

Nebraska GOVERNOR HUNTS DUCKS AT SHELTON

Trainmaster Anderson of Grand Island Accompanies Executive to Platte Grounds.

ORCHESTRA IN EARLY HOURS

SHELTON, Neb., Oct. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—Governor John Morehead was awakened from his peaceful slumbers at 4 o'clock this morning at the "shack" on the Platte river about three miles south of here, when an orchestra from Greeley, composed of R. M. Smith, F. L. Slobodny and George Bowen, quietly slipped into the building and started to playing ragtime on the piano, violin and trap drums.

The governor, in company with J. V. Anderson, trainmaster for the Union Pacific at Grand Island, came to Shelton last night to go duck hunting on the Platte river with S. E. Smith of this place, who has one of the best hunting shacks in the state. They arrived at the shack about 10 p. m. and retired shortly afterward. Mr. Smith promised to have them up to take a shot at the first flight of the feathery tribe that put in an appearance.

The orchestra had been playing for a dance at Shelton and they were induced to take the early morning ride to the Platte river and serenade the governor. The orchestra furnished music while the governor was making a breakfast of pancakes, which he declared were delicious.

Shortly before daybreak the party went out to the blind and succeeded in shooting seventeen ducks, sixteen of which the governor was given credit for bringing down by his superior marksmanship. The governor was well pleased with the hunt, although the ducks were not flying as thickly as they have been other mornings this fall.

Governor Morehead and Mr. Anderson left here this morning for Grand Island by automobile, where the former caught an early train for Lincoln.

FAIRBURY MAY USE BLUE RIVER FOR POWER

FAIRBURY, Neb., Oct. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—The preliminary steps were taken today by Pres. Gen. Dan Kavanaugh of Fairbury Commercial club and city council to harness the Little Blue river and furnish motive power to run factories instead of burning coal.

Deputy State Engineer D. O. Weeks of Lincoln was here, and a company by Mr. Kavanaugh, Mayor E. W. Mason and members of the city council the party rode out northwest of Fairbury twelve miles in automobiles and then Mr. Weeks walked back along the river examining its course carefully.

He reported to Mr. Kavanaugh that he located at least three points on the river that he felt could be used to advantage. He will return in about ten days and complete the survey.

President Kavanaugh of the Commercial club is promoting the plan. He talked to the city council at its regular meeting last night and secured an expression from them. The council seemed anxious to take up the proposition. If the council fails to handle the matter it is said private capital is ready to form a company and carry out the project.

The power developed would be utilized to run factory plants and the surplus electricity would be sold for lighting and manufacturing purposes to adjacent towns in this part of Nebraska.

Nebraska Brvan Men Are for Wilson's Plan, Says Stromsburg Man

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Old friends will come to the parting of the ways if W. J. Bryan continues his opposition to President Wilson's program of naval and army preparedness, said Victor E. Wilson, a strong Bryan supporter, a visitor at the state house today.

Wilson said there were a large number of old-time friends of Bryan who would endorse the president's program even if it was necessary to disagree with Bryan. "I think the president is right in leading his influence to bring about greater military and naval preparedness in this country,"

Mr. Wilson professed to see in a victory for Germany in the world war a grave menace to the peace and happiness of the United States.

"We see a good many Germans in the United States who side with their mother country in every controversy that arises. One of them in my home town the other day declared openly that in case of war between the United States and Germany he would not take up arms for his country. When conditions like this exist, and we all know they exist, it would be folly for us to drift along without making adequate military and naval preparations for our national defense."

The effort was one of the features of the annual classification hearing held here today, at which there were present railroad freight agents, commercial club men, traffic managers of big companies and representatives of traffic bureaus.

Marigold Margarine

is all that you can ask in purity. It's clean, wholesome, inviting. It's made with every possible care; in orderly, spotless, white-tile churneries. Marigold is a quality food, made for particular folk like you—and one trial will give it a permanent place in your home. Good dealers everywhere sell Marigold.
