

JOY UNCONFINED REIGNS UPON TRAIL

Captain of Haskell Team Comes Forward and Principal Masters Leads Group of Students.

GIFTS PRESENTED TO MUSICIANS

Enthusiasm ran riot at the tabernacle Saturday. Incident followed incident in rapid succession and there was not a dull moment from the opening song until Principal Masters of Central High school mounted the platform and offered the closing prayer at the request of Choir Leader Rodeheaver.

Principal Masters led a bunch of boys and girls of his school up the trail, in this group being Herb Rees, captain of the football team. Among the trail-hitters was Charles Williams of the Haskell Indian school football team, which won from Creighton yesterday afternoon. He was on crutches. Joe Dunbar of the same team followed.

Quarterback Henry Fontenelle, grandson of Logan Fontenelle, one-time chief of the Omahas, was in the group and was asked to hit the trail, but he acknowledged himself a Christian.

Cheers for Indians. Loud cheers greeted the Haskell as they filed down the aisle to front seats during the early part of the service. Mr. Sunday remarked that he was pleased at the enthusiasm shown by "foreigners when the Americans came down the aisle." Tom L. Sloan, an Indian attorney of Washington, D. C., whose home is at Fender, Neb., shook hands with the Indians.

Before the sermon J. E. Carnal, local musical leader at the tabernacle, mounted the platform and presented Robert Mathews, G. A. Brewster and Homer Rodeheaver with diamond cuff links, diamond stickpins and a Knights Templar pin, respectively, with the thanks of the choir. Then "Rody" played Santa Claus by making presentations to the women members of the Sunday party, mentioning the donors in each instance. Mr. Rodeheaver said he expected to meet the choir in Kansas City next spring.

"Hob" Hiss Date with Choir. "Hob" Mathews said he expected to meet the choir in heaven and added that "Rody" will be there singing "Brighten the Corner Where You Are." A lot of enthusiastic Central High school girls insisted that Mr. Mathews make a speech, but "Billy" Sunday's secretary blushed and asked to be excused, which request was granted.

The platform was loaded, with bouquets of flowers presented by various delegations. Explanation was made that the flowers will be distributed to hospitals. Mrs. W. J. Hughes, who carried the 2-year-old daughter, Dorothy, to the front with a basket of flowers. The girl was taken onto the platform and "Rody" lifted her to the topmost part of the pulpit. The child cried in her fright of the wild applause given her. Evelyn Douglas carried a large bouquet to the front for the Central High delegation.

"Rody" to Sing at High. "Rody" told the Central High boys and girls that when he returns next year he will go up to the school and sing for them. One of the presents given Mr. Rodeheaver was a Bible.

Among the delegations were grain men, Omaha Ice, Tip Top Bread company, Doane college, Woodmen Circle, Nebraska and Iowa Steel Tank company and Burgess-Granden company. Included in the 48 trail hitters were H. K. Burkett, undertaker; two physicians, a man with one arm, a mother carrying an infant, a 2-year-old girl leading another girl same age, a policeman in uniform and S. I. Gordon, former police judge.

Plan for Offering. E. F. Denison, secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, announced that all money necessary for local expenses had been raised and he urged a liberal collection for Mr. Sunday. He gave the following reasons why Mr. Sunday should receive substantial recognition in a financial way. "He has renewed the faith of Christian people of Omaha; has reached thousands of people who were not Christians; created a new civic consciousness; has made religion a common topic of conversation in this city.

During his sermon Mr. Sunday made reference to Mr. Denison's announcement by saying, "You can hear more curbsone, barber shop theology here than ever before. You can hear cursing and discussing, whichever you like." Twice the evangelist stopped his sermon to chide those who disturbed him, once his remarks being directed to an usher and the other time to the audience generally for attention to a person whose actions were distracting. "You ought to have learned the rule in seven weeks," he said to the thoughtless usher.

"Billy" to Talk All Day. Mr. Sunday announced he will speak today whenever the tabernacle is filled. He said he will leave at 3 p. m., this evening for Chicago and urged all trail-hitters to attend a special meeting at the tabernacle Monday evening.

"The people of Omaha are indebted to the people of the United States today for the prayers which are going up everywhere for this city. Even in the islands of the sea in Omaha being prayed for," declared Mr. Sunday.

He said it takes a campaign like the one he has just held in Omaha to bring out the real men and the "yellow dogs," "the men who show the saffron." Furthermore, he averred there are in Omaha men who have every ounce of political, financial and social power driven to the hill against God.

More Raps at Church. "God does not require wealth, education or physical strength to enter heaven. You are reasonable only when you are a Christian," were other words of the speaker.

Another one: "I think that if Jesus could come to Omaha and look into the faces of some of the persons high in church affairs He would say, 'You are yet far from the church of God although your names are on the church directory.'"

He referred to certain types of religious pugilists who always want to debate God's commands and wishes. He said morality will not save any man or woman, but that a public acknowledgment is necessary to salvation.

"Never mind the blatant, blistering infidel who may taunt or ridicule you; let him go to hell," was a bit of advice offered.

Death Pictured on Visit.

Mr. Sunday gave a dramatic presentation of a visit of Death to a non-believer. "Don't breathe that cold air in my face, don't freeze me with those icy fingers," said the non-believer. Then Mr. Sunday told how the man died, the undertaker was summoned and the body was borne to a cemetery.

In his closing prayer Mr. Sunday said: "I have prayed and prayed and prayed; preached and preached and preached, and, Jesus, we have sung. Rody sang and we have sung. What haven't we done? I don't know, Jesus."

The tabernacle was filled to overflowing, and many stood up. Several thousands could not get within hearing.

ALL OF ALLIES STRIKE TO SAVE SERBIAN NATION

The bombardment, speaks collectively of "British, French and Russian ships," so it is impossible to state the makeup of the squadron. If Italian craft took part, it has not been made known in England. Russian participation, however, has given stronger color to the recent rumors that it plans the landing of troops on the Bulgarian Black Sea coast.

Fear Serbia is Lost. What progress the British and French troops are making in their advance northward to the relief of Serbia is still withheld, and there are misgivings in many quarters that Serbia will never be saved in this way.

Greece's apparently authentic demand that allied soldiers, to insure its safety, rather than allied concessions to expand its dominions constituted its price for aligning itself against the central powers and Turkey, carries the implication that it regards the forces landed at Saloniki as far from adequate for the purpose.

Roumania's stipulation governing its entry into the war in behalf of the entente powers has, according to report, narrowed to a similar, though more specific demand for allied troops to insure against invasion. France, it is argued in some quarters here, could hardly spare the men, and so the burden would necessarily fall on Russia and Great Britain, primarily Great Britain.

Effect of King's Appeal.

The king's appeal for recruits in England has had a marked effect on today's payments, according to the London papers, and its ultimate effect, with a fair trial of the Earl Derby's plan may decide the moot question of conscription. That the Serbians' position is grave is the opinion of the British press. With this admission there is developing daily an increased rancor over Greece's attitude coupled with demands that the allies do not allow its policy to drift while there is a possibility of it turning against the entente.

A Serbian official communication refers to the presence of French troops cooperating with the Serbian forces in the neighborhood of Strumitsa, but in none of the communications since the beginning of the new Balkan campaign has the English been mentioned.

The Bulgarians, though hampered by bad weather, are driving further into the interior of Serbia, while the Austro-German forces on the north and east frontiers are maintaining terrific pressure and moving slowly forward. They have gained another passage across the Drina river near Visegrad.

"MA" TALKS AT THE BIG AUDITORIUM

Greater Part of Meeting is Given Over to Old Fashioned Praise Meeting.

WOMEN PRAY FOR HUSBANDS

"Be steadfast in your faith in the Lord. Avoid the temptations of worldly things. Don't be discouraged over failure nor get the 'big head' because of success. That is the devil's business. Give God the glory and take none for yourself. Draw a distinct line between the church and the world. Live such Christian lives that your neighbors won't have to consult church books to find if you are members."

With these parting injunctions "Ma" Sunday bade farewell to an audience of 6,000 women at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon. The meeting was curtailed because Mrs. Sunday was indisposed.

"The trail-hitting is only a small part of the good that will be the outcome of these meetings," she said. "The strengthening of faith and the effect on your prohibition campaign next fall cannot be reckoned. This is a cleaning up time for Christ."

Mrs. Sunday refuted the assertion that all good effects of the campaign were due to the splendid organization of the Sunday party. "We never think of our organization as such. It is the growth of years. If it seems big to the outsider, it doesn't seem big to me. I want you to understand that we didn't sit down and concoct this organization."

Credit for Your Aims. "We didn't accomplish all we wanted to in Omaha, but we're thankful the Lord doesn't hold us to account for what we accomplish, but for what we try to do. We wanted to bring the word of Christ to every man, woman and child in Omaha and to make Omaha a brighter, cheerier, better place in which to live."

The Rev. T. S. Love made the plea for "Billy" Sunday's collection. "The work of this living prophet of God in our city will tell on your lives and that of the generations to come. Omaha never does things by halves. Let us not be ashamed of this collection."

The greater part of the meeting was given over to an old-fashioned praise meeting. Gray-haired, weeping mothers thanked God for sons who had been saved during the campaign. Fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, grandmothers, relations in law, friends, neighbors, all were listed in the category of the saved by the praise givers. The preponderance of thanks were for saved husbands, which called forth the exclamation, "Oh, these husbands! Would that we had them all in the kingdom," from "Ma" Sunday.

Pray for Mayor. A high school girl, with tears in her eyes, thanked God for strengthened faith and when another high school girl, the last who offered testimony, stated that she was praying for the mayor of Omaha the applause was thunderous. "There are many praying for him," said "Ma."

Praise for the South Side stock yards men, who it was said, had had their hearts softened by "Billy" Sunday's address; for young men who had promised to vote the prohibition ticket next fall; for mothers who had come to pray often; all these brought ringing applause from the women.

One woman, who said she came from Canada, got out into the aisle and loudly praised the Lord for sending "Billy" Sunday into his vineyard to work.

NEBRASKA RATES UNDER FIRE OVER ORDER NINETEEN

to control rates either by direct legislation or through commissions appointed for such purpose and that "doing what law gives a right to do cannot be illegal."

Hence as the commission has full authority through the constitutional amendments and the act of the legislature to establish intrastate rates, the railroads must show that those rates are unreasonable and discriminatory. Having failed to do this the federal commission should enter no order which will interfere with the rates fixed insofar as they apply to Nebraska.

Messrs. Reed, McVann and Smith had a brief conference this afternoon for the purpose of fixing the order of procedure, but as Mr. Clarke had not then arrived the question was left open until the morning.

May Hang on Ship-report Case. In view of the fact that the Interstate Commerce commission has virtually decided to reopen the so-called Ship-report cases for rehearing it is probable that a final decision in the pending Nebraska cases will be postponed until that rehearing is concluded. There are many points of similarity between the two.

U. G. Powell of Lincoln, rate expert of the State Railway commission, and Walter B. Whitten, secretary of the Lincoln Commercial club, arrived at the Willard late this evening and will assist in the hearing tomorrow. The cases will occupy the attention of the federal commission for two days.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE A RECORD BREAKER

FALLS CITY, Neb., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—The second largest convention of Sunday schools ever held in Richardson county, and the largest held in the state for 1915, has closed a two-day session at Humboldt. Close to 1,200 people were in attendance, seventy-five of whom were from Falls City.

Stella was chosen as the piece of most interest for 1915. Richardson county conventions are growing so large that the question of caring for the entertainment is coming to be no little problem, but Humboldt was most successful in this particular.

Missing Title Picture Contest Is Won by James J. Gafford, Jr.

Jarvis J. Gafford, Jr., 104 North Thirty-second street, was the winner in last week's missing title picture competition. The judges chose his suggestion, "He Never Cares to Waffle From His Own Fireside" as the best title offered for the cartoon which appeared in last Sunday's issue of this newspaper, depicting a man in an easy chair reading The Bee, while the members of his family were endeavoring to persuade him to go with them. The prize was the original drawing.

Novel titles were offered by a number of the two score contestants who competed. Ward Kelley, 12 years old, suggested the Bible verse beginning "He ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers." "Come on, this is his last week," was one of the clever suggestions which referred to "Billy" Sunday. "Pa likes to stay at home and read

The Sunday Bee, but ma, she likes to read."

"No movies for me, I'm reading The Omaha Bee," was another suggestion. "Come, John, we're going to the tabernacle," was offered by one contestant and the same idea was expressed by several others.

Among other titles suggested were: "The Home Hog," "Do Not Place The Bee Before Church," "The Bee or Not That Bee," "You Never Do Good Without Me, You'd Rather Sit and Read The Bee," and "Interrupted Contentment of An Omaha Sunday Bee Reader."

Isaac A. Kilgore, 134 West Military avenue, offers a choice of two titles: "A beautiful and progressive world is calling you from that stench of fanaticism (Sundayism)," or "Come to the 'Tab' with us, papa, and get that stuff hot off the griddle."

OFFERINGS GIVEN TO 'BILLY' SUNDAY EXCEED $20,000

us every ounce of his mental, physical, moral and intellectual strength. It is not unusual for men of great ability to be paid well for their services. An attorney named Dill received $1,000,000 for drawing a deed for the Sugar trust. A Chicago surgeon received $10,000 for an hour's work. We are dealing with the foremost preacher of the age. I heard Mr. Sunday's boisterous sermon, and I know the men of Omaha now hate the saloon and the drinking of booze. Men are going to strike down this damnable institution in Nebraska. The future of Omaha and Nebraska has been changed. I have learned to love Mr. Sunday, and I think that sentiment is unanimous here for him."

"Rody," during one of his characteristic heart-to-heart talks, said he met Mr. Sunday the first time at a Kansas chautauqua where he (Rody) was given a contract to work ten days with Mr. Sunday for $150, while the evangelist was given $50 for an hour. "The man who made those contracts showed a fine sense of comparative values," said "Rody."

Mr. Sunday, incidentally, remarked that he refused $175,000 in New York for a moving picture series, and while in Omaha turned down $20,000 for a movie presentation of himself. He said he could make $500,000 a year if he lent himself to the schemers presented to him.

Trail Hitters of Other Towns. A feature of the men's service was a request by "Rody" for men who were converted by Mr. Sunday in places other than Omaha to stand up. The audience was punctuated here and there by upright figures. As called upon they told where they had been converted.

"Tecumseh, Neb.," responded a man. "That was one of the first towns I visited as a revivalist," remarked Mr. Sunday. Another man said he hit the trail in Seattle and another in Philadelphia, which geographical extremes were noted by "Rody." Other towns were Wichita, Des Moines, Denver and Council Bluffs.

Another large delegation from Council Bluffs attended the men's meeting: The Omaha Printing company and Northwest Federation of Improvement clubs and Young Men's Christian association were represented. Trail hitters of the Omaha Printing company presented Mr. Sunday two leather bound loose leaf books for new sermons.

The night school group led in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee." J. F. Wilhelmy offered the opening prayer. "Rody" spoke of the permanent gospel team work to follow the campaign and C. F. Robel announced he will be at the Young Men's Christian association from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. each day this week for consideration of plans for the gospel team work.

Mr. Sunday aroused the ribilities of the assemblage of men when he said the time to begin to "wild oats" is between the ages of 16 and 30, and that "a whiskey barrel is more dangerous than a gun barrel."

The second sermon of the afternoon was short and referred to Lazarus and the rich man. He emphasized the reality of a hell, saying there is eternal punishment for the wicked.

Yesterday morning more than 500 were at the tabernacle when the building was opened at 8 o'clock, and before 9 o'clock the building was all occupied. Some brought lunches and remained through for the afternoon service.

Court to Convene With Big Docket

HOLDREGE, Neb., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—The October term of the Phelps county Circuit court begins in this city tomorrow. There are no criminal cases to be tried, but forty-six civil cases are on the docket, seven of which are for divorce. The only case of general interest scheduled for the term will not be tried, having been settled out of court. This is Mrs. Anna Reising against the Burlington railroad, which has been continued through several terms.

Mrs. Reising brought suit against the railroad for $50,000 damages for the death of her husband, Engineer Reising, who was killed while bucking snow near Madrid in the spring of 1913. It is reported that $1,400 is the amount for which the case was settled.

Wead Made the Agent For Heavenly Mansion

F. D. Wead has been made agent for Robert Cowell's vacant mansion in heaven as described by "Billy" Sunday. He is to see that it is occupied by a suitable tenant, collect the rents and guarantee the water remains as all well qualified agents of property in the city of Omaha must do.

In the campaign to collect a free will offering for the evangelist on his departure, Mr. Wead sent a letter to Robert Cowell, asking for his token of appreciation in the shape of a snug little check.

What did Mr. Cowell do but respond with a letter giving Mr. Wead his power of attorney to act as agent for the vacant edifice in glory? Mr. Cowell specified that the monthly receipts should be sent to "Billy" for his personal use and benefit.

THOUSAND MEN GO OUT WHEN EIGHT-HOUR DAY IS REFUSED

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24.—The biggest of the recent series of machinists' strikes in this city came today, when 1,000 employees of the Peerless Motor Car company laid down their tools at noon hour. The strike comes, union officials say, because demands for the eight-hour day and other concessions had been refused.

Funeral of Mrs. Pool. WEEPING WATER, Neb., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—This afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal church was held the funeral of Mrs. Mary Pool, aged 67 years, who died Thursday. Interment was at the cemetery at Wabash, beside the body of the husband, who died just two years ago. Deceased had been a resident of Nebraska forty years, coming from Wisconsin. She is survived by three sons, Prof. R. J. Pool, head of the botany department at the University of Nebraska; Clarence, a farmer near Murdoch, and Albert, a farmer near Wabash.

PAIN DISAPPEARED AS IF BY MAGIC

Husband Is Grateful for the Change in His Wife's Condition.

According to the statement of W. H. Horner, 355 Fox street, Denver, Tanlac does the work. He claims his wife was in a terribly run down condition, and it seemed that she had scarcely any blood circulation. She suffered intensely from headaches and her sleep was fitful and unsatisfactory, making her nervous and languid. Her condition grew worse gradually, and he became alarmed, as she had tried so many different medicines without being benefited.

Mr. Horner states as follows: "One day I met a friend who said to me: 'Why don't you try a bottle of this Tanlac for your wife? I know persons it has helped, and it may prove beneficial in her case.' I brought a bottle home, and after my wife had taken a few doses I noticed a marked improvement in her condition. Her appetite became so ravenous that it was difficult for her to satisfy it. She began sleeping peacefully as a child and gained strength and flesh steadily. Her headaches disappeared as if by magic, and the circulation of the blood became normal. She no longer suffers from languid, worn-out feeling, but seems filled with life and energy, and now says working is a real pleasure. Heretofore the lightest kind of a task fatigued her."

"With each dose of Tanlac she is improving, and there is nothing I could say that would express my gratitude and appreciation. She is like a new woman, and gives this testimony regarding the merits of Tanlac in the hopes that it will be the means of leading others to try this remarkable medicine, believing firmly that they will be benefited as she has been."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha at the Sherman & McConnell Drug Company, 1614 and Dodge streets, where representatives of L. T. Cooper are explaining the medicine to the public.—Advertisement.
