YALE AND HARVARD TO MEET

Climax of Eastern Foot Ball Season Will Be Staged at New Haven. CRIMSON IS SLIGHT FAVORITE Seventy Thousand University Fans Will Help Dedicate New Yale Bowl—Records of Teams and Players.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—The climax of the eastern foot ball season will be staged here tomorrow when the teams of Yale and Harvard universities meet in the thirty-fifth game of the inter-varsity series which began in 1878. During this stretch of forty years intercollegiate foot ball and its attendant features have undergone remarkable evolutions. Numerous changes in the playing rules have been made and the theory and methods of attack and defense radically altered. All these variations in the game and play sink into insignificance when compared with the great transformation of foot ball

YOU'VE noticed that there is a vast difference in "mild" cigars. Some are mild only for the first inch or two of smoking. Others are mild in the sense of "tasteless."

The mildness of the Robert Burns is a different kind. Its delicate flavor lasts from tip to tip. It has the satisfying mildness which indicates carefully selected tobacco expertly blended by the finest of hand workmanship.

Tell your dealer your favorite shape. He'll have it in the Robert Burns. Incidentally—ask him to show you the new "Invincible" shape. We believe that it will please you.

OMAHA LAD WHO PLAYS ON THE CORNHUSKER TEAM.

WARREN HOWARD. The advance guard of the thousands, who will contribute fully $100,000 to the athletic associations of the two universities for the privilege of witnessing the game are already pouring into this city by train, boat and motor car. The night-before gathering has taxed the capacity of the local hostilities to an extent never before experienced here and the overflow has been shifted into private dwellings as a last resort for the night. This rush is but the forerunner of the throngs that are scheduled to descend upon New Haven tomorrow. With a new stadium with a seating capacity almost twice as great as the former wooden stands at Yale field additional thousands have taken the opportunity to witness one of the foot ball classics of the year. More than 50 per cent of the spectators will come from points outside this city. According to the railroad management about 25,000 persons will be moved by special trains, twenty-five of which will start from New York City and fifteen from Boston in addition to the regularly scheduled service.

The game itself, aside from the dedication features of the new Yale "bowl" and the assembling of a record gathering of foot ball enthusiasts, will prove an exceedingly interesting contest, is the general opinion of the coaches and experts who have followed the work of the eleven all season. Harvard is a slight favorite in the wagering, due to the showing made in the eight games played to date and the fact that Percy Haughton and his successful coaching system holds full sway at Cambridge. Yale on the other hand is just finishing the first season of a new campaign of foot ball under the tutelage of Frank Hinkey, former captain and end at the Yale teams of 1883 and 1894.

Crimson is Favorite. This slight preponderance of support in favor of the Crimson is due chiefly, however, to the better showing made by Harvard in the preliminary games of the schedule. The Cambridge eleven has won all its games, with the exception of the contest with Penn. State, which resulted in a tie at 13 to 13. In six of the first seven games Harvard ran up double figure scores, Michigan alone being able to hold Haughton's pupils to a single touchdown without the accompanying field goals which have marked all the other contests. Yale has also proved that it possessed a strong scoring attack but has played erratic foot ball, especially on the defense.

Two opportunities are offered for a comparative score analysis in the games against Washington and Jefferson and Brown. Harvard defeated the Pennsylvania team 10 to 9 on October 10, while two weeks later the same eleven won from Yale 13 to 7. Against Brown the Blue lined up a team of regulars and substitutes in about equal proportion so that the victory of 14 to 7 carries greater weight than the Harvard substitute eleven's scoreless tie with Brown.

Blue Has Many Victories. Whatever the relative merits of the 1914 teams the Blue has a long string of victories over the Crimson to its credit, when the series is reviewed as a whole. In the earliest days of the game when the point system of scoring was unknown, Yale gained a lead which she has held so firmly ever since. Since 1883, when touchdowns, goals and field goals were accorded a point value, Yale has won seventeen games to Harvard's six, while five resulted in ties. In the total number of points scored the Blue have being: Yale, 278; Harvard, 167. The blue eleven have shut out Crimson teams on thirteen occasions, while the Harvard victories over Yale in which the Elis were unable to score number but four. In recent years the Cambridge teams have developed a strength when facing the Blue quite unknown to the eleven of the '90s. In 1907 Yale ended a string of six straight victories and in the following six years won one, lost three and tied two. It was a desire to check this slump in Yale foot ball that caused the call to go out for Hinkey. What the new coach and his system of play has done toward restoring Yale to the high gridiron plane formerly held by Blue teams will be demonstrated tomorrow.

HUSKERS IN CEDAR RAPIDS

Hold Morning and Afternoon Practice on Coe Field. DETERMINED TO WIN FRAY Spirit of Confidence and Determination in the Men and All Are in Good Shape for Fray Except Doyle and Norris.

WARREN HOWARD.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Nov. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—Filled with a grim determination to win, Coach Stehm's squad of Cornhuskers will invade Iowa City tomorrow to battle Coach Hawley's Hawkeyes and with the old Nebraska light well entrenched within them, it will only be a marvelous defense that can stop the rush tomorrow for Cornhusker touchdowns. The Huskers arrived in Cedar Rapids from Omaha this morning and shortly before noon Stehm had his charges out for signal practice on Coe field. Again this afternoon the Nebraska lads went through the signals and it could be easily seen that the old machine is working with the same precision which proved the undoing of the Michigan Aggies and Kansas.

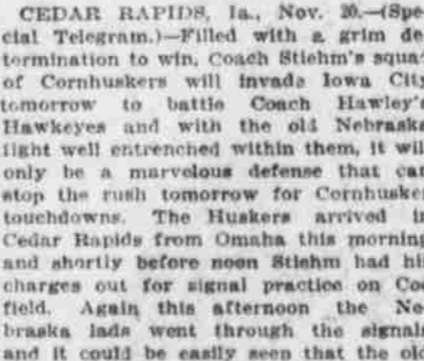

The team is in good shape. Doyle has a bum leg which will keep him from the game. DeLanyne, the Omaha lad, will start at fullback, but Doyle may get a chance. Pat Norris is also out. Rutherford and Potter are limping a bit, but neither expects to be handicapped very much.

Team is Confident.
The boys are confident of winning. While they recognize in Iowa a worthy foe they feel that nobody in the west is superior to them. Stehm has several new recruits which he has not yet disclosed this year and he will rely upon the Hawkeyes if his lads find themselves in a tight position.

The Cornhuskers discount the bear stories emanating from Iowa City. It is considered that Hawley is working a bit of a Stagg and that every regular will be in the line up tomorrow ready to do or die, despite assertions that two Hawkeye stars will be out of the fray.
