Planning Big Ball

Members of the Omaha Navy club and other ex-navy men are planning to hold the biggest and best navy ball ever known in Omaha, Saturday evening, December 19, at Metropolitan hall. It will be the third annual ball given under the auspices of the club.

Many Omaha men who have seen service on Uncle Sam's ships, but have not yet joined the local club, are becoming interested in it and the dance. A large attendance is expected at the next regular meeting of the club, to be held in the Grand Army rooms, at the court house, next Friday evening

William L. Hackett is president of the club. He and Secretary Damels are artive in arranging for the ball.

THEY LIKE COMPENSATION LAW

Strong Fight Will Be Made Against Proposed Attempt to Amend and Improve Extating Statute.

(From a Staff Correspondent. DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 29 .- (Special.)-That the eastern insurance interests have determined upon a hard fight to prevent any change in the workmen's compensation law and an equally hard fight to effect revolutionary changes in the general insurance laws of the states, is now apnection with the present office, 133t City parent from the way in which they have branch will be in charge of G. Mr. Hotchkiss, formerly superintendent of insurance in New York, has pointed in not being appointed to have charge of the workmen's compensation law of Ohio and he is now at work organizing to prevent lows from securing some of the reforms that are in the Ohlo law. All the insurance agents and all others interested at all in the insurance business will be formed into a compact mass, and members of the legislature report they are already being approached with a view to favors in the legislature. insurance people are now back of this will probably not get very far. proposal in the hope that it will stave off any immediate action.

No Interest in Changed System. There does not appear to be any interest in the state anywhere in the report combat this illness. The day has been straightened circumstances, the little was troubled with headache and distress of the entrenchment and reform committee of the last legislature on the subject of revolutionary changes progressed what broadened and includes now present Ellen Gibbons has taken charge of the in the executive branches of the state tation to the public of the great need of case. government. But among the legislators who have said anything about it there is a feeling that the people probably would not stand for placing so much power in one office, which might be all right so long as filled by the very highest type of a man, but which would be all wrong if the wrong kind of a man should happen to be placed in office. Present indications are that this phase of the legislative program will attruct very little attention. Some minor changes in he political organization of the state will be effected.

Would Like to Move Prison. There is no doubt but that state officials and members of the legislature and all having to deal with the prison problem of the state would like to have the state establish its state prison at some new point in the state. The present set out to organize the state to influence prison is about as badly located as possible-at one side of the state, with poor railroad facilities, and with surroundings not at all conducive to good work. In order that the state may acquire farm land it is necessary to go some distance from the prison. The people of Fort Madison have shown themselves to be quite hostile to the prison and unwilling to aid in any reform work there. They have caused great annoyance to the warden and state officials. The state board is asking for money for more land at the prison and at the reformatory. Winter Schedule of Trains. The railroads are announcing changes of time cards and the adoption of their winter schedules, which means the taking The plan is to secure such organization off a number of trains on the roads in that it will be impossible to have any lows. Newspaper Men Form Part of Austrian Army in Galicia.

OVER FIFTY CORRESPONDENTS

To Guard Against Cholers, All Cautioned Not to Drink Unboiled Water, None, Boiled or Unboiled, Imbibed.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.) AUSTRO - HUNGARIAN GENERAL, FIELD HEADQUARTERS, PRESS DE-PARTMENT, GALICIAN FRONT, Nov. 7.-Dragoons in red trousers and blus tunics were in the act of serving soup to those seated at three tong tables in the main hall of the Casino of a small Gallelan town. There was a general hubbub of conversation and a smell of roasting mutton under the low, beamed celling, mingling with the odor of cigarette smoke and coffee.

From the head of the center table came sharp raps of a fork against a glass, and simultaneously an officer rose. The equivalent of the word "order" was shouted in several of the ten languages spoken in Austro-Hungary, and slience

No News, Just Communiques. "Gentlemen," said the officer, as he pulled a typewritten sheet out of his breast pocket, "there is no news today, but I will read you the various official communiques. Before doing that I will say that there may be some news this afternoon and the party of photographers and artists now at the front is expected back today; should have been here yesterday, in fact. As soon as this party is back others of you gentlemen will go to the front. The official communique from Berlin says-

With the military situation in Galicia, Poland, Helgium, France, various parts of Turkey and other spots on the map sufficiently clear, the dragoons filled the last of the tin plates with soup and the mid-day meal of the press quarters of the Austro-Hungarian army in Galicia was in full progress.

Taken to Headquarters. That night there was a similar meal and next morning a breakfast of coffee and rolls was served. During the day the correspondents were taken to the nearby military headquarters and a full twentyfour hours of life in one of the modern. well-regulated and carefully supervised press quarters at the front had passed. The press department of the Austro-Hungarian army in Galicia is a large establishment. It exists for the purpose of taking care of about thirty-five Austro-Hungarian newspapermen, working in about ten languages; several German;, four Amelican correspondents, among them a woman; one Dane, one Italian, a Swiss and a Turk, who is about to make his appearance.

About a dozen officers and three score men are in charge of the institution. There are a number of telegraphers and two field post officials—the department, in fact, is no small matter. To it belongs about twenty vehicles for the transportation of the correspondents and others and a like number of army transport wagons. Autos Are Scarce.

Automobiles are scarce at present, because the hard going over the Galician roads during the recent rainy weather has made their retirement to the repair shop imperative. Last, but not least, there is the medical staff of the press department, consisting of a physician and several trained attendants. Long before the press men arrive at a new station the houses of the better class and that really means little in Galiciaare divided among them by the quartermaster and his assistants, who merely notify the landlord of the coming of his "gueste," and then chalk the following "One officer, war press department," two, as the case may be. The same is

are the church and the school. There are a dozen or so of indifferently paved streets, flanked by one-story buildings. Today, at least, with not a cloud in the sky, the place presents a rather picturesque, if not attractive, spectacle. The red tile roofs appear warm in a sun that is not warm, and the whitewashed exterior forms an excellent background for the field-gray or "pike-green" of the trousers of the press quarter dragoons.

The Associated Press correspondent has been quartered on people who seem to be ican in appearance-low, one-story, and has a patio, populated by a cow and sevby officials at Juneez tonight saying that eral noisy chickens. To one side there the port of Mazatian, on the west coast, is a hugh stack of beach wood, eloquent had been turned over to the convention testimony of how cold the Galician autumn and winter are. There is also a stack of cabbage in the hallway, and under the various roofs hay and straw family seems well prepared for a severa winter, and about the war nobody seems to worry, though the Russians are not very far away.

Lime Everywhere. There has been no cholera in the little town, but as a precaution the Austro-Hungarian military authorities have seen to it that plenty of slacked lime has been applied wherever the ground has been contaminated by those aufferers from the disease who passed through these parts on the way to the hospitals. The railroad station, for instance, suggests an oddly local fall of snow-lime everywhere.

It is thought that with the ground frozen the disease will disappear. Meanwhile everybody is cautioned against the drinking of unboiled water-a precaution which some render more efficaclous by drinking no water at all. drunkenness, however.
