that they were real barges bearing food, their great thankfulness found ready expression.
"On Wednesday morning, just one week after the ship left London, we drove up in front of the American legation at Brussels and told Brand Whitlock, the American minister to Belgium, that the relief barges were safely moored in a pocket of the main canal.
All Afraid to Laugh.
"There was no need for the newspapers to spread the report of our arrival. In one hour all Brussels knew and rejoiced. Many people had feared that we would never get the food into Belgium, and us with the greatest courtesy and consideration, are clearing the debris from the waterfronts so that the shipments of relief supplies from America can be landed in the various towns without difficulty. They are working on the canals, and promise us by November 17 to clear the waterway to Liege, which at present is very hard to reach."

Mr. Bell will return to Rotterdam on Saturday to continue the work of rushing the emergency food supplies into districts where they are most needed.

GERMANS DRIVEN FROM DIXNUDE, IS REPORT IN LONDON

entrenchments stretching from Zebruggen to the Meuse.
Resumes Old Intensity.
The fighting on the Aisne seems to have resumed its original intensity simultaneously with the German assault on Dixmude, but in this region the French claim to have checked all the attacks of the enemy and consolidated their previous successes.
Nothing further has been heard in London of the reported naval activity in the Baltic, of the movements of the German fleet at Kiel, nor of the alleged sinking of three German cruisers in the Pacific.
Commenting on reports that the British government has invoked the Monroe doctrine to put a stop to the use of the Galapagos Islands as a base for the operations of the German warships in the Pacific, the Fall Mail Gazette points out that the interests of the United States in the neutrality of these islands, which Ecuador is unable to maintain, is paramount, and adds:
"President Wilson's government will not fail to see that our recognition of this fact at the present moment is a precedent for the future."
British Losses.
The announcement was made officially today that the British losses in killed, wounded and missing in the present war up to October 31, amounted to the big total of 57,000 men. All these gaps have been filled and big drafts of British soldiers are ready in France to take the place of the men lost from day to day, thus enabling the British command to put fresh troops in the field to follow up any retreating on the part of the German invaders.
The proportion of officers killed or wounded is very great, particularly with the Indian contingents. It has been suggested that the officers of these regiments stain their faces, as white men

Foreign Moslems in Constantinople to Stand By Turkey

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—(By Wireless.)—Included in the information given to the press today from official quarters is the following:
"Reports received here from Constantinople set forth that the Turkish army in the Caucasus is attacking the Russians on their second line of defense. An artillery engagement near Koopryoz on November 3 lasted all day long.
"The Persian, Afghan, Egyptian, Indian and Mohammedan elements in Constantinople have declared the community of their interests. The Sunnites and the Shites (two opposing religious sects) are now for the first time ready for joint action.
"The Voasche Zeitung reports that Roumania has declined a demand made by Russia for the passage of Russian troops through Roumanian territory.
"The London Times has published a statement to the effect that the British government has undertaken legal action against Irish newspapers for having opposed recruiting in Ireland."

Part of North Sea Free from Mines

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—(By Wireless.)—The German admiralty has declared that the northern portion of the North sea is free from mines. Consequently the sailing of neutral ships along this route is not attended with danger. There is danger, however, for vessels sailing through the southern portion of the North sea, and an area announced by England as being free of mines. The correctness of this, admiralty says, is proved by the newspaper, Nordnord, published in Norway, which declares that during the last few days several neutral ships have been found traversing the route recommended by the British admiralty.
The Deutsche Tages Zeitung has published an article setting forth that the Germans, in their laying of mines, have respected neutral shipping, while on the other hand the British have laid out a large mine field in the open sea.
See readers are too intelligent to overlook the opportunities in the "want ad" columns. They're worth while reading.

BATTLE ALONG LYS IS LESS VIOLENT

French Official Report Says Further Efforts to Cross Yser Were Checked.

ALLIES MAINTAIN POSITIONS

Artillery Exchanges and Minor Actions in Region East of Arras, Valenciennes, and as Far South as the Oise.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The French official announcement given out in Paris this afternoon says that from Lys to the sea the fighting has been less violent than on previous days. Several efforts of the Germans to cross the Yser were checked. "The list of the communications follows: "From the sea as far as the Lys, the fighting has been of a less violent character than on previous days. Several efforts of the Germans to cross the Yser canal at the western outlet from Dixmude and at other points of passage in the Aisne district were checked. Generally speaking, our positions have been maintained without change. "To the north, to the east and to the south of Ypres attacks of the enemy were repulsed at the end of the day, at different points of our line and that of the British army.

Artillery Exchanges.

"From the region to the east of Arras and as far as the Oise there have been artillery exchanges and actions of minor importance. "In the course of the last few days of foggy weather our troops have not ceased to make progress little by little. They are today established almost everywhere at distances varying from 200 to 500 metres from the network of barbed wire entanglements of the enemy. "To the north of the Aisne we have taken possession of Tracy Le Val, but with the exception of the cemetery to the northeast of this village we have made slight progress to the east of Tracy le Mont and to the southeast of Nourvin, as well as between Crotoy and Vregny, and to the northeast of Soissons.

German Counter Attack.

"In the vicinity of Vailly a counter attack by the Germans delivered against those of our troops who had retaken Chavonne and Soupir, was repulsed. Equal failure attended the German efforts in the environs of Berry Au Bac. "In the Argonne there has been a violent artillery duel. "There has been minor progress in the vicinity of St. Mihiel and in the region of Pont A Mousson. "A surprise attack delivered by our troops against the villages of Val and Chailion, near Clercy Sur Vaux, made it possible for us to capture a detachment of the enemy."

WAR READY FOR THIRD PHASE

French Experts Say German Offensive Period is Near Close.
PARIS, Nov. 13.—The conviction is growing here that the period of the German strategic offensive is drawing to a close and that the war, on both the western and eastern fronts, is about to enter its third phase.
The present violent effort in the Ypres region, while it may have succeeded in bringing down the allied lines in a few places, has not yet, according to either French or German reports, succeeded in breaking it and it seems impossible that the attempt can be repeated under the same conditions. Even success at this point might prove merely momentary, like that at St. Mihiel on the Meuse six weeks ago.
But General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, is fully alive to the importance of this position and according to an officer just returned from Ypres, that eventually has been prepared for. At Ypres and its environs, although the artillery of the Germans is formidable that of the allies is still more so and causes fearful carnage in the enemy's trenches. The fighting in this region is largely an artillery duel, with the infantry remaining in the trenches. They can only approach the enemy by boring tunnels, which are converted into trenches by piercing the roof.
However important the operations in Flanders may be, they are not overshadowed both in extent and influence they have on the war as a whole by the eastern campaign. Colonel Feyer, editor of the Swiss Review, and one of the best known military specialists, declares that Russia is now about to bring to bear all its effectiveness and it is realized that it intervenes at a moment when in Flanders German levies of the third line, young soldiers with six weeks' training, are being brought into action, the full significance of the operations on the eastern front will be recognized.
"Three Austro-German armies," he continues, "are advancing toward the angles of Thorn and Cracow. The Russian commander seems to be accounting the defense in the latter direction. If he succeeds the result will be far reaching. The Austrian army will be cut off from the Germans and forced to accept battle with its back against the Carpathians. "In addition there is prospect of a battle in the center of the line from Posen to Breslau, toward which the German army of Silesia seems to be directed in retreat and at a more or less early date West Prussia will be threatened by way of Thorn."

War Costs France Six Million Dollars Each Calendar Day

BORDEAUX (Via Paris), Nov. 13.—The cost of war to France in November was $12,354,000, a daily average of more than $4,000,000. The daily average for the first three months of the war was $7,000,000. The navy receives an extraordinary credit of $88,000.
The government will disburse immediately $12,000,000 for repairs to the railroad system. These probably have been made necessary by the wear and tear due to the transportation of troops. The sum of $1,250,000 has been set aside for the relief of the unemployed, while various smaller sums will be used to relieve suffering in localities invaded by the Germans, but which are now free of the enemy.

PRESIDENT WILL SPEND SUNDAY IN NEW YORK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Wilson plans to go to New York tonight to stay over Sunday with Colonel E. M. House, his personal friend. He probably will return to Washington Monday. If public business permits, Mr. Wilson will make another trip next week, going to New York or to one of the Virginia resorts.

ENGLAND WILL EQUIP MILLION MORE SOLDIERS

suited, suffering losses much heavier than the defenders.

Battle Before Cracow.

From the east comes reports that Petrograd is expecting to hear any moment that the great battle before Cracow has been started, while past Kallus and behind a screen of Cosacks, their infantry and artillery in force are said to be within striking distance of the German frontier.
Bucharest reports two Austrian divisions annihilated along the river Pruth which, if true, indicates that the Austrian opposition in Bukovina is at an end and the way opened for the invasion of Transylvania.
In the minor war theaters there is little to report except the severe defeat administered to General DeWet by his old comrade in arms, General Botha.

Austrian Report on Situation.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—(By Wireless)—The only news reaching Berlin of the Russian operations comes from Vienna, whence it is reported that the Austrians in the northeast are developing without hindrance from the enemy. The Russian central Galicia, voluntarily evacuated since have advanced through the region by the Austrians, and have crossed the lower Vistula, occupying Resow and the Laco district. The fortress of Przemysl again is invested by the Russians, but Russian forces in the Stry valley were forced to retreat, with heavy losses, by a surprise attack from an Austrian armored train and Austrian cavalry.
The campaign in northwestern Serbia is proceeding successfully, the Austrian reports declare. The heights of Misar to the south of Shabatz were captured November 10, the Austrians forcing the Serbians to abandon their strongly fortified positions. The Austrian line has advanced to the eastward of Lembitz and Kroupant, and continues to move forward. The heights to the eastward of Javjata have been captured. A total of twenty-eight cannon, eighteen machine guns and 4,300 men were captured in the operations between November 1 and 11.

BAN ON IOWA IS TO BE KEPT BY BUREAU

country. It is felt here that the freedom from foot and mouth disease at the Omaha stock yards and in Nebraska generally is to be attributed in a great measure to the fidelity with which the local interests follow out the recommendations of the United States veterinarians located here.
To Obey Orders.
A meeting of the live stock interests, including the members of the Stock exchange and the representatives of the Union stock yards will be held this evening for the purpose of considering the order issued by Dr. A. D. Melvin. It is not apprehended that there will be any opposition to the order. "We have always found it good policy to give cheerful obedience to the directions from the department of the bureau of animal industry," said E. Buckingham, it is not improbable that a resolution approving the Melvin order will be adopted at the meeting.

Of the 1,800 cattle reported at the Union stock yards, twelve loads were shipped direct to the packers here. The cattle market was reported as steady. Bulk hose ranged from 50 to 60 cents, with tops at 70 cents. $400 head being the number received. Steady to strong, the sheep market was made up of 7,000 offerings.
Strayer Home Sunday.
Indications are that Secretary A. F. Stryker of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange will be home Sunday. Stryker has been in Boston and New York. When the cattle scourge appeared he was ordered to proceed to Washington in the interests of the western stock growers. At Washington his services were placed at the disposal of the Bureau of Animal Industry. During his absence W. B. Tagg has been acting secretary of the exchange.
Fight Hampered by Lack of Funds.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Available money for fighting foot and mouth disease is getting low and officials of the Department of Agriculture are confronted with a perplexing situation. Lack of funds is hampering the department, and when congress reassembles in December a special appropriation probably will be asked.
This only money available is an appropriation of $200,000 made by congress last year for inspection and quarantine work. This is almost exhausted and officials do not care to risk creating a deficit because under the law they are liable to heavy fine and imprisonment. Officials are seriously considering how to discover some means of tiding over the situation until congress convenes.
Half of the expense of slaughtering is borne by the federal government.

THREE TURKISH SHIPS SUNK IN THE BLACK SEA

LONDON, Nov. 13.—An official dispatch from Constantinople, reaching London by way of Berlin, confirms indirectly the recent Russian statement that a Russian fleet has sunk three Turkish transports in the Black sea.
The Constantinople report admits that there has been no news of these three ships since they left the Turkish capital a week ago. It adds that as the vessels were near Soudak on the Black sea the day this place was bombarded, it is possible that they were attacked by the Russian squadron.
