PARIS EAGER IN NORTHERN FIGHT

French Watching Terrific Struggle Along Xpres in Every Detail of Information.

ABANDON MASS FORMATION

Germany Said to Be Changing Their Tactics, but Even So Cannot Make Any Impression on Defenders.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Paris is watching with the keenest interest in the battle in the north and every word from official and other sources is eagerly discussed.

Having been driven by gunfire and flood from the road to Dunkirk, the Germans appear to be concentrating all their energies on the Ypres-Arras line with the object of reaching Boulogne through the valley of the Canche river.

Three recently formed army corps, the eighteenth from Frankfurt, the eighth from Coblenz and the tenth from Hanover, have been brought up to stiffen the German troops, who are exhausted after nine days of ceaseless fighting.

The troops are being massed around Arras, behind strong positions at Beauvais, Tilloy and St. Laurent de Bligny.

Testing the French. Preparatory cannonading has become intense in the last two days according to a resident of the district just arrived in Paris, and infantry attacks have apparently had the object of testing the French strength. It was remarked that the enemy seemed to be abandoning the mass methods of advancing and tried attacking in open order, making use of all available cover, moving forward by short spurts and throwing themselves down when the French quickfired opened.

The result, it is said, has been no better, as the men seem to lack the initiative required to make this method effective. None of these attacks so far has made any impression on the French line.

The country between Arras and Boulogne is well wooded and hilly, lending itself admirably to defensive fighting, and every preparation has been made to utilize it, for it is realized that the Germans will make an even greater effort, if that be possible, than before, particularly in view of the critical situation on the Russian front.

BLACK HILLS BELGIAN DIES FROM WORRY OVER WAR

EDGEMONT, S. D., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Insanity from brooding over the calamities of the European war has claimed a second victim among Belgian miners employed in the Black Hills. A month ago David Vianne, a Belgian of Lead, employed in the big Homestake mine, shot and killed his wife and then himself when driven insane by the stories of the suffering of his relatives in war-stricken Belgium. Now Joseph Terrier, a native of the same country, lies dead at one of the other mines, the direct cause being brain and heart trouble. Terrier, who was a friend of Vianne, had been morose for some time, and this week his wife asked the officials to take him to jail pending an examination as to his mental condition. The officers had just called for him when he dropped dead. Coroner Hallow performed an autopsy and found brain cavity and an enlarged heart. He leaves a widow and several small children.

EDGEMONT SHERIFF TAKES AUTO THIEVES AFTER RACE

EDGEMONT, S. D., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Sheriff Hackney of Newcastle, Wyo., was in town yesterday and captured two men here with a Case automobile, who had stolen from Sulphur Springs, Mont. The men were coming down the line with their prize, and Sheriff Hackney did not receive word to stop them until after they had passed through Newcastle. Then he set out in another automobile to catch them, and over the stretch of forty miles of good roads west activity. None of the neutral Balkan states has yet thrown in its lot with the Entente powers. All eyes are turned toward Bulgaria, which is expected to move as soon as it is assured of desired territorial reward from its former allies.

The correspondent of the Express on the Belgian frontier, under date of Friday, telegraphs the following:

"The Kaiser is close to the front in Flanders, making efforts to inspire his troops to gain Calais."

"Despite the nearly successful bomb attack on him at Thiel Sunday, the Kaiser continues to drive daily through the territory behind the Bruges and Courtrai roads. His route is always kept secret and he uses a car of different appearance each time."

"Daily he singles out certain soldiers for acts of exceptional bravery and personally gives them the iron cross. He visits the field hospitals and talks to the wounded, invariably saying: 'Good day, comrade. The Kaiser wishes you a speedy recovery.'"

"The Kaiser dined with the staff at Ghent yesterday and returned to headquarters thoroughly dissatisfied with recent events in the campaign."

Third of Cattle Section of Kansas City Yards Burned

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 7.—Fire that burned fiercely for several hours early today swept the Kansas City stock yards and destroyed thirty acres of pens, covering one-third of the cattle section of the yards. The loss, at first estimated at $200,000, was a little more than $125,000, according to yard officials.

Several men were slightly injured. Whether any cattle perished is not known, but officials said they believed all had been removed.

The loss to the yards will result in only temporary inconvenience, it is said.

Russians Arrest Turkish Diplomats

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company reports that a message received there from Vienna says the Austro-Hungarian consul general and the Turkish diplomatic representative at Tabris, Persia, have been taken prisoners by the Russians and transported to Tiflis.

The Persian government and the American minister at Teheran, Charles W. Russell, have protested to Russia, according to the correspondent, against this alleged infraction of international law.

YARDS FIGHTING DREADED DISEASE

encouraging. The market will jump with the Chicago receipts, as soon as confidence has been established. South Omaha is the market which has always insisted upon being guided by the strict advice of the government veterinarians.

SUSPECTED MARKETS CLOSED

All Infected Herds Isolated by Bureau of Animal Industry.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—With the federal quarantine against the foot and mouth disease covering practically every suspected cattle market, officials of the bureau of animal industry today organized a force of inspectors to trace every shipment of cattle made from the infected area during the last two months.

Officials believe the quarantine already established covers all herds at present infected and that the strict maintenance of quarantine and the slaughter of infected cattle will stamp out the disease.

The bureau today had about 150 agents in the field tracing every head of cattle that passed through the Chicago yards in the last sixty days and every railroad car used to transport them.

With a single exception, the agents are destroying all herds where infection appears. The exception is the National Dairy show at Chicago, where about 1,000 Dairy show and trap shot blooded stock of the best blooded breeding stock of the country are under quarantine. Thirty-four cases have been discovered in the show animals, but the department is endeavoring to prevent the sacrifice of the entire herd.

In all the states where quarantine has been declared state officials have joined with the federal agents. In several states local quarantines have been established, and it is expected that states outside of the infected area generally will prohibit the shipment of cattle from quarantined states.

Killing Pigeons and Rats.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The Chicago Union Stock yards for the first time since its organization forty-nine years ago, was closed today because of the epidemic of foot and mouth disease, which is raging among cattle of thirteen states. Placed under quarantine by state and federal officials for a period of nine days, the Chicago yards will undergo a thorough fumigation before the slaughtering of animals will be permitted to be resumed.

One thousand men, working eight and ten hours a day, are spreading disinfectants over the 540 acres of ground comprising the yards, in addition to miles of chutes, pens, water troughs and big packing buildings.

Professional rat catchers began to destroy the thousands of rats which infest the yards and trap shot blooded away at pigeons, thousands of which live among the cattle pens. Both rats and pigeons, government experts say, carry the disease. All dogs and cats within the neighborhood of the yards were ordered killed.

No shipment of live stock will be made into the yards until the quarantine is raised. Shipments of dressed meats, however, will continue as usual. A majority of the 40,000 employees will be kept at work during the enforced suspension.
