By MELLIFICIA. Friday, September 24, 1915.

I GUESS Diogenes searching for an honest man had no greater task than a leading knight of Ak-Sar-Ben, who is seeking the Omaha woman who has made, in making or expects to make her own gown for the Ak-Sar-Ben ball.

The discussion was anent the wearing of made-in-Omaha gowns, the rumor having been to the effect that King Ak-Sar-Ben would follow the lead of his royal neighbor, the Velled Prophet, and bar from his court any lady who purchased her court robes elsewhere.

"Making sure they are made in Omaha is not half as important as that they be made by the wearer herself," declared the knight, opening up wide vistas of father wading through a heap of dressmakers' bills the first of the month.

And let it be known that local modistes are absolutely swamped with the onrush of orders for Ak-Sar-Ben fineries to be created, so one cannot but be impressed with the loyalty our women are showing to the true spirit of Ak-Sar-Ben by having their gowns made in Omaha.

In the past it has been the custom more than once of the maid selected to bear the royal robes to go abroad the summer previous to choose her coronation gown, this having several times proved the clue to her identity.

With no European traveling this last summer, it is pretty safe to venture the guess that her majesty's gown and ermine are in the making right here in Quivera, and it won't suffer any by comparison, either.

Steals Hot Viands, Also Cash Register, Says 'Howdy, Judge'

James Murphy of Denver, was hungry Thursday night and passing near William Washington's lunch counter at 1213 Dodge street, entered the establishment to get the largest amount of viands obtainable for a double litney.

"Wash" was in the back room talking war, while his victuals remained unguarded. James entered and spying no one, snared two hot catfish, which he stowed in coat pockets, four brains, and a pair of nicely roasted chickens. He left immediately and had reached Thirtieth and Capitol avenues when a large gathering of colored folk surrounded him with quivering nostrils, and plaintive tones. "Maan, Ma-an, whea in the Wor! you all get that chicken!"

Murphy in a generous mood, related the circumstances, and followed by a small army, the second advance on "Wash's" commissary was begun. Ere reaching their destination, however, the supporters' nerve failed them and Murphy was forced to try his luck once again, single handed. Murphy secured two more appetizing chickens, and as a little additional swag, tucked the cash register under his arm and vanished. Officers Murphy and Rooney chanced by at this moment and the raider stopped inadvertently into their outstretched arms. In police court, Judge Foster fined Murphy $15 and costs.

FLOUR AND SUGAR CHEAPER

Best Grades of Flour Are $1.35 to $1.55 While Sugar is Eighteen Pounds for $1

PORK GOES UP CENT AND HALF

With the wheat crop on the market and new flour being used, flour has made a drop in price, both the old and the new. Old flour can be had now at retail for $1.35 and $1.55 a sack of forty-eight pounds, which is much cheaper than a few months ago when the best that could be done was $1.80 and $2 for the best grades.

Sugar is selling eighteen pounds for $1. That is also a little relief over the price sugar maintained through the thickest of the canning season.

Potatoes are 15 cents a peck. Wax and green beans are each 25 cents a market basket. Sweet potatoes are 20 cents a market basket. Tomatoes are up to 40 cents a market basket.

Good cooking apples can be had as cheap as potatoes, or 15 cents a peck. Cantaloupes are 7 1/2 cents apiece.

The last of the Utah Elberta peaches are on the market, and are especially fine and large. They are selling at 90 cents a bushel basket. California peaches are selling at 60 cents a crate.

Lemons are 20 cents a dozen and oranges are selling at the 50-cent mark.

Kiefer pears for canning purposes are selling in good quality at $1.25 a bushel basket.

Quinces are in at 20 cents to 40 cents a dozen. Pork is up $1.50 a hundred. Pork chops are selling at 25 cents. Last week they could be had at 20 cents.

Beef pot roasts are selling at a dime. Roundsteak is selling at 16 1/2 cents. Boiling beef can be had at 5 cents. Sirloin steak is a quarter and porterhouse 20 cents.

Hams are up a dollar a hundred. Even at that they are selling at 18 cents, while a year ago they sold at 21 cents at this time.

Bacon ranges from 14 cents to 24 cents, according to the grade.

Child's Savings Bank and Gas Meter Are Looted by Thieves

Burglars held another carnival last evening.

John Garrett of 2811 Douglas street reported the loss of a savings bank containing $12.50 and old coins. Entrance was gained by cutting a screen.

Jerry Bactain, 2812 Douglas street, was aroused at 1 a. m. by noises of a man trying to get from the basement to the first floor. Mr. Bactain gave a loud yell and the intruder made a hasty departure.

During the absence of members of the family of A. Johnson, 1112 South Eleventh street, a thief took $9.50 from a gas meter and a purse with $2 from the back of a picture.

Saturday Shoe Sale AT KILPATRICK'S

"I'll throw off my old brogues And shake hands with the spade, And go to the fair Like a jolly old blade."

We used to call shoes BROGUES in our boyhood days, and perhaps after all it was a more fitting name than the word SHOES, as applied to the various makes and styles. Shoe, indeed, was originally intended to apply to a foot covering reaching only to the ankles. My, how numerous the fashions and follies in shoes. From the Clog and Sabot, to the Boot and Buskin, elaborate contrivances bebugled and bedecked to the finer elegance which "needs not the foreign aid of ornament."

These Shoes at This Sale Are Mainly Boots

New this season, the "Last word" so to speak, in footery elegance—$5.00 and $6.00 qualities—

$3.95 Per Pair Saturday

To those who know the words "MAKER BAKER" will speak volumes—(AT THE START OF THE SEASON, TOO). Mr. Tuttle has hired special salesmen to give you attention—BUT WON'T YOU COME IN THE MORNING, PLEASE? An old Scot friend of ours used to say: "Getting up in the morning airily, is no for me." His wife, however, was an early riser, indeed all the household members were early birds. It's the wives and the sisters and the cousins and the aunts that this sale is for. We want to fit you, foot comfort means constant customers. We wouldn't give a fig for just one sale. This is intended to be a real homey store. "MORE FOR LESS" builds business.
