Famous Russian Dancer and Company to Be Brought Here December 16.

PROCEEDS ALL TO LOCAL USES

Gate City Rotarians Buy Perform. ance of Daneing Star and Pinn Charity Feature Expecting to Net Goodly Sum.

> Omaha is going to have another charity bail. It will be similar to the big, successful affair given last New Year's night by public spirited citizens for the benefit of the City Mission. But this year's ball, to be held Wednesday night, December 16, at the Auditorium, will have as its chief feature a complete dance and ballet performance by Pavlowa, the famous Russian dancer, and her company of eighty-four dancers any musicians. It will be given under the auspices of the Omaha Rotary club, an organization of 145 representative business men of the city, and the $5,000 net proceeds expected will be divided among Omaha's various charitable institutions."

Plans Are Perfected.

Definite plans for the big affair were announced at last night's meeting and linner of the Rotary club at the Henshaw, when the club members unanimously voted to take up the project for charity and see it through to a successful conclusion. Shirley Olympius, representing Pavlowa's management, was present, and with President Harry S. Weller, Dan Baum, jr., and other members of the club, outlined the proposition.

"Paviowa will come to Omaha with her full company of sixty dancers and a Russian orchestra of twenty-four pieces, and give one complete performance, such as she gave at the Brandels theater a few years ago," said Mr. Olympius. "To further the charity project and help swell the fund, the Pavlowa management will do this for $2,500, or $1,000 cheaper than but the usual contract price.

Cut Rate for Auditorium. Manager J. M. Gillan of the Auditorium said that for the charity project, his company would give the use of the Auditorium at a special cut rate, in order to help the good cause as much as pos sible. After thorough discussion, during which many members of the club offered to take $20 or even $46 worth of tickets, and after all had pledged themselves to get behind the project and insure its complete success, the plan was ratified and organisation was started.

With the club buying the production outright, its members guaranteeing the sale of all tickets, and with the propose price scale of from $1 to $5, Manager Gillan figures that the ball should not the club $5,000 for charity. Spectators' seats will probably sell at $1, $1.50, $2 and $2.50 each, while tickets for the main floor, including dancing privileges, will sell

SHEEP—The receipts were 6,000 head. A week ago 8,445 head were reported in and two weeks ago 9,512 head. Everything was from the range and if anything the quality showed a little improvement. There were no feeder grades to speak of. The proportion of aged sheep was very fair, though no right good yearlings, wethers or ewes were offered.

The buyers apparently had good orders to fill, consequently got down to business early and disposed of practically everything on sale by 10 o'clock.

The four days show a total of 41.851 head, compared with 44.318 during the same days last week and 25.985 a year ago, being a very fair run, considering that lowa has not been a contributor. Quality has shown some improvement over last week with a gearcity of prime Ball to Follow Program. After the performance by Pavlows and her company, the floor of the Auditorium will be cleared, and hundreds of Omaha couples will enjoy dancing the newest steps to the music of a large orchestra-The Pavlowa company will join the dancing throng, Mr. Olympius promised, and help make it even more happy and brilliant than that of last New Year's charity and ball. The committee consists of Dan Baum, jr., chairman; Alfred W. Gordon and Herbert Rogers.

This committee on publicity was also appointed by the president: Arnold M. Borgium of the Darlow Advertising agency, Joseph W. Kurtz of the Daily News, Victor Resewater of The Bee, J. O. Siford of the Thomas Cusack company, and W. R. Watson of the World-Herald. They will choose their own chair-that lows has not been a contributor. Quality has shown some improvement over last week, with a scarcity-of prime offerings from Nebraska feedlots. The bulk of the receipts has been from the range, including several shipments of wheatfield grades from Idaho and some fed stuff from Colorado.

Av. Price, 16. All the newspapers, the Thomas Cusack billboard agency and the Laemmle motion picture film service have promised free advertising and publicity, the supporters of the project announced, Pavlowa is said to receive $1,150 per mally for each performance. She will bring her jewels with her to Omaha. They are valued at $500,000, and will be displayed publicly for the first time before the performance. Pavlowa's private jewel keeper will guard them. "This ball, with the famous Pavlows as the chief feature, will be the biggest thing ever done for charity in Omaha, President Weller, Secretary Tom Kelly and other leading Rotarians agreed.

CHURCHES UNITE IN GIVING THANKS

Union Meetings Are Held at Central Points by Several of the Congregations.

OFFER PRAYERS OF THANKS

Ministers Declare This is a Year in Which This Country Has Espeolal Causee for Giving Thanks to God.

Congregations of the First Methodist, the First Congregationalist, the First Presbyterian and the First United Presbyterian churches joined in union Thanksgiving services, gathering at the first named church, The sermon was by Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian; the prayer by Rev. Mr. Rouse of the First Congregational, and the reading of the Thanksgiving proclamations of President Wilson and Governor Morehead by Rev. Mr. Speer of the United Presbyterian church. The offering for the day, an abundant one, was set aside for the Old People's At the meeting last night, President Home and it, together with numerous Weller appointed an executive commit-tee, with power to sign the contract with dainties were sent to the institution after the plans of the club for the performance The music by the choir of the First Methodist church was appropriate for the occasion, it being real Thanksgiving music, selected from the hymnal.

Blessing on This Country. The sermon of Rev. Mr. Jenks generally had to do with the blessings that have been bestowed upon the United States and particularly Nebraska during the last year, he referred to the state as the one being more greatly favored with abundant crops than any other one of the union. And with reference to Omaha, he pointed to it as the brightest spot on the map of the country.
"This," said Rev. Mr. Jenks during the course of his discourse, 'is the one great produced them as the defendant has renation of the world where its people can realize and say that they are not at war. Today in Europe there is not one of the shadow of fear, but with us it is different. Here we are at peace; our armies that have been camped upon foreign soil have been withdrawn and are now at stracted funds of the bank.

Thanks for Dry States.

Referring to things following the recent election, Rev. Mr. Jenks spoke of the strides made by prohibition, saying: "Four states have been added to those where prohibition has heretofore been in force, and for this we should thank God. "We talk about the money cost of the war in Europe, but do you know that the liquor bill of New York City alone is $1,000,000 per day. It is to your interest and the interest of every Christian person to make this a nation without saloons, and I believe that within twenty years it will be such. Why should we church people be for an institution that destroys the youth of the country, has no respect for the virtue of women and caused only suffering, grief and destruc-

MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR

Rev. Collar Calls Attention to Enviable Situation of America. A Joyful and Pleasant Thing it is to Be Thankful," was the text of the sermon preached by Rev. T. J. Collar, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd at the union Thanksgiving services of the Episcopal churches at Trinity cathedral, Eighteenth and Capitol avenue He traced briefly the history of the universal observance of Thanksgiving day, and spoke of the prosperity and peace of the fit occasion for observance of a day of thanks this year. "Deliver us," he said, however, "from spirit or self-righteousness or aggrandizement." Touching on the European war which has devastated the country and wrought untold misery and suffering in the land, he said: "It must now be plain that we as a nation have been spared the horrors of was that we may assauge war's horrors." The pastor spoke of the faultless regularity of God's appointments, such as the rising and setting of the sun, the cycle recurrance of

for, but said: sides carrying improved shovels for main-taining the soil in proper condition, has less regularity is a reason for not thankan attachment for stripping the corn- ing God, that it maiters not whether we stalks of their bulk of foliage, whereby thank God or not, the regularity occurs the strength of the plant may go into just the same, the sun rises and sets, the Lord or not. But, why should we not? We express our gratitude readily to our human benefactors, to our parents, our friends, our teachers. STATE BOARDS WILL CHANGE

Governor Morehend Finds that He Is Not in Clear, Even on Thanksgiving Day, from Applicants for Jobs.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Very few state officials were at their deaks today and these in most instances were endeavoring to catch up on their corre spondence. Governor Morehead devoted the morning hours to belated work and but few were allowed to enter. Harry Lindsay, escorting J. T. Trenery of St. Joseph, a former Pawnee county citisen who desired very much to meet the executive, was able by his winning amile to get the visitor across the portals. Mr. Trenery is president of the Pawnee City National bank and came to Lincoln with his family to partake of the annual Thankegiving dinner with the Lindsay family, a stunt which is pulled off every year, alternating between St. Joseph and Lincoln. In the Lincoln case Crawford Kennedy and his family are guests of the Change Everywhere.

It is probable that Governor Morehead was paying some attention to appointments. The changing of nearly all the state boards from republican to democratic will create some democratic jobs. It is intimated that even the state board of ignitors will be reconstructed and all that have the republican brand will be thrown on the mercies of the cold world, while democrats will be given their pinces.

If the legislature persists in cutting down the legislative jobs about one-half it will make the job of making appointments all the harder, for there will be fewer consolution jobs. Heretonice the disappointed ones were let down easy with a legislative job. There have usually been in the neighborhood of 150 legislative jobs of more or less account, but if the ommittee report is adopted the number will be cut to fifty-seven, which means that upwards of 100 disappointed office seekers will fail of a consolation prize. Generally speaking the new state offloers will make a clean sweep in their office forces.

Colonel Presson to Stay.

One republican however, is almost sure of holding his job, Colonel J. H. Presson of the governor's office will remain. In fact, it would be hard work for the exscutive offices to run without Celonel Presson. The colonel is an Omaha man and also an orator of no small caliber. Whenever there is a proclamation write or a speech to be made which requires a feast of eratory and a flow of soul, the colonel fills the place. Probably no man in Nebraska, not even excepting Mr. Bryan or Ed Maggi, can soar will be held here at the same time as the into the clouds of rhetoric and pluck convention. This will bring to Bridge- one by one the beautiful flowers of elequence, and drop them into the out-stretched hands of a charmed multitude, as well as Colonel Presson, Private Sec retary Morrissey can deliver words of wisdom; Chief Clerk Henkle can sharm the visitor to the executive offices with Further Delay in the his magnetic presence; the governor him self can make the most persistent dishis magnetic presence; the governor him-Trial of His Case appointed office acceler go away happy in the thought that he didn't want the in the thought that he didn't want the job any way, but it takes Colonel Presson to make them all forget their troubles and trials by his elequent words of flowery rhetoric, and take it all around, the governor's office without Colonel Presson in it would be a great deal like home without a suffragette
