Sunday Says Atonement Is Cause of Religious Arguments

Ray, W. A. Sunday preached last night is going on. It's the plan of life every on "The Atonement." He said:
"For if the blood of bulls and goats | Jesus gave His life on the cross for any and the ashes of a helier springling the who will believe. We're not redeemed by federal plum tree, folks may have to unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of silver or gold. Jesus paid for it with His wait for the hig fight to find out whether the flesh" (Paul argued in his letter to blood. A good deal of hymnology and these favored democrats line up with works to serve God?"

This is a lesson instead of a text. My sermon tonight is topical, not textical. ligious arguments have been fought over It is. You take the blood of Jesus Christ on his recommendation. The exception this than all others. Now and then when man gets a new idea of it, he goes and starts a new denomination. He has a denominations that do not interpret as he does. Our denominations have multiplied by this menthod until it would give one brain fever to try to count them all, but I can name on the fingers of my hands all of the denominations that believe in the atoning power of the blood of Jeaus Christ as the only means of salvation, so at one sweep of the sword of the spirit. I have decapitated 90 per cent of the others and swept them on the junk heap where they belong. God never intended to give you a picture of the world in one panoramic view. From the time of Adam and Eve down to the time Jesus Christ hung on the cross He was unfolding His views. When I see Moses leading the people out of bondage where they for years had bared their backs to the taskmaster's lash, when I see the lowing herds and the high, sins with his blood. The doctrine of priest standing before the alter severing the jugular vein of the rams and the builocks until Christ cried out from the cross, "It is fin shed," God was preparing the picture for the consummation of it in the atoning blood of Jesus Christ. A sinner has no standing with God. God became reconciled with the world only through Jesus Christ. If the sinner comes through Jesus Christ, he can shake hands with God under the cross. God and the sinner must meet through Christ or not at all.

I have sometimes thought that Adam and Eve didn't understand as fully as what are you going to do, you that de we do when the Lord said: "Eat and spise the plan of redemption? He that you surely shall die. They had never despised Moses' law died without mercy seen anyone die. They might have under two or three witnesses. He was on crutches, with you and your ideas of what is right. Do you think God is coming down here and consult you with your great intellect and wonderful brain, and find out He murdered mamma. Papa was good what you think is right before He does it?"

He said, "But I can't believe that the innocent must suffer with the guilty; about it? As for me and my house, we it isn't justice." Great God, man! We're not looking for justice; it's mercy we're crying for. If we'd had justice, we would have all been in hell long ago. As for your opinion, what does it amount to in the sight of God? Your opinion doesn't count anything with the laws of Nebraska. They're supreme. Men go to the penitentiary sometimes because of their opinion.

I have read a great deal-not everything, mind you, for a man would go "bughouse" if he tried to read everything-but I have read a good deal that has been written against the atonement from the infidel standpoint-Voltaire, Huxley, Spencer, Didereau, Volney, Bradlaugh, Paine, on down to Bob Inrersoll-and I have never found an argunent that would stand the test of comnon sense and common reasoning. And f any one tells me he has tossed on the scrapheap the plan of atonement by blood, I say, "What have you to offer that is better?" And until they can show me something that is better I'll nail my opes to the cross. You say you don't believe in the innocent suffering for the ruilty. Then I say to you, you haven't seen life as I have seen it up and down the country. The innocent suffer with the guilty, by the guilty and for the guilty. Look at that old mother waiting with trembling heart for the son has brought into the world And see him come reeling and staggering to bed, while his mother prays and weeps and sonks the pillow with her tears over her godless boy Who suffers most?

Waits for Man She Loves, Look at that young wife, waiting for the man whose name she bears, and whose face is woven in the fiber of her heart. The man she loves, and walts for him in fright, and when he comes, recking from the stench of the breaking of his marriage vows, from the arms of infamy, who suffers most?

Who suffers most, that woman mancuring her nails over a washboard to keep the little brood together, or that drunken burn in Bridewell getting his just deserts from his acts? You have only to be the wife of a man like that confidence of her love, I beseech you to know whether or not the innocent suffer with the guilty.

So when you don't like the plan of redemption because the innocent suffer with the guilty, I say you don't know what Bee "For Rent."
