Judgments

SO IT appears that the summer baseball player is not to be permitted to play football at Yale or Minnesota. This is as it should be, and this statement is made with all due regard to the arguments that have been advanced in favor of the proposition that it is no more harmful for a young man to sell his talents as an athlete than it is for him to engage in writing or waiting on table, or other form of remunerative occupation to earn money for his uses while attending school. The harm does not reside in his engaging in any sort of employment for pay; it is in entering in competition with others under the pretense that he is not unduly proficient in the form of contest proposed. In other words, an athlete who is good enough to command pay is an unfair competitor for one whose skill is not so developed. This point has been determined after long and careful consideration, not so much on the actual physical as on ethical grounds. The professional athlete is necessarily under something of limitation as to certain of the higher factors of competition that must always be given due weight when college sport is considered. On this point there is no room for dispute. The lack of full appreciation of the exact quality of responsibility is shown by the fact that the young men in question, knowing full well the rule against their conduct, sought to conceal their identity under assumed names and after violating the rules laid down, came back and sought to proceed as members of their respective college teams, deceiving by their actions those about them. If dishonest on this point, on what can they be fully trusted? Our schools are failures if they cannot instill the reasonable essence of common honesty into the students. And this means that a player cannot be a professional in the summer time and an amateur in the winter.

HUSKERS FEAR THE AGGIES

Ames Team Has Provoking Way of Playing Best Against the Nebraska Squad.

PLAY AT AMES NEXT SATURDAY

By JAMES E. LAWRENCE. LINCOLN, Oct. 23.—(Special)—Nebraska's first game away from home, with the Ames Aggies at Ames next Saturday, will be one of the two crucial battles for the Missouri Valley conference championship. Jumbo Stielm's Huskers are not going to bump into any soft snap, for the Aggies will present a lineup which includes nine out of eleven veterans, two of whom were selected for All-Missouri valley honors. In addition, the "miracle man" of eastern football, Mayser, the former Washington and Jefferson star and tutor, is at the helm at Ames. Mayser is expected to put the finish on the wonderful material which Ames has with which to deliver the winning punch. He was in charge as coach of the wonderful Washington and Jefferson eleven of 1914, which, although it had a student body of but 60 to draw from, pummeled the Yale "bulldog" and fought old John Harvard to a standstill and a tie score.

Gophers Are Strong. Ames' early season defeat at the hands of Minnesota is not taken seriously in the Cornhusker camp. Dr. Williams is said to have the greatest team at Minnesota in years, while Ames went into the battle with four veterans badly crippled. Several times the Aggies carried the ball within the shadow of the Minnesota goal, only to fall with the necessary punch to carry it over, while the Gophers were fortunate in the use of the forward pass.

Ames has had a provoking habit of playing its best football against the Huskers. The Aggies have sent more cold thrills down the spines of Nebraska rooters since Jumbo Stielm took charge of athletics at the Husker institution than any other Missouri valley opponent. Reeling off a touchdown in the first quarter last year, the Aggies had the Cornhusker rooters in tears until the final quarter, when a marvelous Nebraska offense was uncovered and four touchdowns ripped off in rapid succession. Ames had no substitutes to replace the battered regulars and undoubtedly lost for lack of first string men.

Huskies Their Goal. Coach Mayser is pointing his men for the Nebraska game and figures that a victory over the Huskers will be honor enough for one season. The Iowa school will make the Nebraska game "homecoming day" and also the official opening of the new stadium which Ames went to great expense to construct. Several hundred Ames' alumni will be on hand to aid with awe-inspiring rooting in defeating the Huskers. Nebraska's eleven will also have some vocal support, for Reed has been informed that a big excursion will accompany the team east. Several hundred Nebraskans will journey to Ames and the band will be taken along to help out in the noise.

Central High May Play South Side on Turkey Day

It is now practically certain that the South High-Central High school football game will be scheduled for Thanksgiving at Rourke park. The showing made by the South team against Council Bluffs, which game was played to a tie, although the packer team registered twice as much gained yards, has made it apparent that "Pack" eleven will make a strong bid for the state championship this year.

Girl Swimmer from Coast in Big Meets

Miss Marguerite Brack of San Francisco, champion girl swimmer of the Pacific coast, is in New York to spend the winter, and will take part in most of the season's indoor meets. Her appearance in competition will be watched with interest. Although her best sprinting performances do not compare favorably with those of Miss Olga Dorfner of Philadelphia, the American record holder, she has to her credit a quarter-mile mark of 7:56, which brands her as a most dangerous rival at the distance of the speediest fair swimmers of the country.

NED EGAN MAY MANAGE THE SIOUX NEXT YEAR

Report in Sioux City has it that Ned Egan may become manager of the Sioux next year. Harry Gaspar, finished the season as manager after Josh Clarke was dropped, but it is not the expectation that he will be retained. Tom Downey, formerly of Kansas City and who finished the season with Little Rock, also is talked of as manager, though Egan is preferred.

Welsh Wants to Defend Title Four Times

Unless some dashing lightweight boxer can wrest the title from Freddie Welsh by July 4, next, the champion will automatically retire. In order to give some one a chance at the crown, Freddie has offered to box four men between now and Independence day. "I think there are just four men who have a right to be called contenders," says Freddie. "I will not name them, but will let the public do that." He continued, "I will have virtually eight months in which to fight the four men. That will be at the rate of one every two months. That is all the inter-

ANXIOUS FOR JESS TO FIGHT

Tommy Burns and Richard Klieglin Both Following Champ Around with Big Chunks of Kale.

ANY KIND OF MILL ALL RIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Everybody is trying to induce Jess Willard to "defend his title" although just why any one should, except for financial reasons, would puzzle King Solomon. Tommy Burns, who runs the largest boxing club in New Orleans has been following Willard about trying to sign him up. Burns wants Willard to fight Frank Moran twenty rounds with a decision.

The Garden promoters will also probably offer Willard some sort of a guarantee or percentage to fight Moran, Richard Klieglin, the "Parisian promoter," who made the Johnson-Willard match possible, but who was gently jilted out of his share of the profits there, has just returned from a trip to Oklahoma, where he offered Willard $20,000 a his share of the purse to box ten rounds, no decision, with Moran or Jim Coffey here in New York. Willard's manager told Richard that he has a "chance," but that Tommy Burns has been promised first opportunity to offer as much money as Willard wants for fighting again. Willard prefers a long fight to a short one. In a long fight his enormous bulk will be of even greater assistance than in a ten-round affair. There isn't a man in the ring today who could let Jess lean on him for a few rounds without crumpling up like a piece of gingerbread under a steam roller. Little Jess probably won't think it necessary to train down so thin for any one but Johnson,

Five Are Now in the Field for the Late Prexie Tip's Position

Five candidates are now in the field for the presidency of the Western league in addition to Norris L. O'Neill, well known colonel on the governor's staff, who still insists he is not fired. The five candidates are Charley Moll, formerly president of the Wisconsin-Illinois league and at present a member of the national board of arbitration; President Burmeister of the Northern league, Dr. D. M. Shively, formerly president of the Western association; Frank E. McMullen, formerly secretary of the Wichita club, and Frank S. Zehring, former mayor of Lincoln. Whether or not any one of the above five will grab the cherished job is uncertain. None of the magnates have expressed any preference, although Zehring seems to have the O. K. of Hugh Jones of Lincoln and many prominent business men and fans around the circuit are boosting his candidacy. As far as past performance goes Charley Moll has the edge. It was largely through

CANCEL TOO MANY GAMES

Local Sandlot Warriors Should Make More Effort to Play as They Are Scheduled.

TO INVADE FOREIGN FIELDS

By FRANK QUIGLEY. Four of the local sandlot football battles scheduled last Sunday were cancelled. Two of these games were carded for the Douglas county fair grounds, and over 500 fans were disappointed by the failure of the leather egg manipulators to appear.

Sudden postponement or cancellation of games is bad for the game. It particularly makes the fans sore and they will soon quit their support of the game if teams persistently call off games. Whenever you foot ballists announce a game in the papers, keep the engagement and play.

Next Sunday out at Rourke park the Columbians, champions of Omaha, will buck up against the town team from Missouri Valley, Ia. The latter team has been the champion of eastern Iowa for eight years and, according to its manager, it has a stronger team than ever before this year. It has only lost one game in eight years, that to the Superiors three years ago. Said game was played in Omaha. They will come to Omaha next Sunday with approximately 200 rooters and they will do all in their power to wait homeward with the honors.

Parks Leave Town. The Monmouth Parks, the team that is hot after the championship, will look a rattler for Missouri Valley and try their luck against the Iowa champions. Bill Lindimer, the leader of the Omaha contingent, says it is a difficult matter to trim an out-of-town team on their lot, but he feels he will exert all their foot ball skill and knowledge to grab the sweetmeats this afternoon. The Columbians will journey to Dunlap, Ia., where they will endeavor to grab a game from the oval handlars stationed there. To date Dunlap, Ia., has not been scored on and neither have the Columbians, but one troupe or the other will, in all probability, have to succumb today. Both teams average about 100 yards and in speed are about evenly matched, consequently a real battle royal for supremacy is anticipated.

Stealing Bases in Easy for This Guy

Kansas City Federal league players are telling a story of their ball game with the convict team at the Leavenworth (Kan.) federal prison. The Kansas City boys give the score of 23 to 1 in their favor. In the seventh inning the score was 13 to 0 and the 2,000 convict rooters were calling for a score. The convicts' manager sent in "502," a postoffice burglar, as a pinch hitter. He got one by a walk, was sacrificed to second, stole, third and then stole home, scoring the only run.

"DODE" PASKERT GETS THE COIN FOR WEDDING TRIP

Dode Paskert and his wife are taking their "honeymoon" trip, which, according to Paskert, has been delayed for thirteen years because of lack of funds to make it. It is unnecessary to state that Dode's part of the world's series money is supplying the wherewithal to finance the trip. His wife says they will not spend it all and that what is left will be used toward buying a home, something she also has been looking forward to for a good many years.

MURPHY IS HITTING THE OLD TYPEWRITER AGAIN

Charles Webb Murphy, who is breaking out quite regularly again when matters concerning the Chicago Cubs are concerned, is quoted as saying that Mulligan and McCarthy will pull more double plays next year than Maranville and Evers ever manufactured. Murphy's sentence of silence seems to have expired and he is daily becoming more prominent as the real head of the Chicago National league club.

BIG WRESTLING MATCH NEXT

Omaha Fans Expect Stecher Will Meet Tough Opposition in Americus.

That Joe Stecher will encounter the toughest opposition of his career when he attempts to pin the shoulders of one Americus to the mat in Lincoln Thursday, is the judgment of Omaha wrestling fans who are planning to take the trip to the Capital City to witness the event. Americus is somewhat of a different proposition from the grapplers Stecher has met and defeated. Charley Cutler and Adolph Ernst are probably the best two men the Dodge phenom has dumped and the Baltimore chap is regarded as the superior of these two vanquished mat artists. The Omaha fans are confident that Stecher will put the finishing touches to Americus, but they anticipate a hard combat before the feat is accomplished. Americus is said to be the son of a millionaire Boston contractor and his career has all the touches of romance. He first entered as an amateur, but found that class too limited for him. He then became a light heavyweight and quickly won honors in that division by heaving Freddie Beell twice in less than seven minutes. Of late he has taken on weight and even tops the scales at a higher poundage than Stecher.

Track Men at State Uni Have Fall Work for the First Time

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 23.—(Special)—The Husker track squad has had the first fall training camp in its history and the innovation has proved a remarkable success. The Huskers have had a squad of 109 men working out, until Coach Reed cut the number down to sixty. Reed will have the largest squad of recent years to pick a team from next spring. Fall training was decided upon as a means of bringing the Huskers out of the slump they have experienced in track athletics during the last two years. Reed will have a few veterans and in addition some material of exceptional promise.

Track Men at State Uni Have Fall Work for the First Time

Captain Scott and Irwin are the veteran sprinters, with Wiley, O'Brien and Owens eligible for places on the varsity. Wiley as a high school athlete broke all Missouri Valley records in the high jump and hurdles. He clears the bar at over six feet. O'Brien, who is a sophomore, has rounded into shape in the broad jump, the sprints and the weights. He is a clever discus thrower and good shot putter. Owens is one of the fastest men in the 220 and 440 appearing at Nebraska in some years.

In the quarter mile dash, Townsend, Grant and Taft have been showing excellent form, while Garrison and Raacke in the mile and two-mile runs loom up in the good shape. Gribble, Pansel, Aldrich, Brian, Krats and Ricker are also excellent long distance men and there will be no lack of material in these events. Gadpece and Liebenfelder are working out regularly in the pole vault. Gadpece is an old Omaha high school star. Maxwell and Bolton are doing the hurdles and Reed will also have the services of Haasmussen, who is a splendid hurdler. Shaw, who is playing foot ball, broke the university record in the shot and will be assisted by Carey and O'Brien.

Reed has a splendid bunch of freshmen, including Bryan and Kelley in the sprints, Beckard and Flint in the hurdles, Jones in the high jump, Flint, Dornan, Grau and Flaney, the quarter mile dash; Jackson, Bruce and Pickett in the distance runs. An interclass meet, the first of its kind, is on the boards for Friday, November 6. Medals and ribbons will be awarded to the place winner, the university athletic board having approved the plan. Reed plans to keep the track men in training all winter.

TALK BATTING SCANDAL IN NATIONAL LEAGUE NOW

There is just the suggestion of a "bating scandal" in the National league similar to that which caused the row in the American when Lajoie was allowed to get his eight hits on the final day in St. Louis. The intimation is that they were overly kind to Larry Doyle at Braves field on the final day of the National league race when he registered four hits and thus took the lead in batting for the year.
