Three Leagues Now Organized to Participate in Winter Sport.

Nine Churches Are to Have Teams Upon the Floors During the Season About to

Basket ball is to be the king of indoor sports with the younger set this vinter. Though the official season does not open for nearly a month, three leagues have organized with a total of twenty-five teams. This number is sure to be doubled during the next few weeks when a large number of free-lance grees that practically elevate them to the WORKMEN WILL GIVE DANCE teams take up the winter sport. Many of these have already lined up for the season and have started playing.

Interest in the floor game centers about the leagues. The first to be organized, the Church league is the largest in point of number, nine church teams having entered. New reatures entering into the local basket ball sport, will easily insure its success. Some have regular league officials at every game and thus do away with all misunderstandings brought about by incompetent arbiters.

There will be more floors on which to stage the games. Last season all the contests were played at the Young Men's Christian association.
