

WILL NOT ABANDON OMAHA AUTO SHOW

Majority of Dealers Get Together and Decide to Stage 1916 Event, Despite Opposition.

MERCHANTS BEHIND DISPLAY

That there positively will be a 1916 Omaha automobile show despite declarations by several of the local dealers that they will not participate, is an official announcement made by the directors of the Omaha Automobile Show association.

Following the 1915 show last February, three of the big dealers declared that they would not exhibit in another show on the grounds that their sales organizations were superior to those of most dealers, that they sold more cars than their competitors, that in the automobile show they were placed only at a par with smaller dealers, and that as a result their business really suffered instead of making gains. For this reason, they said, they could not find their way clear to continue to display.

For a short time it was feared the show would be abandoned. Because a few of the big dealers dropped out Sioux City did decide to abandon the show, but Minneapolis, Des Moines and Kansas City announced that they will continue to hold annual displays even though the same opposition was encountered. This prompted the Omaha directors to get together and make a canvass of Omaha dealers.

The result of the canvass brought favorable replies from twenty-eight dealers. As two of these dealers are agents for trucks exclusively the number who will exhibit pleasure cars is twenty-six. In addition several still remain on the "fence" and are debating whether they will join the others or not. It is thought that they will fall in line when the time comes.

But even though those on the fence decide to stay out the number of exhibitors for 1916 will only be six less than the number in 1915. The exhibitors last February numbered thirty-two.

Merchants for Show.

"We will hold the show," declared Manager Clarke Powell, "and it will be a bigger and better show than ever. The majority of the dealers favor the show because it means more business for themselves, and it is a big asset for Omaha from a business standpoint. We have sounded the sentiments of the hotel men and the merchants, and they are all with us, anxious to have us hold a show as heretofore. The newspapers have also assured us they will give us their support. Of course the Commercial club is, as always, behind us.

"Even with the twenty-six exhibitors and there will be more than that when the time comes—the ground floor of the Auditorium will be filled. Last year several dealers wanted space for three and four-car exhibits and were only allotted one because of limited space. They won't be able to get as much space as they want, but they will get a little more than before. Thus as a display the show will be as big as ever."

"Why should we abandon our show?" continued Mr. Powell. "Omaha has become one of the biggest distributing centers of automobiles in the country and it has largely been accomplished through the show. Shall we let Minneapolis, Des Moines and Kansas City surpass us as distributing points? Certainly not, and that is why we will hold a show and it will be bigger and better than ever."

"Just the thing." That is why most tailors suffer from constipation. G. W. Roberson, Wichita Falls, Tex., says: "I find Foley Cathartic Tablets the most delightful, cleansing cathartic I have ever taken. They are just the thing." They keep the stomach sweet and the liver active, drive away headache, dizziness, tired feeling, biliousness, bloated and other results of clogged bowels. Prompt and effective, without griping or pain. Stout people praise them for the light, free feeling they give. Sold everywhere.—Advertisement.

FIFTY OMAHANS WANT NORTH DAKOTA FARMS

Fifty men of Omaha and Nebraska, seeking land, have gone to Bismarck, N. D., over the Northwestern road to register for the opening of 10,000 acres in the Fort Berthold Indian reservation. The registration continues until October 25. The lucky applicants in the drawing will get 160-acre tracts by paying the value of from $2.50 to $8 per acre, fixed by the government.

NEW MUNICIPAL JUDGES ARE READY

Report to the City Hall that They Are Prepared to Start on Their Duties.

RINE LOOKING UP THE LAW

The city commissioners are wondering what they shall do with three new municipal judges—R. W. Patrick, Richard Hunter and A. H. Murdock, all ready and willing to go to work to earn $2,500 each a year. Judge Patrick and Morrow have called at the city hall several times to ask that the commissioners furnish a court room and offices, as provided by the legislature at the last session. Judge Hunter will return to the city on Friday and then will be on the job.

These new judges have qualified for office in the district court, and they regard themselves on the city payroll. The law provides they shall have a clerk at $1,200 a year.

Governor Morehead appointed these municipal judges last week to fill "vacancies" in the Omaha municipal court. The law reads that the judges shall be elected at the regular election in November, 1916, for two years, and that the governor may fill vacancies in the same manner as judges of the district court. Few people here knew there were vacancies in the municipal court until the appointments were made last week.

Looking Up the Law.

Arises now the question of whether there was a "vacancy" in the Omaha municipal court when the governor made the appointments. City Attorney Rine is looking up the law on the subject. As he reads the law creating the municipal court of Omaha he is inclined to believe the vacancy occurred as soon as the municipal court was created. "Vacancies" in the Omaha municipal court. Samuel W. Moore, principal of the South Side High school, testified in his divorce suit against Mrs. Vera B. Moore in District Judge Redick's court. At the time, Mr. Moore testified, he was superintendent of the public schools at Hiawatha, Kan. Mr. Moore testified that his married life had not been happy, and that his wife left him in 1913. She is contesting the case and is asking that a decree be awarded to her.

Omaha Men Making Fight for River

The Omaha delegation that went to Kansas City to attend the hearing to protest against the report of Lieutenant Colonel Deakins on Missouri river improvement, is remaining longer than was originally intended. Commissioner Manley of the Commercial club telegraphed the club that E. J. McVann, manager of the traffic bureau, occupied the value of possible river tonnage through Omaha in case boat service were permanently established. Manley, John L. Kennedy, and J. B. White are to testify as to possible tonnage, with special reference to possible hay tonnage.
