

TURK ATROCITIES ARE UNEQUALLED

Acts of Slaughter, Robbery, Outraging Women, Torture in Armenia Surpass All Crimes.

WHOLE VILLAGES DEPORTED

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Documentary evidence of the atrocities inflicted by the Turks upon the Armenians was made public tonight by the committee formed by Charles R. Crane, Cleveland H. Dodge and others to investigate the acts of the Armenian massacres, and which also is taking steps to aid sufferers.

The committee states that the evidence was collected from sources that are unquestioned as to veracity and authority of the writers, but for obvious reasons their names cannot be given and in most cases names of towns and cities must be concealed.

Quotations are given in the committee's report from twenty-four sources, some of which describe in detail instances where Armenians have been put to death, women violated and children slaughtered, or robbery, torture and death by starvation, and of terrible privations endured in long marches to the deserted regions to which the Armenians have been exiled—crimes described by the committee surpassing "in their horror and cruelty anything that history has recorded in the last 1,000 years."

Killing of Males. "The idea of direct attack and massacre, carried out in former times," says one authority, writing under date of August 3, "has been altered somewhat in that the men and boys have been deported in great numbers and disappeared en route and later on the women and children have been made to follow. For some time stories have been prevalent from travelers arriving from the interior of the killing of the males and of great numbers of bodies along the roadsides and floating in the Euphrates river; of the delivery to the Kurds by the gendarmes accepting the convoys of women and children, of all the younger members of the parties; of unthinkable outrages committed by the Kurds and Kurds, and even the killing of many victims."

"At first these stories were not given much credence, but as many of the refugees now are arriving, no doubt longer remains of the truth of the matter."

Describing under date of June 26, the wholesale deportation of 25,000 Armenian inhabitants of Zeitoun to the Konish region, Aleppo and places in Mesopotamia, one writer gives the text of the Turkish government order giving orders for the expulsions.

The Turkish Order. "It reads: 'The commanders of army, of independent army corps and of divisions of the army, in case of military necessity and in case they suspect espionage or treason, will send away, either singly or in mass, the inhabitants of villages or towns and install them in other places.'"

Whole villages were deported at an hour's notice, says the writer, with no opportunity to prepare for the journey, not even in some cases to gather together the scattered members of the family, so many little children were left behind.

Driven with Whip. In many cases, says the writer, the men were bound tightly together with ropes and chains. Women with little children in their arms, or in the last days of pregnancy, were driven along under the whip like cattle.

her writer tells of the cruel use of the bastinado in a certain prison where Armenians were held.

"At the time of the Romans," he writes, "forty strokes were administered at the very most; in this place, however, 50, 60, 70 and even 80 strokes were administered."

"A young man was beaten to death within the space of five minutes."

Another authority describes the use of the bastinado and fire torture in the efforts of the Turkish authorities in an unnamed town to extract information as to arms in the possession of the Armenians inhabiting the town.

and girls were thus carried off to the mountains, among them my sister, whose 1-year-old baby they threw away. A Turk picked it up and carried it off, I knew not where.

Throw Children in River. "The worst and most unimaginable horrors were reserved for us at the banks of the Euphrates and in the Erzingan plain. The mutilated bodies of women, girls and little children made everybody shudder. The bandmen were doing all sorts of awful deeds to the women and girls that were with us and whose cries went up to heaven. At the Euphrates the bandmen and gendarmes threw into the river all the remaining children under 15 years of age."

Rockefeller Goes to Church and Then Takes Ride in Auto

DENVER, Oct. 4.—Church in the morning, an automobile ride in the afternoon and a night spent at the ranch of J. F. Webber, president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company made up the Sunday program for John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The mine owner attended the First Baptist church, where he attracted little notice, being in fact, almost unrecognized.

Awakens to Witness Murder of Laborer in Front of House

John Powers, awakened by loud voices, looked out of the window of his home at Thirty-second and S streets, South Side, last night and saw one of three men fall another of the trio with several blows of a board he took from a picket fence.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, as it should be, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

BRITISH ARMY IS PRAISED BY KING

Monarch Congratulates Forces on Their Achievements in Recent Offensive.

DEFINITE STAGE IS REACHED

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE (Via London), Oct. 4.—The following special orders of the day have been issued by Field Marshal Sir John French:

"The field marshal, commander-in-chief, has received the following message from the king, dated September 30, 1918: 'I heartily congratulate you and all ranks of my army under your command upon the success which has attended your gallant efforts since the commencement of the combined attack. I recognize that this strenuous, determined fighting is but the prelude to greater deeds and further victories. I trust the sick and wounded are doing well.' (Signed.) 'GEORGE R. AND L.'"

Reply to the King. "The following reply has been sent to his majesty: 'Your majesty's forces in France are deeply grateful for your majesty's most gracious message. There is no sacrifice, the troops are not prepared to make to uphold the honor and traditions of your majesty's army and to secure a final and complete victory.' (Signed.) 'J. D. P. FRENCH, Field Marshal.'"

"The field marshal, commander-in-chief has received the following message from Earl Kitchener, dated September 27, 1918: 'My warmest congratulations to you and all serving under you on the substantial success you have achieved, and my best wishes for progress in your important operations.' (Signed.) 'KITCHENER.'"

Gain Vimy Ridge. "The French army on our immediate right has been heavily opposed, but has brilliantly succeeded in securing an important position known as the Vimy ridge. The operations of the British forces have been most successful and have had great and important results. On the morning of September 25 the First and Fourth corps attacked and recaptured the enemy's first and most powerful line of entrenchments, extending from our extreme right flank at Grassy to a point north of the Hohenzollern redoubt, for a distance of 4,500 yards. This position was exceptionally strong, consisting of a double line, which included some large redoubts and a network of trenches and a bombproof shelter. Dugouts were constructed at short intervals all along the line, some of them being large caves thirty feet below the ground. Eleven thousand men in general reserve and the Third cavalry division were subsequently thrown into the fight and held the Twenty-eighth division. After the vicissitudes attendant upon every great fight, the enemy's line and second line posts were taken. A commanding position known as Hill No. 73, in advance of Loos, was finally captured and a strong line established and consolidated in close proximity to the German third and last line. The main operations south of the La Bassée canal were much facilitated and assisted by subsidiary attacks delivered by the Third and Indian corps and the troops of the second army. Great help also was rendered the operations by the Fifth corps east of Ypres, during which some important captures were made. 'We also are much indebted to Vice Admiral Bacon and our naval comrades for the valuable co-operation of the fleet. 'Our captures have amounted to over 3,000 prisoners and some twenty-five guns, besides many machine guns and a quantity of war material. 'Suffers Heavy Losses. 'The enemy has suffered heavy losses, particularly in many counter attacks by which he has vainly endeavored to wrest back captured positions, but which have all been gallantly repulsed by our troops. 'I desire to express to the army under my command my deep appreciation of the splendid work they have accomplished and my heartfelt thanks for the brilliant leadership displayed by General Sir Douglas Haig and the corps and divisional commanders who acted under his orders in the main attack. In the same spirit of admiration and gratitude I wish particularly to comment upon the magnificent spirit, indomitable courage and dogged tenacity displayed by the troops of the old and new army and the territorialists, who have vied with one another in the heroic conduct displayed throughout the battle and by the officers and non-commissioned officers. 'I feel the utmost confidence and assurance that the same glorious spirit which has been so marked a feature throughout the first phase of this great battle will continue until our efforts are crowned by final and complete victory. 'J. D. P. FRENCH, Field Marshal, Commander-in-Chief British Army in the Field. 'September 29, 1918.'"

Dog Brings Troupe of Actors to Station

A dog's life is a hard thing to lead, declare several members of the Al Johnson troupe, which closed its engagement Saturday night at the Boyd. After the closing show, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dauber boarded a Harney car, with their pet terrier in a grip. It whined. The conductor demanded that they get off and hire a jitney. The actors refused. C. W. McDonald, another member of the troupe, added his objections. The conductor called Policeman G. E. Knutson, and the officer tried to argue them off the car. Somehow or other, the policeman, the dog, the actors and the car crew got into a mixup on the street, and the net outcome was a large lump on Dauber's head, raised by the copper's club. When the actors were brought to the station on a charge of disorderly conduct and resisting an officer, Captain Heifeld decided that their offense was not large enough to warrant making them miss their train, which left within a few minutes, and he allowed them to go on their own recognizance.

WOUND DROP ALL CASES IN WHICH EVIDENCE WEAK

DENVER, Oct. 4.—The Colorado Fuel and Iron company would welcome an amnesty regarding the offenses growing out of the coal miners' strike of 1913-14, according to a statement by J. F. Webber, president of the company. Mr. Webber said the state authorities had been advised that the company would not be averse to the dismissal of all cases against former strikers, except where evidence of guilt is exceptionally strong.

Receiver Bush Out With Annual Report on Missouri Pacific

President Bush of the receivers for the Missouri Pacific Railroad company is out with his annual report for the year ending June 30 of this year. It takes into consideration the Iron Mountain road, a part of the Missouri Pacific, and according to it the inference is that the system has not been making any money. In his report, President Bush shows that the operating revenue amounted to $3,399,895, a decrease of $1,786,425, as compared with the previous year. The falling off in freight revenue amounted to $211,335 and the balance is charged to the passenger end of the business. The depreciation on rolling stock is figured at $1,000,000. While the revenue of the system decreased, there was a decrease in the operating expenses, the purpose of Mr. Bush being to maintain the high standard of efficiency. However, expenses amounting to $79,999 were lopped off. During the year new equipment of the value of $346,325 was bought and improvements aggregating $1,799,992 were made along the line, including the laying of 121 miles of new and heavier steel. Besides, old bridges and culverts were torn out and in their stead those of cement and steel put in. All steel passenger equipment was put onto the lines and thousands of freight cars bought, or rebuilt.
