

Miss Edith Martin Opens a "Clearing House for Talent"

"A clearing house for talent" has been established by Miss Edith Martin in Room 4, Baldwin building, on West and Farnam streets for the purpose of supplying the middle west demands for chautauque lecturers, musicians, songsters and complete entertainment programs.

Miss Martin said:

"A bureau of this scope has never been tried in the middle west before. The need has already been demonstrated by the calls for talent I have received from several Nebraska towns."

It is Miss Martin's plan to make the "Bureau of Music and Dramatic Art" serve the interests of local talent as well as national lecturers. She has listed an array of talent to meet all demands.

Miss Martin is a graduate of Northwestern university, is widely acquainted in Omaha and is well known throughout the state. She has had considerable experience in chautauque work and has secured sufficient "backing" in the present enterprise to insure its success.

At the Theaters

to play the leading masculine role after Mr. Farnum gave it up. The play itself is a stirring, gripping piece of civil war drama, and its production here at stock company prices offers a real opportunity to Omaha theater-goers.

The merits of child-acting are now well established on the American stage, and Omaha is to be congratulated that such a skilled juvenile will appear here. The title role, which she will play, is one of the biggest child parts in any production now on the stage. It is that of the daughter of a Confederate officer who is caught by Union soldiers while on leave visiting his family.

Mr. Lynch is cast as the Union colonel who shows civility to the rebel officer after the latter's little daughter intercedes. Many touching scenes occur during the martial action of the play, which has been unusually successful ever since it was first presented. The other Woodward players will have ample chance to prove their ability, and the production as prepared by Director Doyle is certain to prove worthy.

The title of the "Dreamland" has always been synonymous with good entertainment. The production this season under the same old title will undoubtedly further enhance the value of the title as a money drawing power in the burlesque theaters. The sponsors for the offering have engaged a company of fifty capable performers, whose experience and reputations presage the most successful season in the history of the show. Andy Lewis, formerly with Al Reeves, has been secured to lead the ranks of the fun promoters, and you, who are regular patrons of burlesque, know that he will make good. "Griller" being the real essence of a burlesque entertainment, it is fitting that a "queen" of royal rank should reign over the frolics. None better could possibly have been secured than Ines De Verdi, a stately prime donna of royal mien, who will lead the array of feminine beauty without which no burlesque show is complete. Nemo Cato, the sprightly scoubrette, will lead the mischief makers bent on heart breaking. Fred Ireland, the comedy straight man, is "some matinee" idol himself. The "Dreamland" chorus is a feature. Altogether "The Dreamland" is just what the doctor ordered and should be taken in large doses at the popular Gayety this week.

The engagement opens this afternoon. There will be a matinee every day, the Thanksgiving day matinee being held until 3 o'clock, that you may have time to enjoy your annual feast before going to the day.

By special arrangement the Empress has arranged a novel vaudeville bill this week. The management will give their patrons their second annual all-girl bill. This attraction proved so popular last year that it will now become an annual affair. H. Bart McHugh presents "The Metropolitan Minstrels," "Bonnie" and "Tambo" are riots of comedy. All the minstrels are pretty young ladies. "The Four Society Girls" sing "That's All" and that is a plenty for these four girls furnish an abundance of harmony and believe in the old adage of doing one thing well. Doyle and Elaine, two comedy cut-ups, are billed as the "Daffydill Girls." The Crawford Sisters offering a new and pleasing comedy, close the vaudeville show.

To close this specially selected bill the management has arranged to show the most exciting and thrilling photo-drama that George K. Eline has ever produced, "Between Savage and Tiger." It presents a story of adventure and romance in the jungles of India that fairly bristles with excitement and keeps the spectators in a constant state of feverish interest and enthusiasm. Tigers, water buffalo, antelope, savages and all the other wild elements with which the jungles of India abound are utilized in rounding out a consistent tale of gripping interest. According to all accounts, no animal, no jungle or adventure story that has thus far been seen in this country can compare with this remarkable photo-production.

For today at the Hipp theater once more they will have the ever popular actress, Kathryn Williams, in a three-act drama, "The Story of the Blood Red Rose." Starting Monday for two days a Victoria Cross masterpiece from the popular play and novel, "Life's Shop Window," featuring Claire Whitney and Stuart Holmes.

For Wednesday and Thursday Daniel Frohman presents "Tyronne Power" in the famous society drama, "Aristocracy," by Bronson Howard, in four parts.

Theodore Roberts, the leading American character actor, starting in his first moving picture production, "The Circus Man," pictured by Jesse L. Lasky for George Barré McCutcheon's novel. "The Rose in the Ring" will be the attraction for the last two days of the week.

FRANK O'DELL TO ADDRESS THE PHILOSOPHERS TODAY

Frank G. O'Dell, secretary of the American Rural Credit association, will address the Omaha Philosophical society this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the society's hall, Nineteenth and Farnam streets. His subject will be "Faults and Merits of Present Day Journalism." A general discussion will follow the principal address.
