Board Wants Coal to Warm Schools

The Board of Education wants $,300 tons I coal, more or less, to keep 27,600 children warm in fifty-two school buildings in Greater Omaha during the coming winter. Bids will be opened at 2 o'clock, September 15, at the office of the secretary of the board on the fifth floor of the city hall.

The estimate of $,500 tons is based on what was used guring the last school year. Approximately 300 tons of the amount will be anthracite coal.

The school officials are making the specifications more elastic this year, enabling dealers who happen to be located near any school or group of schools an opportunity to bid according to their advantages of location.

A coal inspector will be appointed by the board next Tuesday evening. This new employe will be expected to direct the firing of coal according to approved methods; also to see that coal is received according to contracts. He will work during the summer time on the heating plants of the schools. Tests of the coal for heat units will be made during the season.

Sues Grocer for Explosion of Stove

Pearl Baker has filed suit against Se bastiano Pattavina and Sebastiana Pattavina who keep a grocery store at 1100 South Thirteenth street, asking damages

She says that on August 8 she asked her neighbor, Mrs. A. Douglas, to buy her a gallon of gasoline; that Mrs. Douglas went to the Pattavina grocery store with a can marked in red letters "gasoline;" that there was a girl of about 9 years in charge of the store; that the girl by mistake filled the can with kerosene and that when the plaintiff filled her stove with the kerosene, which she "champions" consisted of a party of thought to be gasoline and ignited it, an explosion occurred, from which she suffered various injuries.
