CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing

Prices on Board of Trade. CHICAGO, Oct. 23.-Thousands of car-loads of wheat rushing to market in the northwest had an unmistakable bearish effect today on speculators here. As a result, prices although steady at the close were 14,617% to 2% c net lower, with December at 37% c and May at $1,90%. with December at 30% and May at $1,00%. Corn showed a setback of half cent to 1% and oats off 160% to %c. In provisions the outcome varies from 74,00c decline to a rise of 5c.

Accute weakness in the price of wheat developed after announcement that arrivals in Winnipeg Monday would aggregate 4,800 cars. The huge estimate was accompanied by word that farmers in the Canadian northwest were piling wheat on the prairies owing to elevators have Canadian northwest were pilling wheat on the prairies owing to elevators having been filled and because of the impossibility of getting cars enough to dispose promptly of the surplus. Immense receipts for Minneapolis and Duluth next week were also predicted. Jeal weather week were also predicted. Ideal weather in the spring crop belt and the continued in the spring crop belt and the continued liberal movement to the chief terminals there had caused the market to sag somewhat as soon as trading began. A brief rally ensued on account of strength at Liverpool and in consequence of weakened evening up transactions here, but then the market plunged downward in good express! in good earnest.

Lowest prices of the week were touched in the wheat pit just before the end of the session. Extreme declines as compared with the high point reached on October 14, ranged about 10½c to 12c a pushed. Corn finally gave way with wheat, and corn finally gave way with wheat, and under the influence of enlarged country offerings. At first, however, the market tended to advance owing to hope of sales for exports. Much the some conditions ruled in the oats trade as in corn. One of the leading elevator companies was conspicuous on the selling side.

fairly decent shape, the few cars of fresh hogs being cleaned up about the middle of the afternoon at prices that were a big nickel lower than the early market. This morning, with the smallest run in a long time on deck, prices reacted a little, and by 5:30 the bulk of the Iresh arrivals had been cleaned up at prices that were 5c higher than Friday's average, or strong to 5c higher than yesterday's best time. Shippers are almost entirely out of the game, apparently having no outlet, and speculators are pretty well loaded up and are not doing much. Packers, consequently, have little competition, and are paying current prices only. Bulk of today's offerings was bought at $1.25e/7.35, while today's top is $1.05 under the best price paid last saturday, when the bulk sold at $2.56/8.40 and tops brought $8.46.

Today's receipts of thirteen cars, or about 1,000 head, were the smallest for any one day since the first week of August, 1914, when Friday arrivals were only ten cars, or 63b head. BRADSTREET REVIEW OF TRADE

Progress in Trade and Industry is Conspicuous. NEW YORK, Oct. 42-Bradstreets tomorrow will say: morrow will say:

Save for a probably temporary setback to retail distribution caused by a speil of warm weather, progress in trade and industry is of conspicuous proportions, with even greater gains apparently in store. In larger lines cumulative expansion is the chief characteristic. Iteral merchants show a stronger propensity to buy ahead; the steel trade goes on making grounds; prices an some finished buy ahead; the steel trade goes on making grounds; prices an some finished products have been advanced, partly to keep buying within certain bounds; the long periodic scarcity of railway cars is an actual fact; a paucity of labor exists; payrolis are enlarging, weekly bank cicarings are of unparalised proportions; demand for money, the supply of which is plethoric, at easy rates, is increasing, exports of wheat and flour for the current week established a new high record; export trade continues unprecedented, meritorious new enterprises are being launched more readily; real estate, long dormant, is reviving, and farmers in the south are paying off oid debts. Weekly bank clearings were $5,221,789,000.

But they grow in numbers and their president, Lord Desborough, and many others who are influential in the organization, including Lord Rosebery, who is the president of the Scotch branch, are hopeful that most of the duties of home defense may soon be entrusted to the volunteers In England and Wales alone there are already established forty county brigades or regiments. In Scotland there are eventy separate corps and new ones are being formed so suddenly and generally that those in charge of the movement are having difficulty in preventing organization on other than the accepted lines. In the county of Lancashire, for example, there are over 15,000 members, of whom 4,000 are in the city of Manches-

Men who are not eligible to join the army, either on account of age or other disqualification, are in this organization, equipping themselves with rifle and uniform, drilling as many hours weekly as they can spare from their regular work, learning to shoot, to dig trenches and to perform guard duty, and are performing functions of a police character, ranging from coast patrol to watching over local water supplies. As an example of their work, the coast of Hampshire is now patrolled from Poole to Bournemouth by

On Saturday and Sundays, in particular, the uniforms of the volunteers are seen at railway stations, on busses and throughout all parts of England on the roads leading to the camps, where they put in the week-end drilling. Even the disturbing lack of interest at the war office in the volunteers and the recent ruling that a man with the uniform on may be arrested if in a theater, do not seemingly check the growth of the organization.

France Will Grant United States More Rights After War

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) PARIS, Oct. 18 .- Hope is expressed in troops. commercial circles of Paris that after the war France will see its way to granting the United States most-favorednation rights. Nothing can be done in this direction during the war, but the and especially in Russia. Our resources, possibility of action later is under consideration by French fiscal authorities. At present complaints by the two coun tries against each other's tariff systems are mutual. French exporters assert that the United States tariff unfairly restricts their American market, and American merchants object to the enforcement against them of the maximum rates of the French maximum and minimum tariff, while a powerful rival, Germany, is (or rather was) in enjoyment of mostfavored-nation treatment in accordance with the treaty of Frankfort.

As answer to the French assertion it is pointed out that notwithstanding the alleged high American duties, French export trade to America largely and steadily increased from the opening of battle of the Marne they have abandoned the century to the year 1913, except dur- that theory. They though that Great ing 1908, a year of great financial trouble to both countries; and that, as French trade with America is mostly in articles of luxury for the rich, the latter can easily bear the higher prices caused by

"But if it increased in spite of the tariff," rejoins the Frenchman, "how much more would it not have increased if the tariff were more favorable?" That the increase would have occurred is not considered by American authorities as proved. They look for the expansion of French trade with America, and particularly for successful French rivalry with Germany, in another direction. In effect they say to the French: You must broaden the basis of your trade by the production of cheaper classes of goods on a large scale, and for this nurpose you must reorganize your industries." The advice is not very palatable by tradition than perhaps any other people. Still, something is being done, for war began with the special object of capturing German trade by the federation of French industries.

Prince Demidoff, the final of the pressure is the first the central empires in a perilous rather than a satisfactory position, following their successful drive on the imperial forces of Russia.

foundations having been laid in the time but further offerings or our securities of Peter the Great by Nikita Damidoff, were reported from that center, presimably as a direct outcome of the break in exchange. Pacifics and some of the grangers were included in the foreign included in the foreign selling, which exercised little appreciate effect. In fact Canadan Pacific and Krupp of this day, having been entrusted by Peter the Great with the manufacture of cannon for the imperial armies. German Drive a Failure.

Demidoff, "the German drive on Russia seems to have been as much of a failure as the German drive on Paris a year ago. It had two definite objects-to crush the Russian army in a great pincers, and to force Russia to oue for a separate peace. "The first has patiently failed. The Germans have given it up. They are disdealings. Total sales, par value, agg e gated $2.370,000. United States bands were higher by 4 to 4 per cent on call for the week.

Number of sales and leading quotations thing to attempt, anyhow—you might as ging themselves in, as they did in France, well call it a drive on Irkutsk as anything else, for all the definite object it may be said to have had. Pounding at an immense Russian force, withdrawing with admirable order across the Russian steppes, as like chasing a will o' the wisp through a swamp- the farther you go the worse it gets, and the less chance you have to get out safe and sound. Russia is like a pillow-you can make a hollow in it by punching it with your fist; but when you take your fist away, slowly, inevitably, it comes back."

"But suppose the fist is kept there?" Problem of Mathematics.

"How long do you suppose the Germans can do that? It's simply a problem in mathematics. Remember one thing: the farther an army extends its line, the more men are required to hold the line; and the farther the line is from its base, the more men are required to feed and clothe and supply it with munitions. And the increase is in geometric not arithmetic progression; while at the same time the process of extending the line in the face of a series of daily rear-guard actions itself reduces the effective with which the movement is made. For there is no advance without its price in men-dead, permantly disabled, and those taken prisoner-as well as in the freshness of the troops engaged.

"Now "ith the Austrians and Germans there is a definite, known, maximum number of men available. It may be as abled or taken prisoner is one available German less. This 's the key to the whole So long as the Austrians and Germans definitely. Extending their line only hastens the inevitable end, because it increases the number of men essential merely to hold the line.

"So, on the German side, you have two cardinal elements of the situation, neither of which is an element of victory: a price paid in men and strength without definite, concrete result; and an ever increasing price to pay in the necessity for supplying and victualing an immensely extended line, an element of defeat; an unbroken, undiscouraged, determined force and an, as yet, scarcely seriously touched reservoir of fresh

Some Resources Limited. "The same analogy holds true of the financial situation of the central empires in relation to the ailled powers. our borrowing capacity if you please, is virtually unlimited, because the security we have to offer is unlimited. The resources of the central empires are very limited indeed, and do not become less so with time.

"It is in the knowledge of this that we are serene in our conviction of final and complete victory. "The second purpose of the German drive on Russia was to force Russia to conclude a separate peace. It only shows how the Germans have wholly misunder stood the Russian character, as they wholly misunderstood both the French and the English. They thought the French were a degenerate people, who had no fight left in them. Since the Britain was sadly divided, on the verge of civil war. Instead, the entire British empire is in the struggle, heart and soul. And, instead of forcing Russia to a separate peace, the Germans by their very drive on Russia, have unified the Russian people as they have never been unified before. You have today a spectacle in Russia which is truly grandicose 175,000,000 of people, absolutely united, with but one thought, their emperor in person at their head, determined to purge Russia of the invader forever if t take a generation. There is, as a matter of fact, more unity of understanding and confidence among the ailies at this moment than there is among the Germans themselves. "The central empires have failed in both their attempts. Where, then, is their victory over the Russians? Though lacking sufficient munitions to undertake an offensive all along the line, we can still harry the Germans, at the very least. Every day we contribute our part an association has been formed since the to the process of subtraction, which te the secret of final victory. And this method is really more effective towards the final desideratum of the war than a mere technical triumph. For the pur-Popular Lies.

"Yes, sir, my wife and I have lived together thirty years and have never had a cross word."

"My summer vacation cost me exactly $4.00 a day. Anyone who spends more than that is a base plutocrat."

"I make a rule to pay all my bills regularly in cash on the first day of every month. Then there's no question"

"If I thought there was any doubt about my making your daughter happy, sir I should be the last man in the world to sak her to marry me." pose of the war is to finish with milimore surely is militarism done with. And that's what we want."

"Even in Russia?" "Most of all in Russia. Russia needs

peace for a colessal internal industrial evelopment, which is scarcely compatable with an immense military establishment forced upon us by the truculence RUSSIA A FAILURE of our neighbors. We need our men to dig in our mines, to plow our fields, to lay our railroads, to work in our fac-tories. The living hell of militarism is Prince Demidoff of the Richest that one single military power in a group of peaceful nations can force all the cent to become military powers, whether they will or not. Well, we have all been chased by that German military nightmare too long; we are going to stop it.

'You remember what happened in mathematics when you subtracted from ATRENS, Sept. 30,-That Russia is a given contraband the sum of geometric progression? Well, that is what is happening in Europe now. As for Russiayou may be sure that Russia is absolutely united and absolutely sure."

Night Clubs Now Number Over 400 in City of London

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) LONDON, Oct. 16.-The "night club," which is just now the subject of heated controversy in London, is an institution peculiar to England. It aims to provide amusement and refreshment, the latter mostly liquid, during the late hours of the evening and the early hours of the morning. Since the war, the club, like the saloon or cafe, has been subjected to rather rigid restrictions as to the sale of alcoholic beverages, but the police complain that it is difficult to obtain evidence against law-breaking night-"From every standpoint," said Prince clubs.

There are probably 400 night clubs in London. Nearly half of these are loeated within the narrow limits of the district known as Soho, which is the center of the foreign quarter. "There are between 150 and 200 night clubs in Soho," says the London Times, "and most of these are disreputable. The bishop of London does not exaggerate when he says tint for the most part these establishments are the haunts and hunting grounds of sharks and loose women, whose trade is to exploit the follies and weaknesses of those induced to go there. "It is unnecessary to lasist upon the michiefs to which such company exposes the young officers, some of whom have but little experience of life. These mischiefs are in one sense a public danger at all times, but the danger is enormously magnified when the sufferers are soldiers and the nation is at war. "The immediate loss of money which can ill be spared is perhaps the least among them. Debt, blackmail, drink, and the loss of self-respect which follows from these things, and from yielding to the temptations of another kind men find in night clubs, do deeper and more lasting evil." The Times endorses the bishop of London's appeal to the civil and military au. thorities to "combine and use the great powers they possess to suppress this

PICTURESQUE MILLS ARE GOING TO PIECES FAST

(Correspondence of The Associated Press) PARIS, Oct. 16.—The windmills of Mont-martre, the oldest, most artistic and characteristic monuments of the district, have, some of them, already succumbed to the modernizing of Paris, or to the action of the elements; the others are great as you please, but it is fixed. threatened with destruction unless the Every German killed, permanently dis-

The Moulin H. have not succeeded in crushnig Russia, became a prey to the flames last winter the process of subtraction goes on in- and now the old "Moulin de la Galette" which dates from the middle of the thirteenth century is doomed to extinction or removal. A modern apartment house with steam heat and baths is going up there now, and the mill, the girls and their dancing partners must go elsewhere. The "Old Paris" municipal council committee has decided that something must be done to perpetually commemorate the Behemian days of Montmartre and to preserve some of its artistic features. It proposes to transfer the "Radet" or 'Moulin de la Galette" to the Place Jean-Bantiste Clement, where it will continue to overlook Paris. Cherry trees are to be planted around it to commemorate the godfather of the place, the popular song writer and author of the "Chanson des Cerises."

Since the beginning of the war the Moulin de la Galette has been occupied by the society women of Montmartre as a sewing room and has produced thousands of soldiers garments.

Gont Buttles with Buffalo. A shaggy-haired goat overestimated its fighting ability at Wa hington park soo when he wandered into the buffale paddocks and gave battle to one of the big male buffalees. The consequence was that the goat's battered remains were taken to the city incinerator for cremation.

The goat got into the buffalo pen. The leader of the herd took exception to the invasion and charged. The goat, instead of running, turned about and, putting down his head, met the enemy. The two animals clashed with a thud and the goat was knocked about twenty feet, with nearly every bone in his body broken.—Portland Oregonian.
