BZZZING AT GOVERNOR'S EAR
Whole Cohorts of Democrats Swarm About Executive Office.

SOME, NOT ALL, WANTS JOBS
One or Two Campaign Managers Have Already and Are Satisfied with What Efforts Have Brought Forth.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Nov. 25.—(Special.)—They come and they go. They consult and re-consult with the governor, but so far it has not been given out who will draw pay from the state the next two years. The governor's reception room is the busiest place in the whole state house. Men of prominence and others not so prominent linger and wonder what the harvest will be.

Yesterday several of the newly elected state officers, Secretary Stratton of the state committee, Earl Gaddis and one or two others prominent in the campaign were consulting with the governor. Gaddis was tending door, and none but those who fought nobly in the late conflict was allowed to pass the portals.

Three men in the campaign for democratic victory are conceded by all to be worthy of great consideration by the governor. These are Secretary Stratton of the democratic state committee, who engineered the campaign which landed five democratic state officers and a nonpartisan democratic chief justice; Clarence Harman, who engineered Governor Morehead's personal campaign, and Earl B. Gaddis, who did the heavy work in the publicity department at democratic headquarters and to whose far-seeing and peculiar vision much of the success of the campaign is due.

Gory Suffragette for Two.
But strangely, two of these worthy patriots were nothing as it is said. He has been glory enough for them to have seen their efforts rewarded, and they care not for political preference. Secretary Stratton is already on the state payroll as court reporter to Judge Corcoran of the Fifth district. He wants nothing more. Gaddis has been secretary of the state tax commission the last two years at a salary of $1 a day. To the average newspaperman like Gaddis, this ought to look like a gold mine, but unfortunately the legislature fixed a time limit on the number of days, and sixty was all that could be counted.

"Gad" has managed to get in the sixty days all right and many of his friends can testify that he has drawn the pay by numerous participations in the results. Clarence Harman has been mentioned in connection with the State Board of Control, but he denies that he wants the job. To the Bee, before the election, Harman said he was perfectly in love with his present job as food and oil commissioner and had fairly got started, and in the event of Governor Morehead's reelection he would like to finish the work he had begun and which he desired to see carried out.

Some Hope for "Gad."
So it is probable that these three political generals, entitled to wear all of the insignia of that rank, will still be found doing in the next two years what they are doing now, with the exception of Mr. Gaddis, whose office expires when the tax commission makes its report to the legislature, unless the commission should be continued, which there is some talk of doing. In that case Mr. Gaddis may be found in the next two years as in the last two, distributing sunshine among his friends by reason of the $10 per.

No Chapman Taxes Are Being Collected

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Due to the injunction filed in district court restraining the county clerk from the levying of taxes for the payment of principal and interest of the $2,000 bonds voted in school district No. 3, Chapman, and in addition restraining the county treasurer from the collection of said taxes, John T. McLean has taken the stand that to prevent complication he will accept no taxes whatever from Chapman until the court has passed decision and the matter is settled. This Judge Hollenbeck will do November 30.

LOOMIS RECOVERING QUICKLY FROM FIRE

LOOMIS, Neb., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—With possibly one exception, the merchants burned out last Saturday will be established in new quarters and open for business by the end of the present week. Johnson & Hoim, the largest individual losers, have secured a large room in the Gamel brick building and expect the arrival of new stock in a few days. A. W. Lappart has rented rooms in the Miner building and is at present engaged in installing restaurant and confectionery supplies and fixtures. The vault of the Farmers State bank had cooled sufficiently by Monday morning to admit of its being opened and the contents were found uninjured. This institution is now located in the Hanson building, Gamel block. The more valuable stock of the jewelry store has been deposited in the vault of the First National bank. Mr. Johnson will reopen for business one door south of the postoffice. Abramson & Johnson and the meat market have been serving customers since a few hours after the fire in Gamel block. The same holds true of the barber shop, which is temporarily located in Firemen's hall.

Fitch Makes Demand for Certificate of Election in Madison

MADISON, Neb., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—John W. Fitch filed petition in district court against S. R. McFarland, John E. Douglas and Fred H. Davis, county board of canvassers of the returns of the general election of November 2, asking the court for a writ of mandamus, requiring said board to reopen and canvass the returns for commission of District No. 1, and to issue to him a certificate of election. Mr. Fitch alleges in his petition that he was the only candidate for such office and elected therefor, and that his vote was counted and canvassed and a duly certified return made thereof to the county clerk by the judges and clerks of the several polling precincts; that said canvassing board, consisting of McFarland, Douglas and Davis, neglected and refused to make any abstract of such vote, or to in any wise consider it.

Mr. Fitch further states in his petition that he is legally elected county commissioner of District 1, and his term of office will begin January, 1915, and as such he is entitled to receive from County Clerk McFarland a certificate of election for said office.
Judge Welch entered order assigning November 30, 1914, at 7:30 p. m. as time of hearing for respondents to show cause why said writ of mandamus should not be issued.

Notes from Nebraska City and Otoe County

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. George Hillton of Pappas, Ia., who were run down and killed at Payne Junction yesterday, were taken to their home for interment last evening after an inquest had been held. CONVICTS SOON TO BE IDLE

Nebraska Will Face Proposition Providing Work for Them.

OTHER STATES IN SAME FIX

Iowa Has Similar Problem and Relief Exists that Prisoners Should Be Kept Busy on Roads.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Nov. 25.—(Special.)—"What shall we do with our convicts?" is a question discussed by Warden Fenton and the members of the State Board of Control, since it has been discovered that the broom factory contract will not be renewed in the future so as to employ the bulk of the men now in the penitentiary.
Warden Fenton was in consultation with the board this morning covering general matters at the penitentiary and to the Bee volunteered the information that the problem of keeping prisoners busy will soon have to be solved.
"Other states are facing a much greater proposition than Nebraska has to face," said the warden. "Only recently Warden McClooughrey of the Iowa penitentiary, with one of the members of the Iowa board came to Lincoln to see what we were doing with our inmates and for the further matter of talking over conditions. They have about 1,000 prisoners there who ought to be put to work at something to occupy their time. Oklahoma has about 1,600 men in its prison who are unemployed, while other states are complaining about the situation."

Road Work Solution.
The warden is firm in the belief that the men here ought to be utilized in building roads and says that he could furnish a large force for road work if the legislature would take some action along the line of building roads. He likes the idea of Mayor Zehrung of Lincoln, who would like to see a macadam road between here and Omaha and believes that the state ought to take hold of the matter as soon as possible.
When the broom contract runs out 250 men will have nothing to occupy their time and an idle man inside the walls is a harder proposition to handle than a busy man outside the prison, according to the experience of the warden.

Holiday at State House.
The state house will be closed generally tomorrow. It is probable that the usual custom of opening a few minutes in the morning to receive the first delivery of mail, if one is made, will be observed in the more important offices, but in the afternoon the Lincoln-Topeka high school football game will receive the attention of a good share of the statehouses.

New Bank at Bushnell.
A new bank at Bushnell in Kimball county has been granted a charter by the state banking board under the name of the Bushnell State bank. It has a capital of $10,000 with J. N. Wyatt, president; Otis Schuman, vice president, and F. O. Baker, cashier.

Funeral of Henry Seymour.

FULLERTON IMPLEMENT WAREHOUSE DESTROYED

FULLERTON, Neb., Nov. 25.—(Special Telegram.)—The implement warehouse of K. C. Knudson of this place was practically destroyed by a fire early this morning. The building was a two-story frame structure a half block long. What caused the fire is unknown. Two automobiles and a great deal of the stock of implements were destroyed. Mr. Knudson carried two insurance policies on the building and stock, which covered the loss to some extent. Mr. Knudson was a member of the last legislature from Fullerton.

JURY SETTLES DISPUTE BETWEEN TWO BANKERS

SUPERIOR, Neb., Nov. 25.—(Special Telegram.)—The district court of Jewell county, Kansas, has decided that a note of $2,750 sold by an officer of the failed First National bank to ex-Governor Bailey of Atchison was the original. Banker Wallace of Fairmont held a duplicate. The jury disagreed at the first trial. At the trial neither experts nor the signer of the note could determine which was the original or bona fide note.

FUND FOR POOR PUPILS, TOO
J. B. Carver is Placed in Charge of Money to Assist in Keeping Some Poor Children in School This Winter.

Two hundred families were given big Thanksgiving baskets of food and clothing by the several charity organizations of the city working together yesterday. The donations were received from the 20,000 school children of the city.
In addition to clothing and food the Central High school students gave $120 in money to the Visiting Nurses association, and the grade school pupils donated $150, which will be turned over to Chief Probation Officer of Schools J. B. Carver to use as he sees fit to help pupils through the winter.
"The donations by the grade pupils which was placed in Mr. Carver's hands will be used to buy clothing to keep children in school who would possibly be compelled to stay away because they did not have clothes," said Assistant Superintendent Belle M. Ryan.

Food to Charities.
Much of the food donated will be given to such charities as the Visiting Nurses, the Old People's Home and the Child Saving Institute.
"For this reason there may be some disappointment," said Miss Mabel W. Porter of the Associated Charities. "The goods will last some of these institutions through the entire winter. However, we have aimed to serve all needy families with generous baskets and among all the charities we believe we have been overlooked."

A few schools did not donate to the charity fund, but distributed their donations themselves among the needy in the districts surrounding the schools, where the principal and the teachers were well acquainted with the needs of the residents.
Charity workers say the donations were unusually generous, twenty large truckloads being received Tuesday and two or three more yesterday.
Another donation will be taken by the charities for Christmas and will be handled in the same way.
Captain Kline of the Salvation Army gave valuable assistance in collecting the donations in that he furnished ten men and three wagons. The work of distribution was completed yesterday.

Golden Sheaf Whiskey
A NEBRASKA PRODUCT

Equal to the Best Made Elsewhere in Purity and Flavor.

The liquor question will be settled eventually between those who know how to use liquor temperately and demand the right to purchase it, and those who deny them such right. The demand creates the supply. Statistics prove that notwithstanding an increased consumption of whiskey, there is less intemperance than ever before, because Americans have learned to use it temperately. Good whiskey, like Golden Sheaf, diluted for instance with charged water, is no stronger than milder beverages, and is the purest of all stimulants. Being germless, it cannot ferment or spoil like so-called soft drinks, nor cause acidity or biliousness in the system. Its abuse, as well as the abuse of anything, is harmful; its moderate use beneficial. The medicine chest should not be without it.
