

VETERANS MARCH DOWN THE AVENUE

President Wilson Reviews Parade of Grand Army from Stand in Front of White House.

TWENTY THOUSAND IN LINE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—All that remains of the union army of 200,000 which fifty years ago passed in review before President Johnson, marched up Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the White House today and was reviewed by President Wilson. Thousands banked along the line of march cheered the veterans. Confederate veterans in the crowd did some hearty cheering, too. Scenes of patriotic enthusiasm marked the passage of the veterans at President Wilson's stand. Frequently the president waved his hat to the old soldiers. The cheering in reviewing stand in front of the White House was almost constant.

As a life and drum corps of veterans passed playing "The Band of the Flag, Boys" many in the president's stand joined in singing the chorus. As each contingent swung along applause broke out afresh and many of the old soldiers responded to the president's greeting by waving flags.

Several Veterans Exhausted. Tired by the march from the capitol to the White House, a little more than a mile, veterans looked exhausted when they reached the president's stand. Many leaned upon younger and more robust comrades.

The president stood throughout the entire review, removing his hat each time an American flag passed.

The procession was headed by Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, retired, who upon his arrival before the White House dismounted and joined the president in the reviewing stand. Behind him were detachments of regular soldiers, sailors and militia. Sons of Veterans followed, and directly behind them, led by the United States Marine band, came the first of the old soldiers.

The parade began to move soon after 10 o'clock and was more than two hours passing. As it progressed some of the older veterans dropped out of the line. The old soldiers marched nearly in the center of the broad avenue, while the ambulances spun along on both sides.

Considering the advanced age of the men there were few exhaustions. The marching distance had been shortened as much as possible and the weather was ideal.

File Popular with Spectators. A veteran file and drum corps got most applause from the crowds. There were times when the shrill tones of the files sounded a little weak, but that made no difference to the crowds. One corps was followed by a single old soldier marching, equipped just as he had marched fifty years ago, his knapsack and blanket strapped to his back.

On his shoulder he carried the same musket he used throughout the war. From the standpoint of the old soldier, today's parade was the greatest event of the forty-ninth annual encampment. Having marched in the parade, he is ready to go home happy.

At the treasury, where the swinging columns could be seen coming up the avenue, cheering was loud and prolonged. The older of the veterans doffed their caps or hats. Others, however, who considered themselves younger, answered the applause by stepping around the street every now and then just to show that they were still spry and active.

President's Cheer Banner. The paraders themselves cheered as they rounded the corner, at the north end of the treasury, where a big banner stretched across the street bore Lincoln's commendation of the soldier:

"There is one debt this nation can never repay—the one it owes to the defenders of the union."

The banner was a duplicate of one that hung across Pennsylvania avenue in the same location during the review of '65.

Several sections of the veterans gave their battle cries and sang their battle songs as they passed before the stand. Others gave cheers. One section sang "Marching Through Georgia" as they tramped along.

Seated near the president was Chief Justice White, himself a confederate veteran. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, and J. J. Jusserand, the French ambassador were also near the president.

down town district are more extensive and attractive this year than ever before. The city is fairly covered with "welcome" flags and the red, green and yellow banners and bunting of Quiver's reign, while the city streets will have thousands more incandescent lights than formerly.

The chief public buildings are gay with the colors of the season, or else are now in process of decoration. Fifteenth street, from Douglas to the main carnival entrance at Howard street, will be a brilliant "white way" at night.

A crowd early filled the streets of the carnival, while final work of getting the attractions ready for the public are still being done. There are so many attractions in the Wortham show that two of them could not find room and had to be omitted.

Public Place. A large public rest space is a new feature of the grounds this year. The Home Garden has been added to the grounds and will be used for that purpose.

The carnival hospital, which was a valuable feature last year, will again be conducted on the grounds, adjoining the office and main entrance. Several doctors belonging to Ak-Sar-Ben will form the hospital staff, and with a trained nurse will take turns administering first aid to sick persons, lost children and folks with "confetti eyes." If such attention should be needed.

The carnival staff consists of J. "Dad" Weaver, the "Samson" of King Ak-Sar-Ben's court; Fred Schmal, superintendent; Charles J. Karbach, assistant superintendent, who is also in charge of the two big parades; Ed Palmer, cashier; W. H. Swift, auditor; Don Coffey, time-keeper; Police Sergeant Russell is chief of police of the carnival, and has a large force of special officers under him.

Admission to the grounds will be 10 cents to either adults or children, except on one or two special children's days, to be designated later.

ATTACK IS MADE UPON WILL OF CHARLES HIGGINS

FAIRBURY, Neb., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—Objections to the last will and testament of Charles W. Higgins, deceased, were filed in probate court with Judge L. J. Nutsman yesterday by Mrs. Mary M. Higgins. Mr. Higgins was a wealthy retired Jefferson county farmer and moved to California several years ago. He died last summer and distributed an estate valued at $24,000. Mr. Higgins made a provision in the will to erect a mausoleum in the Fairbury cemetery at a cost of $5,000 to hold the bodies of the Higgins family. Relatives object to the erection of this costly mausoleum.

In 1885 Mr. Higgins started his friends by announcing he would never marry until William J. Bryan entered the White House. Shortly after the Nebraska statesman became premier he married a woman from South Dakota and removed to Los Angeles, Cal. A year ago an operation was performed to save his life. A young man was strapped to Mr. Higgins and his blood infused into the body of the sick man to save his life. The operation was successful and he lived some time thereafter.

William Shies His Castor. YORK, Neb., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—M. R. Widman has decided to make the race for the nomination of district judge. This, the Fifth judicial district, comprises York, Hamilton, Seward, Polk, Butler and Saunders counties. The present judges in the district are Judge Concoran of this city and Judge Good of Wahoo. It is understood that both of these gentlemen will be candidates for re-election.

ITALIAN WARSHIP SUNK BY EXPLOSION

Battleship Benedetto Brin Goes Down with About Three Hundred Members of Its Crew.

TWO BRITISH TRANSPORTS SUNK

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A dispatch from the Stefani News Agency of Rome says that the Italian battleship Benedetto Brin sank following an explosion which resulted from the fire on board the vessel. The cause of the disaster has not been ascertained. The announcement last night of the explosion on the Benedetto Brin did not make it clear whether the vessel had gone down. It was said eight officers and 379 marines had been saved. Something over 300 men still are unaccounted for.

Engineer Sinks Transport. BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—The sinking of a British transport with the loss of all but a few members of the crew, is reported in a despatch from Constantinople to the Overseas News agency.

"A special despatch from Constantinople gives reports about Mohammedan trouble in India," says the news agency. "It says that a British transport was sunk by a Mohammedan engineer, who died with the troops. Only a few members of the crew escaped."

This is the second report of the sinking of a British transport with Indian troops. An Athens despatch earlier today said that the Ramazan had been sunk by a submarine. It is possible that the two despatches are different versions of the same incident.

ATHENS, Sept. 29.—(Via London, Sept. 29.)—The Greek government has released the Sikhs and Gourkas who were survivors of the British transport Ramazan, which was sunk by a submarine. They were sent immediately to Malta on the Messageries Maritimes steamer Sboni. Many of them had no opportunity even to obtain clothing.

There has been no previous announcement of the sinking of the Ramazan, a steamer of 3,677 tons. The Ramazan evidently was carrying Indian troops, either to the Gallipoli peninsula or to France.

SARONVILLE FORMALLY OPENS NEW TOWN HALL

SARONVILLE FORMALLY OPENS NEW TOWN HALL

SARONVILLE, Neb., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—The new town hall of Saronville was formally opened to the public last night before a crowd which taxed the capacity of the new building. H. G. Wellensiek, an attorney from Harvard, made the principal address of the evening. He spoke on the subject of "Community Co-Operation," laying special emphasis on the influence of the home, and in the course of his address complimented the people of Saronville for the spirit manifested in this enterprise.

The Saronville band furnished music and several special numbers by local talent were rendered in a pleasing manner. This building was built by local people, the money being subscribed by the business men of Saronville and the farmers of the surrounding country. It is modern, in every respect and is a credit to the town.

Nujol A PURE WHITE MINERAL OIL Why Your Doctor Prescribes Nujol for Constipation LAXATIVES can very easily do a great deal of harm. Nujol can do no harm, because it is not absorbed into the system, but acts simply as a mechanical lubricant. Laxatives give only a temporary relief, and by their after-effects aggravate the very condition they are meant to cure. Nujol is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant. Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity. Write for "The Rational Treatment of Constipation," an informative treatise on constipation. If you cannot get Nujol from your druggist, we will send a pint bottle prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.
