NEWS DIRECT FROM FRONT

Dr. Despatcher Returns from the European War Zone.
SAYS THE ALLIES WILL WIN
British Are Sending Immense Fleets of Troops and Provisions to the Front to Combat the Germans.
Fresh from scenes of French mobilization and military activity, which were made more keenly personal by the fact that he has some brothers and many other relatives at the front, Dr. Felix J. Despatcher, Omaha, dentist, has returned home with his wife.
While at St. Nazaire, on the bay of Biscay, for over two months, he ran the town's gas plant, owned by his brother, while the latter was at the front fighting the Germans. The Omaha doctor also undertook to care for fourteen members of his relatives' families, while the husbands and fathers were serving in the army.
The port of St. Nazaire was turned over to the British and used by them for landing troops and supplies. Dr. Despatcher was made an interpreter between the British and French, which kept him very busy all the time, with his many other duties.
Hardships in Army.
As an example of the hardships endured by the French soldiers, he says that his brother, Frank, went forty-two days without taking his clothing or shoes, or sleeping in a bed, while serving at the front. Another brother's chateau, northeast of Paris, was demolished when the Germans neared the French capital. A brother-in-law of the Omaha man has thirty-eight close relatives in the French army, and their whereabouts and safety is unknown. Dr. Despatcher says:
"The French expected the Germans to take Paris. I had left there when mobilization started, and so I saw no fighting.
"I talked to many German prisoners at St. Nazaire, which is 30 miles west of Paris. Some of them told me they had not wanted to go to war, and that the higher classes and the militarism of Germany were responsible for the conflict.
"British Big Factor.
"There is no doubt how the war will come out. Great Britain will be the deciding factor and will make the allies victorious. The British camp sites are leased for three years, its recruits are enlisting for four years; British soldiers are entering France by whole fleets rather than shiploads, and British supplies are being carried across the channel by the hundreds of tons all the time. Everything points to a long war, with victory for the allies, through Britain's aid.
"If the allies win, there will be an end to the empire of Germany and Austria-Hungary. Separate republics of the peoples of different races will take their place. Russia will be the next menacing power to the peace of Europe, and must eventually be dealt with.
"German Drink, the Wine.
"French patriotism is wonderful, and will see the war through to a settlement of Franco-Prussian differences for all time. There is plenty of food and money in France, and the cost of living in Paris is lower than before the war. The way the Germans are drinking up French wine is one reason why France has won victories and taken German prisoners."
Dr. and Mrs. Despatcher called from Havre, which city, although French, is now the provisional Belgian capital and is overrun with French, British and Belgian soldiers.

City to Try to Force Paving Contractors to Start Work Now

City attorneys have been instructed by the city council, at the request of Commissioner Thomas McEwens, to proceed in the courts against contractors who have been unnecessarily delaying paving work. Four paving contractors will be forced to proceed hurriedly with delayed work or forfeit their contract bonds.
The contractors named in the resolution passed by the city council and the jobs they have delayed are:
H. J. Cathro & Co.—Barker street, Twenty-ninth to Thirty-third, not complete; Bancroft, Eighteenth to Twentieth, not complete; Nineteenth, Bancroft to Elm, not started; Burt, Lincoln boulevard to Thirtieth, not started; Douglas, Forty-fourth to Forty-eighth, not started.
Charles Fanning—Elm, Vinton to Twentieth, not started.
Ford Paving Company—Dewey, First to Fort-second, not started; Fort-first, Farnam to Emile, not started.
Hugh Murphy—Leavenworth, Fortieth to Forty-eighth, not started.

Why Not Publish It?

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallians, Paris, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

King Sees Bright Prospects Ahead

"There is nothing wrong with the country at this time," asserted D. E. King, industrial commissioner of the Missouri Pacific, who is in the city for a short time. "The real trouble is that the country is like some men whom I know. They think they are sick, when as a matter of fact there is nothing the matter with them. If people will quit talking hard times and carry smiles on their faces instead of letting the chin hang down to about the third button on the vest, you will see things commence to boom."
According to Mr. King, all over the central west and in many sections of the south there has been a decided betterment in business during the last sixty days. Manufacturing concerns are increasing their output and in many localities new industries are starting up.
