NUMBER SLAIN MOUNTING UP

So Far Government Has Taken No Measures to Interfere with Interstate Milk Transportation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Placing of a federal quarantine on shipment of live stock out of Ohio and Wisconsin and reports of the rapid spread of the foot and mouth disease in states already quarantined marked the day's developments at the Department of Agriculture in the fight against the worst epidemic of the infection ever known in the United States. Scores of additional federal inspectors were rushed into the field to trace every shipment from infected centers. Reports from inspectors already at work led department officials to predict tonight that many other communities soon will be affected.

Housing and Wilson Confer.

The number of animals killed in infected areas is rapidly mounting up, and the unmet demand upon the department to meet this loss and the expenses of inspectors led Secretary Houston to confer with President Wilson regarding an emergency appropriation from congress.

Under the present plan the department is paying the salaries of appraisers selected by the various states to fix the value of slaughtered animals and is bearing half of the actual meat value of the animals killed. The states pay the other half, leaving the owners to bear the loss of feed destroyed, of business and of the peculiar value of the live stock killed. From Ohio during the day came reports of infected cattle in the Toledo live stock yards, Fostoria and Moline and Norwalk. The outbreak in Wisconsin was discovered at Evansville.

Disease Quickly Spreads.

Inspectors reported that the disease had quickly spread over several scattered counties in Illinois. Infected herds were found in Mount Sterling, Brown county; Alledo, Mercer county; Dwight, Livingston county; Plano, Kendall county; Big Rock, Bureau county; and Kaneville, Kane county, and Summit, Cook county, in Pennsylvania and Michigan the infected areas were reported to have become extended.

So far the government has taken no steps to interfere with the transportation of milk across state lines.

The department officials hold that the disease is easily communicated to hogs through milk and even to human beings and children, particularly. The policy now in force, however, is to leave to the local authorities supervision over the milk supply to the various communities.

Many Inquiries Made.

Hundreds of inquiries poured into the department during the day from live stock owners and railroads as to the movement of live stock and feed across quarantined state lines. The government officials declined to make any exceptions to the rule that no live stock may be taken out of quarantined states and the rule that hay, straw and manure must be disinfected before being shipped from infected states. Farmers were advised that two months probably would elapse before they would be able to ship live stock out of quarantined states.

PANAMA CANAL AGAIN IS OPEN TO TRAFFIC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The Panama canal again is open to traffic. Colonel Goethals cabled today that shipping began passing yesterday afternoon through a channel opened through the recent landslides north of Godd Hill.

Germany Trying to Force Persia Into War with Russia

PETROGRAD, Nov. 5.—Via London.—The Bourse News has published a special dispatch from Teheran as follows: "All classes of Persian society are aroused by the action of Turkey. The German and the Turkish ministers here are exerting all their power to bring Persia into active participation in the war against Russia. Salared Dowleh, the pretender to the Persian throne, has announced himself openly as Germany's candidate for the rulership of Persia. Reports from Teheran say the Turkish consul there has been arrested and the German and Austrian consuls have taken refuge in the consulate of the United States. Turkish troops have crossed the Persian frontier and are approaching Ormea."

Bodies of Cooley and Cass Still in River

TANKTON, S. D., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The bodies of Editor Cooley of the Crofton (Neb.) Journal and Druggist Cass of the same place have not been recovered from the Missouri, although search has been continuous since the accident election night. The river is very swift at the point and doubt is expressed over ever finding the bodies. The automobile has been found and drawn out. It showed the steering gear intact.

POOL IS RUNNING BELOW MOREHEAD

Indications that Governor's Lead May Not Be Enough to Pull Ticket Through.

WAIT RUNS AHEAD OF HOWELL

Total of Forty-One Thousand Votes Pool Has Seven Hundred and Eighteen Votes More Than Wait.

Taking the office of secretary of state as the first available illustration, Governor Morehead is running over 3,000 ahead of Charles Pool in the nineteen representative counties from which complete, or practically complete, returns have been gathered, while Howell is barely leading Wait by 400 or a little better in the same counties. In these counties Pool has a total of 21,040, against Wait's 20,386, a lead of 718. Thus, while Pool appears to push Wait hard for secretary of state, his ultimate success will likely depend upon how great a majority Morehead polls over Howell. If Morehead's majority is as much as 10,000 or 15,000, he may drag Pool along, whose vote lags far behind the head of the ticket. If Morehead's majority should be not more than 5,000 or 6,000, the democratic ticket may fall by the wayside. If the vote on secretary of state is a reliable indication of how much the governor leads his ticket throughout the state.

WIRELESS CRY IS LAST WORD FROM CRADDOCK'S FLEET

Call of Glasgow Intercepted by German Victors Final Trace of Defeated Squadron.

TEUTONS SEE MONMOUTH SINK

They Hear Explosion Aboard Good Hope and Believe Crippled Boat Goes Down.

IMPOSSIBLE TO SAVE LIVES

Germans Would Attempt Rescue if Weather Permitted.

DETAILS OF BATTLE GIVEN

Story of Great Naval Engagement Off Chilean Coast Told by Triumphant Assaults.

VALPARAISO, Chile, Nov. 5.—A wireless cry from the British cruiser Glasgow—intercepted by the German victors—was the last word received from Rear Admiral Craddock's squadron following the engagement off the Chilean coast Sunday. The Germans saw the Monmouth sink and heard an explosion on board the Good Hope that they believe sent the crippled flagship to the bottom. All that night the German cruiser Nürnberg searched the seas unsuccessfully for the Good Hope. They picked up a radiogram directed to the flagship by the Glasgow. There was no reply.

850 on Monmouth

There were about 850 men on the Monmouth when it disappeared beneath the waves. Admiral Craddock had 900 men with him on board the Good Hope.

Whether the Glasgow and the transport Otranto, which escaped destruction, survived the damage suffered is not known. The whereabouts also of the German cruisers Leipzig and Bremen remains in doubt.

Further details of the first really important naval battle of the war became known from statements made by German officers. The latter did not hesitate to commend the bravery of the Britishers and intimated that an effort to save lives would have been made if the weather had permitted.

Fought in Teeth of Northern

The engagement was fought in the teeth of a northern that assumed almost hurricane proportions. Small boats could not live in the sea. The heavy weather nullified the larger ships and the Good Hope found it impossible to get away from the ship's side.

The German-China fleet, the cruisers Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and the Nürnberg, had rejoined the cruisers Leipzig, the Bremen which later had been detached to patrol the coast north of Valparaiso. The unit proceeded southward apparently well aware of the rendezvous of the British outside Concepcion bay. At the same time the British cruisers Monmouth and Glasgow, accompanied by the transport Otranto, moved north to meet the flagship Good Hope. The Britishers evidently were not aware of the proximity of the Germans and they met off Coronel.

Sight British Ships

It was 6 o'clock Sunday when the Germans sighted the three British ships. The latter attempted to alter their course and gain territorial waters and so avoid an unequal match. The Germans, however, headed them off and forced the battle.

At the moment that the German guns were trained the Good Hope was seen coming at full speed and through good seamanship it managed to join the other British ships. The Britishers had come about and the two squadrons sailed southward in parallel lines, the Germans being nearer the coast. Gradually the two lines came nearer to each other and the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau similarly let

Allies Are Claiming Victories in the East and West Battlefields

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Although England continued to await with some uneasiness official news as to the fate of certain of its warships in the Pacific, which were engaged last Sunday with a German fleet off the coast of Chile, this anxiety has been in a measure counterbalanced by the apparently favorable situation of the allied arms, both in the eastern and western arenas. The first German rush for the French coast having been checked, the news of the next few days will determine the truth or falsity of predictions as to the seriousness of the renewed German attempt to get to the coast by a more southerly route. There was nothing in the reports from West Flanders during the forenoon to indicate the trend of the new German attack, although Ypres continued to figure as the military key against which the Germans proposed to deliver their hardest blow. Opinion here is divided as to whether this fresh attempt to open a way to the channel will rival in intensity the struggle along the Yser. Some British optimists hold that the apparent exhaustion of the Germans is an indication that they are really planning to fall back, as they did before Paris on the entrenchments they have been so carefully preparing everywhere back of their lines. If this occurs it will mean another period of sleep warfare along the entire front in Belgium and France, a condition which probably will persist until one side or the other starts off on a new tangent, as did the Germans in their coastal attempt, thus creating some new acute area of hostilities. Meanwhile indications are that naval operations will become daily more prominent, particularly as Turkey's entrance into the situation widens the field for such warfare.

War Summary

No British warships are in Chilean ports. The fate of the three British cruisers that engaged five German warships off the coast of Chile and the transport that accompanied them, remains a mystery.

Great Britain has declared war on Turkey, and the Ottoman government, despite dissension in the cabinet, is definitely committed to hostilities against Great Britain, Russia, France and Serbia.

The new drive for the sea coast of the heavily reinforced German forces in Belgium has been met by a counter offensive of the also augmented armies of the allies in the vicinity of Ypres.

"The Franco-British lines have at no point drawn back," says the afternoon French official statement, and our troops undertaking the offensive have made notable progress in several directions."

It is declared that the allies have made slight progress to the east of Nieuport and that German attacks from Dixmude to the Lys are being made with less energy. Renewed German activity is reported on the center without notable change, and on the right of the allies the situation remains deadlocked.

A dispatch from Teheran reports that the Persians are much excited over the clash between Turkey and Russia. The pretender, Salared Dowleh, has proclaimed himself as Germany's candidate for the throne.

Great Britain has formally annexed the island of Cyprus, in the Mediterranean, which has remained long under the suzerainty of the Turkish sultan, though with a British administration.

The Russian War office announces that Russian troops have entered Turkish Armenia, defeated the Turks and occupied four towns.

The Russians are claiming that the Germans are falling back not only in Russian Poland, but also on the east Prussian frontier, and that Russian troops have penetrated at points on the east Prussian border.

British Mine Ship Sunk in North Sea

LONDON, Nov. 5 (4 P. M.)—The British mine sweeper Mary was sunk by a mine in the North Sea today. Six of the crew of fourteen were rescued. The survivors, who were landed at Lowestoft, reported heavy gun firing off the Yorkshire coast this afternoon.

American Marines Are Landed in Syria

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The Temps has received a report stating that American marines have been landed at Beirut, Syria, for the protection of American interests.

ROTTERDAM (via London), Nov. 5.—7:15 p. m.—The following official Turkish statement is contained in a dispatch from Constantinople: "The Russians are now strengthening their positions near the frontier, but have been repulsed completely from the Karaklissa and Teban districts."

"During the bombardment at the entrance to the Dardanelles the hostile fleet fired 240 shells without causing material damage. Our forts fired only ten shots."

LONDON, Nov. 5.—It was officially announced in London that a state of war exists between Great Britain and Turkey. The proclamation to this effect, which subsequently was gazetted, reads as follows:

"Owing to hostile acts committed by Turkish forces, under German officers, a state of war exists between Great Britain and Turkey from today and all proclamations and orders in council, issued with reference to the state of war between Great Britain, Germany and Austria shall apply to the state of war between Great Britain and Turkey."

A privy council was held in Buckingham palace this morning to discuss this question. At its conclusion King George signed the documents proclaiming the state of war and the announcement was made.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Naval news looms large in London today. The British public is seeking details of the battle of last Sunday off the coast of Chile, but no continued efforts are being made to minimize this disaster. Much anxiety is felt concerning Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Craddock, whose fate probably will not be known until it has been definitely determined what has become of his flagship, the cruiser Good Hope.

Sir Percy Scott, England's greatest gunnery expert and a champion of the use of the submarines as against dreadnoughts, has rejoined the admiralty. As he has been known in the past as supporter of Baron Fisher, it is expected
