EXPORTS SHOW SOME INCREASE Outside Nations Are Buying in Liberal Quantities from American

Furmers-Are Also Coutrolling Corn.

OMAHA, Nov. 9, 1814.

The wheat market is in a strong position. The export transactions vary from day to day, but this is because of the lighter offerings and of the inadequate tonnage for the carrying of the grain to the old world. Clearances for last week were 7,212,600 bushels from North America, which compares with 7,00,000 bushels the previous week and 7,814,000 bushels for the corresponding time last year.

Export clearances since July 1 were 123,841,000 bushels, while for the corresponding time last year were 105,444,600 bushels. OMAHA, Nov. 9, 1914.

Dushels.

It is expected that with ample tonnage at hand the clearances from America would reach 10,000,000, or possibly 12,000,000 weekly, from this time forward. The importing nations of the world are buying in liberal quantities and at conditions entirely satisfactory to those owning the grain.

Russia has started a wheat vessel to Great Hritain, but it is uncertain as to the route.

the route.

Argentine will have a fair sized surplus of wheat for sale, and it is expected the grain will move out of that country as rapidly as it is harvested and thrashed, as it is said that much Argentine wheat has already been sold for winter shipment.

Prices of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Speculative selling
due to the absence of any radical builtan news operated as a drag today on the wheat market here. Prices at the close were unsettled, %2%c to ½2%c lower than Saturday night. Other cereals, too, suffered a net decline—corn, %c to %c,
outcome was unchanged to loc down,
and oats, %c to ½2%c. In provisions the Nothwithstanding that wheat traders appeared inclined to accept the likelihood of a falling off soon in the movement of the crop to the leading terminals, it could not be denied that today's developments were far from satisfactory to the buils. Primary receipts turned out to be heavier than either last week or a year ago, and there was still an uncomfortable rate of increase in the domestic visible supply total. Besides the stock on hand in Chicago continued to be enlarged. Prices on Board of Trade.

the stock on hand in Chicago continued to be enlarged.

Big export business especially at Duiuth and Kansas City helped to rally the wheat market for a while, but the effect was not of a lasting sort. Talk of a serious shortage of ocean tonnage caused a good deal of uncertainty and was not much offset by opinions expressed that vessel room to Europe would be more readily obtainable in the near future.

Unfounded fear of a bearish crop report from Washington weakened corn. The government estimate on the yield proved bullish. Farm reserves, though, were larger than expected. Oats felt the depression in other grains. Frost damage in Argentina and the loss of a South American cargo on the way from Liverpool were only of temporary advantage to the bulls.

Selling by packers eased off the provision market. Shorts did most of the buying.

other markets. At the same time sellers were determined to hold prices up, knowing that the Chicago yards were closed and that packers could not buy fresh supplies at any other than Missouri river points. Owing to this difference in opinion between buyers and sellers, the trace on all kinds of killers opened slow and the forencon was well advanced before enough business had been transacted to make a market.

Feeders were also very much at a standstill, speculators being afraid to take hold for fear that something might happen to prevent the reshipment of the cattle back to the country. Most speculators were not trying to buy anything whatever, and such buyers as did make bids offered prices that were sharply ower than last week.

In the end beef steers, cows and heifers, in fact, anything at all desirable that would do for killers, sold at prices that were generally steady with last week's close. Feeders continued very slow, it being hard work for salesmen to find buyers, while the tendency of prices was downward, although in some cases not much different from last week's lower close.
