The Thankagiving dinner, that topic which is now uppermost in the housewife's mind, will not be such a task this year as in previous years. "Practically every essential of a Thanksgiving spread pretty high on some commodities, as a whole, the average of cost is reasonable." Turkeys of the first grade are selling than last year, as the scale then ranged previous year. from 25 to 27 cents, and the latter was generally the price asked.

Frozen turkeys are cheap. There is a large stock of frozen turkeys on the market, selling at 18 cents.

Geese and ducks are very scarce. The price of geese has taken a 2-cent jump and is new 20 cents. Ducks are selling at the same price. This is about the same as last year. Both geese and ducks are very scarce.

Chickens are up. Realizing that many ersons will select chicken for the dinner in preference to the more expensive turkey, the progressive commission men have boosted the price, so that the retallers are forced to do likewise. The price today is 16% cents, while last week chickens were selling at 13% cents.

Pumpking Are Scarce. For the person who loves pumpkin ple comes the information that no pumpkins are to be had. A few were on the market about Hallowe'en, but they have disappearded since then. Canned pumpkin is all that can be procured and, while some prefer it, many dyed-in-the-wool pumpkin ple eaters will be disappointed. Cranberries are cheap, selling at 7% cents a pound. Nuts are also chesp, mixed nuts bring-

Eggs and butter are high. Fresh eggs are at 22 cents and storage eggs at 26 Butter is 24 cents.

Vegetables Reasonable. Vegetables are plentiful and reasonable. All kinds are on the market so that the Thanksgiving dinner need not so begging along that line. Figs, dates, grapefruit and such little incidentals are all to be had at reason-

Sweet potatoes are on the market and selling at the low figure of three pounds

Cheese is reasonable considering the economic conditions now existent which will shoot up the prices. Imported Swiss will shoot up the prices. Imported Swiss cheese is 40 cents and domestic 26 cents. French requefort is 45 cents and New York white and colored 20 cents.

Apples are plentiful and cheap. Jonathans still sell at $1.85 a box. Oranges are also on the market at reasonable
