With a Little Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet, the Secret of Perfect Digestion.

You should see our lariners and their boys eather in the fields. On the farm five meals a day is the rule. No one ever has stomach trouble because meals are digested and people live normally. In the city we lose our 'rep' and indigestion, dyspepsia, stomach treuble, etc., make us look on five meals as an impossibility.

Foe in the city. He can't eat. Why, a sandwich like this would kill him."

A majority of people have come to know the blessings which an occasional use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets conforupen the stemach. They are unquestionably the most popular remedy known, for the reason that dyspepsia is the national disease, and these wonderful little tablets have long since acquired a national reputation as a theroughly reliable and efficient cure for all forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

No matter how great the excess of food taken into the stomach, one or two of these tablets will digest every particle of it. A package of stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should always be in the nouse. Many a person has saved himself from a serious attack of acute indigestion by using them after neavy meals, such as are eaten Christmas, New Year's, Thanksgiving and other holidays and festal seasons.

festal seasons.

After attending banquets, late suppers, heavy fancy dinners, after-theater parties, etc., where one has dined sumptuously and luxuriantly, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should invariably be used.

How to Overcome or Prevent Pyorrhoea

Among the many diseases for which bad teeth are now held responsible are: Chronic inflammation of the pharynx, disease of the middle ear, gastrile, gastric ulcer, anemia. The explanation is that the poisons generate in the diseastive tract by these germs of dental origin, set up, chronic inflammation of the connective tissues between the bundles of nerve cells in the overworked area. The disquieting feature of the whole matter, says the London Lancet, is that teeth and gums which appear to be perfectly nealthy may be theeders of this mischley outs germ. These discoveries are adding gums which appear to be perfectly nealthy may be ineeders of this mischleyous germ. These discoveries are adding new terrors to pyorrhoea, or Riggs disease. It is imperative, if one would preyent the loss of teeth, to look to his gams and teeth constantly. You can tell, of course, when the gums recede from the teeth, when they are sensitive to heat or cold, to sweets or tobacco, when the gums are red and swollen, or inflamed, when the gums bleed easily, are sore or tender, when pus exudes or you find the gums shrink from the necks of the teeth.
And you can easily overcome these conditions if you will so to your druggist and and then throwing it out. The pale struw color or deep yellow of the teeth will become firm and strong—you can feel that with your fingers—the soreness will disappear over hight, and you will save yourself from false or store teeth.—Advertisement.

Keen Interest in the Trials for Votes by Saving Coupons from Merchants' Cash Registers for a Year.

The Union Pacific as a part of its agreement, was to furnish to the three winners in the contest, round trin tickets to the Pacific coast expositions. In addition, The Bee agreed to add enough cash to the cost of the tickets, so that each winner would have what would be equal Constant Struggle.

With these understandings and agreeents, the contest was launched and rom the very start it was a constant struggle to see who would win. There were sixty-six persons in Omaha and elsewhere who entered the contest.

Almost from the first day of the contest Miss Watts took the lead and held Parmer's Boy-"Just think of brother it to the end. Friends everywhere worked for her and time and again, men, women and children came to The Bee business office, bringing in their receipted bills and casting their votes for her as their

For a long time after the contest started, Miss Pinney was second, but during the last few weeks of the voting. Charles Hall who practically all the time prior to this had been third in the race, forged ahead. He took second place and held it to the finish.

It is interesting to note that in the final count Miss Watts had 4,002,253 votes, Mr. Hall 3.843.662 and Miss Pinney 3.717.352. thus indicating that the leaders were really all in a bunch

Close to the Winners There was still another contestant, Mrs.

Emma Perry, who all the time kept the three leaders scared, for at the close of as they digest the food perfectly and completely, and prevent all possibility of dyspepsia, which, without their use, is more than likely to ensue.

ontest was being waged was there any ill feeling among the contestants. They were all urging their friends to trade with the merchants who were in the contest and all the time they were busy saving their receipted bills and urging their friends to do the same.

In its contract with the Union Pacific, The Bee turns over to Miss Watts, Mr. Hall and Miss Pinney three fully paid, first-class round trip tickets. They will good at any time between March f and November 30 of next year. The only condition required by the railroad company is that they shall be used between these dates. They will enable the holders to travel first class and on any but the limited trains, with such stopoffs as may be designated later when the Union Pacific completes its exposition schedule. These tickets will not only take the holders to San Francisco, but they will be good to as far south as San Diego, thus enabling the three Omahans to visit the exposition there if they so desire.

All Expenses Paid, With $80 placed as the cost of the contest will have an even $150 for exis not too extravagant can do the exposition in good style. The sleeping car fare and the meals en route to the coast and return will, of course, have to be first considered. The standard sleeper fare is coming. Suppose $1 meals are eaten and Practically all the corn on the Omaha there are three of them per day, the entire bill for meals will be but $18. Add this to $22, the bighest price for sleeper, and then add the $50 for railroad fare and you will find the total is $90. This leaves for seeing the exposition.

Suppose the winners in The Bee's contest wanted to stay on the coast ten days. each would have money enough out of the winnings so that $10 per day might be spent and each each have $10 left. Or, cut the expenses to $5 a day, which is nearer what they would be, each one of the parties could remain twenty days, which would probably be long enough, though of course it would be impossible to see everything in connection with the exposition in this length of time. Too, it would be impossible to see all if one remained a year, for there would be new things developing along new lines every

At any rate, for the three persons who were winners in the contest that was inaugurated by The Ree, the Omaha merliants and the Union Pacific, the trips are to be glorious ones and each all are assured a pleasant outing, a safe fourney and the best of accommodations, at least City Need Not Pay while they are on the trains.
