So many out-of-town visitors are already here or coming soon to attend the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities that all Omaha hotels will be crowded throughout the week and many extra rooms in private houses will be needed for the throng.

Ak-Sar-Ben's free information bureau at Fifteenth and Harney streets already has a list of 400 rooms, and will give service without charge in locating the visitors in comfortable rooms near the carnival while they are here.

Omaha's having rooms for rent that are not yet listed at the information bureau are urged to list them at once, so the bureau may have ample accommodations for the crowds. The bureau phone number is Douglas 3312.

Here is One Woman Who Can Drive Nail

Miss Bertha Lichnovsky, clerk in the Recreation board office in the city hall, has demonstrated her ability to drive nails without smashing her fingers or breaking one of the commandments.

While putting nails for the winter a lot of summer play apparatus it was necessary to drive some nails. Superintendent English was busy moving his household effects to a new location, so she set herself to the task and drove the nails as straight as a skilled carpenter.

Secretary Carlson of Commissioner Hummel's office and Assistant Park Superintendent Redman watched the young woman with interest. They offered to assist, but she refused their aid.

Mich Lichnovsky says she can handle a saw and does not reason why a woman should not know how to drive a nail or saw a board.

Ak-Sar-Ben Balloon is On Display Again

After being damaged by the wind last week, the Ak-Sar-Ben dirigible balloon at the carnival grounds has been repaired and is again inflated and on exhibition there.

It is one of the free attractions. Governors Gould Dietz and Randall K. Brown purchased it at an army sale.

Balloonist Huntley is scheduled to make daily ascensions with his spherical gas bag and stage an aerial bombardment of the city. If weather conditions are favorable, he will go up every afternoon at 4 o'clock.

"Careless" Kennedy's sensational slide for life will occur every evening at 9 o'clock. With gasoline flames leaping from his asbestos clothing, he will slide from the top of the City National bank building over the King's highway to the Savoy hotel, while hanging from a thin wire by a rubber bit gripped between his teeth.

DEACON BREWSTER DIES AT HOME IN IRVINGTON

IRVINGTON, Neb., Oct. 4.—Deacon R. C. Brewster, pioneer of this state and actively identified with the Congregational church, died at the age of 83, following a stroke of paralysis.

He was born in New York state and at the age of 19 went to California, returning to his native state and later coming to settle in Nebraska. He arrived here in a wagon during 1858. In 1862 he was married to Sarah Taylor, daughter of the Rev. Taylor, pioneer Congregationalist of this state.

As member of the state legislature in the early days he drove to Lincoln in a wagon. Mrs. Brewster and four children, Mrs. G. T. Joyce of Crete, Neb.; Mrs. Carl S. Hibbard of Omaha; Clarence Brewster of Benson and Ernest Brewster of Oklahoma, are the surviving members of the family.

Funeral services will be held at the Congregational church Tuesday at 2:30. Burial will in Mount Hope cemetery.

After being appointed to Annapolis by Congressman Schellenberger and coming to Omaha for physical examination, Allan D. Blackledge of Red Cloud found that he would not be physically eligible to the national navy school without submitting to a minor operation. He decided to have the operation performed in order to enter the academy.

TO CUT OUT NOISE ON CONCERT NIGHT

Governor Black Promises Zone of Quiet Around Auditorium for the Symphony Orchestra.

PROGRAM OF MUCH EXCELLENCE

Innumerable suggestions both in person and by mail have come to the retailers committee in charge of the Charity Concert course, whose first concert will be the Boston Symphony orchestra, at the Auditorium on next Thursday evening, in regard to abating the noises on the carnival grounds during the program.

Mr. Charles E. Black, chairman of the entertainment committee of Ak-Sar-Ben, has arranged for absolute quiet as far as disturbing elements on the carnival grounds are concerned, and in an interview yesterday stated most emphatically that those in attendance at the concert will not be disturbed in the least from outside sources.

Boston Symphony Program.

The program which Dr. Karl Muck has arranged for the concert to be given Thursday evening, October 7, by the Boston Symphony Orchestra is one of unusual charm, one which contains many masterpieces. The composers represented are Beethoven, Wagner, Rimsky-Korsakoff, Liszt and Liszt, wherein one sees two of the greatest masters of Germany, the greatest technical master of Russia, the man who in some respects may be regarded as the greatest talent of French music and Hungary's greatest genius.

Beethoven is represented by his symphony in A major, No. 7, the work which Wagner called "the apotheosis of the dance." The first sketches of this symphony were made probably before 1810, or even 1810. The composition was begun in the spring of 1812 and the work published in 1813. The first performance of the symphony was in Vienna in the large hall of the university December 8, 1812. It had an enormous success.

Wagner on Beethoven.

In his "The Art Work of the Future," Richard Wagner said of this symphony: "To give his tone-shapes that same compactness, that directly cognizable and physically sure stability, which he witnessed with such blessed solace in Nature's own phenomena—this was the soul of the joyous impulse which created for us that glorious work, the Symphony in A-major. All tumult, all yearning and storming of the heart, become here the blissful incidence of joy, which matches itself away with incalculable might and bears us through the roomy space of nature, through all the streams and seas of life, shouting in glad self-consciousness as we tread throughout the universe the daring measures of this human sphere-space. This symphony is the apotheosis of dance itself; it is dance in its highest aspect, as it were the loftiest degree of bodily motion incorporated in an ideal mould of tone."

Other Great Numbers.

The Wagner number will be the brilliant and dramatic overture of his earlier opera, "The Flying Dutchman." Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Caprice on Spanish Themes" is a most remarkable orchestral tour de force in which the Russian, despite his antecedents and his national traits, reproduces most wonderfully the atmosphere of the dance halls of Seville.

Liszt is represented by the first suite from the exquisite music he wrote for Daudet's play, "L'Arlesienne," while the final number on the program, "Les Preludes," is the finest of Liszt's symphonic poems.

Rules for Autos During the Parades

Captain of Police Michael Dempsey announces the following rules that will be in vogue during the Ak-Sar-Ben parades, this afternoon and Wednesday night. Motorists and occupants of all conveyances take notice:

On Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets from Douglas to Harney cars will not be parked in the middle of the street, as usual, but will line the curb and face toward Farnam. This rule will also hold forth on Nineteenth street north of Farnam. South of Farnam on Nineteenth the street will be kept open.

No parking along the line of march will be countenanced during either parade. At 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, every vehicle on the line of march will be forced to enter the nearest cross street.

Cars that have no occupants and are found untenanted on the line of march will be moved by officials into the cross streets, regardless of the whereabouts of the owner.

"If these rules are observed," said Captain Dempsey, "a great deal of trouble will be avoided, and owners will not be forced to spend time in searching for their machines, buggies or wagons after the parade has past."

MAYOR URGES BUSINESS MEN TO CLOSE TUESDAY

Mayor James C. Dahlman has issued a proclamation urging the business men of Omaha to close their establishments for a part of this afternoon so that their employees may view the Ak-Sar-Ben floral parade. The proclamation is as follows:

Wednesday, September 23, there entered within our borders his most Highness King Ak-Sar-Ben the Twelfth First Tuesday, October 5, is the day of the autumnal parade, when the king's subjects will parade in all the gorgeousness of the flower kingdom, and as citizens of the City of Omaha, it is our duty to appreciate the efforts put forth for our entertainment, by dispensing with business on the afternoon of October 5. Therefore, I, James C. Dahlman, mayor of the city of Omaha, do hereby urge, and request that the business men of Omaha, close their places of business for at least a portion of the afternoon on Tuesday, October 5, that their employees may view the parade.

Women May Be Strong. and enjoy life whether in the home or business world if they can keep at bay those ailments peculiar to their sex. If every woman realized how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy, made from roots and herbs, goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes such symptoms as backache, headache, nervousness, and irritability, they would be healthier, happier and stronger. If you suffer from any form of female ills why don't you try it? It will pay you to do so.—Advertisement.

Butler and Hummel Have Spat in the City Council Hall

City Commissioners Hummel and Butler engaged in another bloodless battle during a meeting of the city council committee of the whole.

"You're just peevish," said Hummel. "I am not peevish. I just want things run in a businesslike way," retorted Butler.

"You're not the whole city commission, nor you can't be bigger than any one commissioner," was the next broadside from the Hummel trenches.

"Well, I'm going to see that things are done according to law," was the counter blow.

"You are butting into other departments, I don't butt into your department, do I?"

"That's what we are here for, to butt into each other's department when we see things going wrong."

"Well, don't butt into my department." "I will." "You won't." "I will."

"You won't." "You will." "You won't."

The trouble was over the failure of the Recreation board, of which Commissioner Hummel is chairman, to send in the names of a few employes for confirmation by the city council.

TO LAY CORNERSTONE OF FIRST PREBYTERIAN SOON

Within a week or two, the cornerstone of the new First Presbyterian church, Thirty-fourth and Farnam streets, will be laid. It will mark another step in the growth of the city and its churches.

A committee, consisting of the pastor, Rev. Edwin Hart Jones, and the church treasurer, H. A. Doud, is now arranging the details for the cornerstone laying and trying to select a suitable date. A large copper box has already been partly filled with papers and records, and will be placed within the cornerstones at part of the ceremony.

BIGGEST THING OF KIND IN OMAHA

Local People Rushed Through-out Saturday and Monday to Obtain Premier Preparation.

Demand for Tanlac Already Great—Ingredients come From Remote Countries.

The demand in Omaha for Tanlac, the new preparation that is accomplishing such surprising results in so many instances of stomach, kidney and catarrhal troubles in the larger cities, is already great and is steadily increasing. All day Saturday, as well as Monday, a continuous stream of people visited the Sherman & McConnell Drug company's store, sixteenth and Dodge streets, to inquire about the medicine, to see how the preparation was distributed, and to learn just what Tanlac actually looks like. Many had their minds all made up and simply said: "I want Tanlac." The beginning of the introduction of Tanlac was therefore the biggest thing of the kind ever before seen in Omaha.

In this connection, the Sherman & McConnell Drug Company said: "We have secured the exclusive sale and distribution of Tanlac in Omaha and, judging from the reports which have preceded the preparation from other cities, where Tanlac is now in large demand, we feel that we have been, indeed, fortunate in securing the agency for this medicine.

"The policy of our store, which is well known to everyone, has always been one of liberal conservatism. We first believe in investigating a preparation, and if it is a meritorious one, to lend our encouragement to its exploitation. The best is just good enough.

"Tanlac, while a new preparation, comes to us with a reputation of real merit. Leading druggists in the cities where the medicine has been introduced, state that the sale of Tanlac has been unprecedented.

"The Taylor-Isaacs Drug Company of Louisville, Ky., recently sold thirty-five sand bottles of Tanlac within a period of ninety days. When it is considered that the demand is confined to one preparation such a sale must be due to one thing—merit."

John A. Bornhauser, who is in Omaha directing the introduction of Tanlac, said:

"It is just as we expected. No one should be surprised by the tremendous demand for Tanlac after it is taken into consideration that the ingredients, or medicinal elements, which make Tanlac, come from many remote sections of the earth, such as the Alps, Appennines, Pyrenees, Russian Asia, Europe, Jamaica, Brazil, West Indies, Persia, India, England, France, Germany, Mexico, Columbia and Peru.

"In our principal laboratory, under the efficient direction of Joseph Trimbach, a native German chemist, these medicinal herbs, barks, roots and flowers are assembled in the rough and painstakingly developed so as to obtain that high standard of efficiency shown by the uniform preparation Tanlac.

"In sterilized bottles made expressly for the purpose, Tanlac is placed, labeled and cartoned. The preparation is inspected again, and then packed for shipment to points over the world where the demand requires it. A success will grow steadily greater."—Advertisement.

Valuable Discovery in Com-lexion B autifier

Because of its peculiar power of absorption, also because it serves every emollient purpose, ordinary mercurized wax is perhaps the most valuable complexion beautifier discovered within recent years. If one uses this she needs no toilet cream, skin use powder afterward, but this is not necessary. This rule for applying mercurized wax has been found very satisfactory. Wash the face with warm water, drying lightly. Before thoroughly dry, anoint the face with the wax, but don't rub it in. The favorite way is to use before retiring, allowing it to remain on all night and washing it off in the morning with warm water. All druggists have this wax in original one-ounce packages. For the removal of a wrinkled or flabby condition there's nothing better than to bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered asphaltum in 4 pint witch hazel. Beneficial results are quickly noticeable.—Advertisement.

In what way CAN Nebraskans boost for their state and themselves to a better advantage than by boosting for Omaha-Made goods.

This week, while your out-in-the-state guests are here, bring home to them the importance of Omaha's factories. Be loyal to your city—talk, use and serve Omaha-Made goods. Send your guests home with an appreciation of Omaha manufacturing industries. And then they, too, will boost for our home enterprises.
