douglas fair grounds for last Sunday had to be postponed. Arrangements will probably be made by the Douglas County Fair association to have the auto-polo troupe here on next Saturday and Sunday. An excellent program of motorcycle races will be staged out at the grounds today, and also a pair of base ball games. The games will be between four of Omaha's crack teams, consequently a fair of class arguments are looked for.

The Hypodermic Needle

Did you ever pull it out when you were trimmed by a duffer? He leaped from trench to trench, and charged the demon, laughed at the shrieking strap, blood where gas bombs blew. Led the line in each attack, and called a rousing yell. With a vicious gas-bomb bullet, took away a piece of ear. The captain took a squirt at him, and hissed, "Who is he?" "I used to be an ump," he said, "and this is meat for me."

St. Louis fans see flag hopes fading

There is no getting around it, base ball is on the blink. The other day St. Louis fans applauded Bobby Wallace when he made his first appearance in the mound city—as an umpire.

A New York scribe writes as follows

"Giant fans see McGraw thundering down the stretch. What stretch? And what does he mean, 'down'?"

Jack Mean may have beaten Ty Cobb's record

Jack Mean may have beaten Ty Cobb's record for hits made in consecutive games, but he isn't anybody else can touch Heinie Sim's record in consecutive hits with unpros.

Who'll cop the rag in the W. L. I.

is, of course, a query no one can tell. But we have a hunch this man is well.

While our own dear Bourgeois in the mad pell-mell

Have scoured for all the old death knell. These bleachers' boosters are reliable.

Mr. H. D. Bertch, who labors diligently as boss of the day telegraph does on our daily masthead, slipped up this exclusive information the other day. He says that the most prominent Nebraskaers are as follows in the following order: Sam Crawford. Grover Cleveland Alexander. Prof Stecher. Joe Lawrence Brunner. W. J. Bryan.

And for a reck-on, he's called the tira.

Now that the day's, tell it done we will proceed to grandfustnicholas for home.

Keller to Giants.

The Picturesque club has sold First Base-ump Joe Kelley to the New York National club.

Indiana Sign Called.

The Cleveland club has signed Catcher Colgan of the defunct Ho Grande association.

Burge Gets Job.

Winston-Salem has released Pitcher Burge, and Asheville has signed him.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also a title holder. Clarence J. Griffith, former national clay court champion and Ward Dawson, the latest and youngest of the Pacific coast players, are new entries in the national competitions.

McLaughlin, the sensational champion; Thomas C. Bundy, one time champion, and William M. Johnston, also